[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Busy, prosperous times in California, where the black oil rigs stand above bright green hills, pumping up millions; flowers and blossoms everywhere.

Here at the Ambassador hotel, not a room to be had last night. The same at the Biltmore, and at the other bigger Los Angeles hotels.

FOR six consecutive "full sessions" Wall Street bought and sold more than 2,000,000 shares of stock daily.

Wise men will tell you that "going short" in this country, just now, is like trying to swim up Niagara Falls.

THE world takes seriously the story that Russian propaganda stirred the trouble in China. There is talk of a Russian army marching in to help the ultra "red" Chinese forces.

Great Britain, as you know, threatens to end diplomatic relations with Russia. Uncle Sam would do well to stay out of that mess if he can.

SHANGHAI wonders what would happen if Cantonese red rebels should take the city, where thousands of Europeans live.

An interesting picture in this age is the gigantic Chinese executioner with his heavy sword, a dozen or more such executioners, patrolling dissatisfied Shanghai districts, lopping off heads of those accused of planning the strike.

The simplicity of that method would appeal to some in the United States, but they won't say so.

B. C. FORBES, who knows high finance, says the big Rockefeller fortune really belongs to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to whom his father has given it, and says that fortune does not amount to a billion, quoting Mr. Rockefeller as authority.

Mr. Rockefeller, of course, cannot know what he is worth, and holders of Standard Oil stocks cannot know what their stocks are worth. It all depends on how much oil there is in the ground, and at which price the last few billions of barrels sell, as the supply runs short.

BY the purchase of the Pacific Oil Co., the Standard Oil Co., of California acquired, and owns, under ground, wealth greater than all that Standard Oil has ever paid out.

MORE important than the size of Mr. Rockefeller's fortune is the use

ANOTHER MAN WHO ABANDONED LIQUOR IN CAR ALSO IS HELD

TWO GO TO JAIL

Less Than Two Gallons of Whisky Confiscated by Raiders.

Four persons, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors, were arrested by police in a series of liquor raids late yesterday afternoon.

Another offender, Bradley Burns, who escaped from the police after they had attempted to halt his automobile in Mulberry street about a month ago, surrendered at the city hall today.

Attempt to Destroy Evidence.

Fines totaling $754 were assessed by Municipal Judge Hanley against the five offenders, all of whom entered pleas of guilty to prohibition law charges.

Those apprehended in the raids were George Croxall, Rural lane; Joseph Armshaw, Rural lane; A. B. Wilson, East Third street, and Philip Wingrove, Rural lane. Croxall and Wingrove, who police claim, were arrested and convicted for liquor violations last September 11, were fined $200 and costs each, while Wilson drew a $125 fine, and Armshaw $100. Burns was also fined $100.

A one-gallon bottle partly filled with whisky was found on the sink in the kitchen of the Croxall home, police say. At the Armshaw residence a gallon jug, partially filled with liquor, was seized. About a gallon was found at the Wingrove home.

Police alleged an unsuccessful attempt was made to "dump" the liquor when they visited the Wilson residence. They said they smashed in two doors and found Mrs. Wilson in the act of dumping a gallon jug of liquor in the bathtub drain. About a half pint of the beverage was obtained as evidence.

Afternoon Raids.

Raids at the Croxall, Armshaw and Wingrove homes, which occurred at 4:30 o'clock, were conducted by Chief McDermott, Captain Conley, Desk Sergeant Toland and Patrolmen Smith and McFarland. The chief and the captain made the raid at the Wilson home later in the afternoon.

Croxall and Wingrove paid their fines. Armshaw was released upon promise that his fine would be paid not later than 2 o'clock this afternoon. Burns, who was remanded to jail, was endeavoring to make arrangements to pay half of his fine and the remainder in installments. No arrangements had been made by Wilson to pay.

Burns, police claim, was transporting two gallons of corn whisky in the rear compartment of his machine when it was stopped by McDermott and Toland about a month ago. Burns abandoned his auto and escaped through the culvert which crosses Mulberry street. The machine was later claimed by an East End dealer, who said he held a mortgage on it.

Road-Street Committee Meeting.

Members of the roads and streets committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet in the Chamber's headquarters at 2:30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon for a conference with Superintendent of Route Marking Cope, of the state highway department, Columbus. A proposed new arrangement for road marking will be explained by Cope.

THREE MEN KILLED IN 50-MILE GALE

Columbus Man Held Up Twice by Same Trio of Bandits

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—H. M McWhorter early today reported to police he had been twice held up by the same trio of auto bandits within a half hour. The robbers got nothing for their persistence. The first hold-up, according to McWhorter, occurred at 2:30 a. m., when he was stopped near the public library. After the hold-up McWhorter continued on his way and a few blocks further away was again halted by the same group.

BANK BANDITS ARE ROUTED IN PISTOL BATTLE

One Man Wounded In Attempted Holdup At Toledo.

PRISONER HELD

Revolver Shot Manager's Answer to "Hands Up" Demand.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 26.—Two bank bandits were routed in a pistol battle here shortly before noon today when they attempted to hold up the branch bank of The Commercial Savings Bank and Trust company.

C. W. Bredback, manager of the branch, reached under a counter and grabbed a revolver when the robbers told him to hold up his hands. The bandits opened fire but Bredback ducked and returned a volley.

One of the bandits, said by police to be Felix Neizegodi, was wounded and captured. Police claim he is the ringleader of the bandits who held up the Federal Savings association branch here a few weeks ago.

Federal Narcotic Agents Arrest 140 In Kentucky Raids

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 26.—Arrests by federal narcotic officers neared the 140 mark today as a score of government agents under Arthur Smith, chief of the internal revenue department's intelligence unit of seven southern states, continued a long series of raids that started late yesterday.

The raids were said to have followed several weeks of quiet investigation by special 'under cover' operatives.

Suspects from Michigan and Texas were included in the number of those held.

Long, Cold Winter Blamed for Wave Of Student Suicides

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 26.—The recent epidemic of suicides among students is the result of a long, cold winter, in the opinion of President W. W. Campbell of the University of California.

"These suicides," he said, "coming as they do at the end of a long winter, are the result of depression, caused perhaps by lack of sleep, or food, heat or clothing. Many students have had a hard time over the winter, and a state of mental depression is the natural result."

Disorderly House Charge Dismissed.

Charge of maintaining a disorderly house filed against Frank Little, Sandy Bottom nightwatchman, following a raid on his home about two weeks ago, was dismissed today by Judge Hanley.

INSULL DEFIES PROBERS AFTER SHOWING CHECK FOR $190,000

Utility King Withholds Names in Illinois Primary Quiz.

Of This Sum $172,925 Was Used in Senatorial Fight.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—After placing in evidence a $190,000 check which covered his contributions in the last Illinois senatorial primary, Samuel Insull, the multi-millionaire Chicago utility king, today renewed his defiance of the Reed campaign committee by again refusing to name the recipient of two $20,000 gifts.

Insull testified he wrote the check to cover most of the $237,925 he spent in the Illinois campaign. He declared $172,925 of this sum had been spent in the senatorial campaign and $65,000 in the Cook county (Chicago) campaign.

Insull admitted he had borrowed all the money given to the senatorial campaign from the Commonwealth-Edison company, one of the public utilities. He refused, however, to say whether the $65,000 spent in the county campaign had come from the same source.

Insull defied the committee on all questions concerning the $65,000, saying he did so on the advice of his personal attorney. He also defied the committee when asked to give the names of the persons to whom he gave two $20,000 gifts in the county campaign.

Mrs. Wixman Will Speak at Meet of Hadassah Chapter

Mrs. H. Wixman, executive for the national Hadassah organization and also of the Zionists' organization of America, will address a dinner meeting in the Sons of Jacob synagogue, East Third street, at 6 o'clock Sunday evening under the auspices of the East Liverpool Hadassah chapter. Arrangements are being made to entertain 100 persons.

Mrs. Wixman is president of the women's organization of Associated Charities in the city of Pittsburgh, having been appointed by Mayor Kline. She is also active in other welfare work.

Mrs. Wixman will discuss medical work which has been undertaken in the interests of the settlers in Palestine.

FINE ON SCHOOL COUNT SUSPENDED

A fine of $10, meted out to Mrs. Louis Webber, of Glenmoor, was suspended by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon condition that she require her children to attend school regularly.

Mrs. Webber and her husband were arrested upon complaint of School Attendance Officer W. C. Dickey, who charged them with failure to compel their children to attend school. The charge against the husband was dismissed.

WEHNER WINNER IN CIVIL SUIT

A verdict in favor of the defendant was returned by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today in the civil action brought by Cecil Birkhimer, East End, against Francis J. Wehner of the Ceramic Motor company in an effort to collect $125, which the plaintiff alleged represented the value of an automobile which he turned over to the defendant in a deal.

Birkhimer was represented by Attorneys Walter Hill and James Davis, while Attorney Blaine H. Cochran was counsel for Wehner.

Retail Merchants' Session.

Legislation effecting the retail merchant, under consideration by the Ohio state legislature at its present session, will be discussed at a meeting of the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce in the chamber's quarters in the Little building at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Toledo Police Nab Lad, 17, Known as 'Houdini Burglar"

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 26.—Toledo police are holding a 17-year-old boy who they say escaped from jail in Wooster Thursday. The lad's name is being withheld but he is said to be known as the "Houdini burglar," because of his numerous escapes both in Ohio and Michigan. Local authorities say he is wanted in Wooster on a charge of looting grocery stores.

SENATE KILLS CLOTURE PLAN ON DAM BILL

MEASURE DOOMED

Upper House Immediately Considers Other Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The dramatic eight-day battle for enactment of the Swing-Johnson bill for erecting a dam at Boulder canyon in the Colorado river ended this afternoon when the senate refused to invoke cloture to insure its enactment.

There was 32 votes for cloture and 59 against.

The vote was overwhelming against cloture. To have applied it required 61 votes, two-thirds of those present and voting, and as only 32 votes were cast for it, Johnson lost by 29 votes.

The adverse vote killed all chance for passage of the bill at the present session of congress. The result was a victory for the little group of senators, headed by Ashurst (D) of Arizona, who have filibustered against the measure for the last eight days, and rendered futile the heroic efforts of Senator Johnson (R) of California, to force a final vote before adjournment.

Following the vote, the senate immediately abandoned consideration of the measure forother bills upon which cloture also has been demanded.

ANOTHER STEP IN LOREE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Another step in the railroad consolidation plans of L. F. Loree was seen here today in the application of the Delaware & Hudson railroad to the interstate commerce commission for permission to operate, though trackage rights over the Pennsylvania lines between Buttonwood and Dubois, Pa., where the Pennsylvania connects with the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh.

CALL WITNESSES IN BEER PROBE

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 26.—Twenty subpoenaes had been issued today by U. S. Attorney Bernsteen's office in connection with the "beer ring" probe which gets under way here March 1.

Most of the subpoenaes are for Pennsylvanians, who are believed to know much about the financing of the Pennsylvania-Ohio beer traffic.

FIND DRY AGENT DEAD IN HOTEL

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 26.—William Niven, 60, state prohibition agent, was found dead in a hotel room here today. Death was believed to have resulted from a paralytic stroke. Niven's home is in Bellefontaine.

WATCHMAN AT WARREN ONE VICTIM; SEAMEN DIE WHEN BARGE SINKS

No Damage is Reported In East Liverpool District as River Shipping Recovers From Effects of Wind Storm Which Sweeps Rising Stream, Causing $500,000 Damage.

VESSELS BETWEEN WHEELING, W. VA., PORTSMOUTH SCURRY TO WHARVES

Two Towboats Go To Bottom, While Barges, Scows and Freight, Including Cargo of Steel, are Lost — Crew of 37 Men Reach Safety In Yawls After Craft Upsets.

The East Liverpool district escaped damage in a 50-mile gale, which swept Ohio and the New England states last night, exacting at least three lives and causing thousands of dollars loss.

One man was killed at Warren, Ohio, and two seamen were drowned near Newport, R. I.

The mercury dropped below the freezing point with the arrival of snow during the early part of the evening. Temperatures, ranging from 20 to 25 degrees, were registered here this morning.

All danger of an Ohio river flood was believed to have passed. The river at Dam No. 8 at 1 o'clock this afternoon registered 25.4 feet and was rising one-tenth of a foot an hour.

Rivermen predicted that the crest of the high water would be reached tonight, with a stage of 29 feet, which is about seven feet under the flood mark. The Allegheny river, which joins the Monongahela river, at Pittsburgh, was reported to be falling at noon.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 26.—Northern Ohio was today digging itself out of snowdrifts following a 45-mile-an-hour blizzard late yesterday. Traffic was demoralized in Toledo and Cleveland for several hours.

Thomas C. Watson, a crossing watchman, was killed by a train at Warren, Ohio, when blinded by snow.

GALLISPOLIS, Feb. 26.—Plans to salvage the river steamer "Conqueror" were being made here today, following it sinking in deep water near Sciotoville, last night. The steamer, owned by the Wheeling Steel corporation, capsized during a wind storm but the crew of 15 reached safety in yawls.

Storm Blinds Steamer Pilots.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 26. — Shipping on the Ohio river was recovering today from the 50-mile gale that sent river boats scurrying for their wharves last night in a blinding snowstorm. Reports from points between here and Portsmouth, O., indicate the loss in barges, scows and freight will mount to $500,000 at least.

Towboat Sinks.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Feb. 26. — The towboat Advance and several barges of steel, valued at $85,000, sunk near dam 27, near here, during the windstorm of Friday night, it was learned today. The shipment was enroute from Pittsburgh to Louisville.

Barge Is Sunk.

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 26.—Two seamen died from exposure and three other men were in serious condition at Newport hospital today following the sinking in the harbor of the barge Hooper, of Wilmington, Del., during a roaring gale. Upon receipt of news of the plight of the barge, the tug A. O. Walker put out to the rescue.

Period of Rains, Warmer, Then Cold Spell, Forecast

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Weather outlook for the period February 28 to March 5, inclusive.

Ohio Valley—A period of rains at the beginning of the week and again shortly after the middle of the week. Moderate temperatures most of the week except for a cold spell near the end.

J. H. MARTIN, 84, WAR VET, DIES

Funeral Services Will Be Held at 2 P. M., Monday.

James Harvey Martin, 84, Civil war veteran, died last night in his home, 600 Andrews avenue, East End, after a five months' illness of complication of diseases.

Mr. Martin, who was born near Frankfort Springs, Pa., had been a resident of East Liverpool for 53 years. He was a charter member of the Second United Presbyterian church and of General Lyon post, No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic.

He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Bence and Miss Anna Martin, both of this city. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Henry Abrams of Cleveland.

Mrs. Martin was formerly Maria S. Gilmore, of Steubenville.

Funeral services will be held in the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of Rev. J. O. Campbell, D. D., pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

The body may be viewed at the home tonight, Sunday and Monday.

Three are Found Guilty of Murder In Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A jury in district supreme court today found three men guilty of first degree murder in the killing of Policeman Leo K. Bush. This carries the death penalty in the district, a new electric chair having taken the place of the old scaffold.

Those found guilty were: Sam Moreno, Nick Eagles, and John Proctor. A fourth man, John F. McCabe, was captured. All are said by police to have criminal records.

WILLIAM A. WRIGHT, 43, FOUND DEAD IN WORTHINGTON, PA., ROOMING HOUSE

Heart Disease Claims Former East Liverpool Brick Yard Worker — Funeral on Sunday.

William A. Wright, 43, former resident of East Liverpool, was found dead in bed at his rooming house in Worthington, Pa., yesterday, according to word received by local relatives. Death is believed to have been caused by heart disease.

Wright, who was a brickyard worker, had been employed at Worthington for about five months. While residing here, he made his home with his brother, Poe Wright, Pennsylvania avenue, who, with another brother, Wilbur Wright, of Palmira, Ohio survives him

The body will be taken to New Cumberland tonight. Services will be held in the Christian church Sunday afternoon, in charge of Rev. F. H Garrett. Burial will be made in the New Cumberland cemetery.

CAST IS SELECTED FOR DE MOLAY MUSICAL COMEDY, "HERE'S YOUR HAT"

Production Will be Staged in High School Auditorium on March 7-8.

With the election of the cast, rehearsals for the two-act musical comedy, "Here's Your Hat," to be presented at the high school auditorium, Monday and Tuesday, March 7 and 8, under the auspices of Harding chapter, Order of DeMolay, were under way today.

New songs and dances as well as snappy chorus selections will be featured. The "Black Bottom" is one of the most effective numbers. "Hello Baby" is another chorus, while a little bit of old Spain will be introduced when the number, "Senora," is presented. "The Kiss Pirates" in pirate costumes will appear in "Steal a Kiss While Dancing."

A group of boys and girls will appear in the "Society Chorus." Children will be presented in "The Story Book Ball."

Two night performances, with a school children's matinee on the first day, will be offered under the direction of the Moorehead Attractions of Zanesville.

Toledo Police Nab Lad, 17, Known as 'Houdini Burglar"

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 26.—Toledo police are holding a 17-year-old boy who they say escaped from jail in Wooster Thursday. The lad's name is being withheld but he is said to be known as the "Houdini burglar," because of his numerous escapes both in Ohio and Michigan. Local authorities say he is wanted in Wooster on a charge of looting grocery stores.

SENATE KILLS CLOTURE PLAN ON DAM BILL

MEASURE DOOMED

Upper House Immediately Considers Other Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The dramatic eight-day battle for enactment of the Swing-Johnson bill for erecting a dam at Boulder canyon in the Colorado river ended this afternoon when the senate refused to invoke cloture to insure its enactment.

There was 32 votes for cloture and 59 against.

The vote was overwhelming against cloture. To have applied it required 61 votes, two-thirds of those present and voting, and as only 32 votes were cast for it, Johnson lost by 29 votes.

The adverse vote killed all chance for passage of the bill at the present session of congress. The result was a victory for the little group of senators, headed by Ashurst (D) of Arizona, who have filibustered against the measure for the last eight days, and rendered futile the heroic efforts of Senator Johnson (R) of California, to force a final vote before adjournment.

Following the vote, the senate immediately abandoned consideration of the measure forother bills upon which cloture also has been demanded.

ANOTHER STEP IN LOREE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Another step in the railroad consolidation plans of L. F. Loree was seen here today in the application of the Delaware & Hudson railroad to the interstate commerce commission for permission to operate, though trackage rights over the Pennsylvania lines between Buttonwood and Dubois, Pa., where the Pennsylvania connects with the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh.

CALL WITNESSES IN BEER PROBE

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 26.—Twenty subpoenaes had been issued today by U. S. Attorney Bernsteen's office in connection with the "beer ring" probe which gets under way here March 1.

Most of the subpoenaes are for Pennsylvanians, who are believed to know much about the financing of the Pennsylvania-Ohio beer traffic.

FIND DRY AGENT DEAD IN HOTEL

WATCHMAN AT WARREN ONE VICTIM; SEAMEN DIE WHEN BARGE SINKS

No Damage is Reported In East Liverpool District as River Shipping Recovers From Effects of Wind Storm Which Sweeps Rising Stream, Causing $500,000 Damage.

VESSELS BETWEEN WHEELING, W. VA., PORTSMOUTH SCURRY TO WHARVES

Two Towboats Go To Bottom, While Barges, Scows and Freight, Including Cargo of Steel, are Lost — Crew of 37 Men Reach Safety In Yawls After Craft Upsets.

The East Liverpool district escaped damage in a 50-mile gale, which swept Ohio and the New England states last night, exacting at least three lives and causing thousands of dollars loss.

One man was killed at Warren, Ohio, and two seamen were drowned near Newport, R. I.

The mercury dropped below the freezing point with the arrival of snow during the early part of the evening. Temperatures, ranging from 20 to 25 degrees, were registered here this morning.

All danger of an Ohio river flood was believed to have passed. The river at Dam No. 8 at 1 o'clock this afternoon registered 25.4 feet and was rising one-tenth of a foot an hour.

Rivermen predicted that the crest of the high water would be reached tonight, with a stage of 29 feet, which is about seven feet under the flood mark. The Allegheny river, which joins the Monongahela river, at Pittsburgh, was reported to be falling at noon.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 26.—Northern Ohio was today digging itself out of snowdrifts following a 45-mile-an-hour blizzard late yesterday. Traffic was demoralized in Toledo and Cleveland for several hours.

Thomas C. Watson, a crossing watchman, was killed by a train at Warren, Ohio, when blinded by snow.

GALLISPOLIS, Feb. 26.—Plans to salvage the river steamer "Conqueror" were being made here today, following it sinking in deep water near Sciotoville, last night. The steamer, owned by the Wheeling Steel corporation, capsized during a wind storm but the crew of 15 reached safety in yawls.

Storm Blinds Steamer Pilots.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 26. — Shipping on the Ohio river was recovering today from the 50-mile gale that sent river boats scurrying for their wharves last night in a blinding snowstorm. Reports from points between here and Portsmouth, O., indicate the loss in barges, scows and freight will mount to $500,000 at least.

Towboat Sinks.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Feb. 26. — The towboat Advance and several barges of steel, valued at $85,000, sunk near dam 27, near here, during the windstorm of Friday night, it was learned today. The shipment was enroute from Pittsburgh to Louisville.

Barge Is Sunk.

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 26.—Two seamen died from exposure and three other men were in serious condition at Newport hospital today following the sinking in the harbor of the barge Hooper, of Wilmington, Del., during a roaring gale. Upon receipt of news of the plight of the barge, the tug A. O. Walker put out to the rescue.

With the election of the cast, rehearsals for the two-act musical comedy, "Here's Your Hat," to be presented at the high school auditorium, Monday and Tuesday, March 7 and 8, under the auspices of Harding chapter, Order of DeMolay, were under way today.

New songs and dances as well as snappy chorus selections will be featured. The "Black Bottom" is one of the most effective numbers. "Hello Baby" is another chorus, while a little bit of old Spain will be introduced when the number, "Senora," is presented. "The Kiss Pirates" in pirate costumes will appear in "Steal a Kiss While Dancing."

A group of boys and girls will appear in the "Society Chorus." Children will be presented in "The Story Book Ball."

Two night performances, with a school children's matinee on the first day, will be offered under the direction of the Moorehead Attractions of Zanesville.

WELLSVILLE YOUTH ARRESTED ON FORGERY CHARGE

PROMISES TO PAY

Accused Tells Police He Did It To "Square Things."

Charged with forgery in obtaining money belonging to Philip Prezzia, Wellsville school boy, from the Perpetual Savings & Loan company, Dominick Crea, another youth, of Thirteenth and Commerce streets, was placed under arrest last night by Chief of Police John Fultz.

Following an arraignment before Mayor W. L. Fogo, Crea was released to make arrangements to pay back the money, $38.87, that he obtained from Prezzia's account.

According to authorities Crea obtained possession of Prezzia's pass book to the loan, changed the name on the book to his own and then depleted the account.

Young Prezzia later went into the bank and learned that he had no account. Officials notified Chief Fultz.

When arrested Crea said that he had worked for Prezzia for a few weeks and thought that would be the best way to "square things up."

URGES COLLEGE WORK FOR PUPILS

"What Do You See in Your Work?" was the subject of a short talk given by Superintendent S. E. Daw to high school students at chapel exercises yesterday.

Superintendent Daw quoted statistics to show the number of former graduates who had continued their school work, his purpose being to encourage this plan.

In five years 264 students have graduated. Of this number 110, or a percentage of 41.6 have entered higher schools, 70 going to colleges or technical schools, 30 to normal schools and nine to other schools.

Of the 1924 class when the graduation of 64 students set a record, 33 entered colleges, or a percentage of 51.5. Of the 1925 class, when 44.4 percent continued their school work and in 1926 the rating was 34.4. The latter figure, however, may be increased.

JOHN T. GOSSETT WEDS IN GOTHAM

John Taylor Gossett, 31, formerly of Wellsville, Ohio, and now a New York sales manager here, and Hazel Jean Godfrey, 23, of New York, were married in the chapel of the municipal building today. The ceremony was performed by Deputy City Clerk J. J. McCormack.

Gossett, who was born in Wellsville, is the son of William N. Gossett and Hannah Nee. The bride was born in Grove City, Pa. This is her second marital venture. She was divorced from her former husband in Pittsburgh, February 23, 1927. She is the daughter of Fleming S. Smith.

CHANGE DATE OF CLASS SESSION

Monthly business meeting of the Gleaners' Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church will be held on Tuesday evening of next week instead of Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Bibbee, Commerce street.

Mid-Week Services.

Matthew 24-25 will be studied at mid-week services Wednesday night in the United Presbyterian church, together with a review of the parts of the book already studied.

SALINEVILLE

A surprise party was given Mrs. Orville Madison at her home in Wellsville Friday evening by the Crete club of Salineville, of which she is a member. The following members of the club attended: Mary and Ruth Lewton, Freda Schubert, Nell Toban, Besse Eisenbarth, Elizabeth Loch, Gladwyn Hull, Elizabeth Maple, Verguilda McPherson, Margaret Skinner, Mabel Lange, Olive Dorrance, Pauline James, Ruth Webb, Mary McCormick, Ida Madison, Phyllis Carter, Grace Hart, and Marie Donaldson. The club furnished a lunch. Mrs. Madison was a former resident of Salineville.

The annual Union Missionary meeting of Salineville, was held at the Church of Christ, Thursday evening at eight o'clock with Mrs. Olive Johnson, presiding. After the opening song and scripture lesson, Mrs. Chas Toban offered prayer. The following program was rendered: Piano solo, Mrs. Mary Brown; address of welcome by Mrs. Paul Reeves; responses from the church were given by Mrs. Blanche Hanley, Miss Bessie Smith and Mrs. William George; musical reading, Miss Phyllis Carter; saxophone solo, Mrs. Mabel H. Martin, accompanied on the piano by Miss Pauline James; paper by Mrs. H. L. Peoples; musical reading, by Mrs. Vergilda McPherson. The chief address was delivered by Mrs. Florence Madden, Dean of Bethany college, and a returned missionary from Japan. After the program the ladies of the church served a chicken dinner to more than two hundred. The dining room was beautifully decorated in green and white, and the twelve tables were in keeping with each month of the year. Each table was presided over by a hostess.

Mrs. Cora Hanley, of Main street, who has been in ill health for some time was taken to the Saint Vincent hospital, at Cleveland, Thursday for treatment and possibly an operation. She was accompanied by her husband, Mike Hanley and her sister, Mrs. Charles McPherson.

MICHIGAN BACK ON TOP AGAIN

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 26.—Michigan today was back in first place in the Big Ten basketball race by virtue of the Wolverines' victory over Illinois last night, 30 to 26. Seven thousand fans saw the game.

Michigan led almost all the way. The score at half time was 16 to 9. In the closing minutes the Illini staged a desperate rally but never came closer than five points.

MORE PIRATES HEAD FOR COAST

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26—Led by Captain "Pie" Traynor, third baseman, the second contingent of Pittsburgh Pirates leave tonight for Paso Robles to join the batterymen in spring training.

Traynor's group includes Joe Harris, former Washington player. Other Pirates will join them enroute to California.

Finals in Senior Meet.

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 26—George J. Gillespie, New York, and C. L. Schoonover, Warren, O., will vie in the finals of the Seniors golf tournament for the championship here this afternoon.

Gillespie entered the last bracket by virtue of his victory over Edward Tredennick, Meridian, Conn., one up in semi-finals. The match was decided through three long putts ranging from 18 to 40 feet which Gillespie sank at the second, sixth and fifteenth holes to save the match.

CHAPTER FIFTY.

I bent down over the stricken who lay as he had fallen, feeling his pulse and heart.

"Claypole," I said, looking up, "you struck better than you knew. The man's dead."

He stood silent a moment.

"So I've killed him," he said softly. "Still, I reckon he had orders to put you out, so it was his life or yours. I can't honestly say I'm sorry."

We moved the body from the track, placing it behind a large bowlder, and without losing any further time we plodded on through the darkness, climbing uphill. The remaining Japanese was in front, attempting no resistance, but going steadily forward under Claypole's direction, backed by his six-shooter.

"Where are we going?" I asked, after some minutes of silent progress.

"Safe up the mountain," replied Claypole, "where we can leave this little man to yell his heart out without inconvenience to the neighbors. I know this blamed wood from end to end. My name is Norval. On the Grampian hills my father feels his flock. Goats they were. I was an old, old man, and I made them to lie down in green pastures."

I suddenly remembered the aged herdsman I had seen on the mountains during my walk with Patience.

"So that was you?" I murmured, more than ever mystified.

"Shall I ever forget it?" said Claypole. "Goats are all very well in their way—the great god Pan and all that sort of thing; but I don't recommend you to take a one-room tenement with twenty-three adult members of the species. Who was the girls?" he unexpectedly concluded. "Fine high-spirited lot she was, too."

"She is the wife of the Center," I said shortly.

He received this piece of information without comment, his mind evidently on other matters as we tramped on in silence again for a time, making no sound under-foot on the carpet of pine needles. It had now ceased raining for some hours, but no stars showed through the heavy clouds above us. Then, all at once, things began to happen.

I heard far off on the mountain-side the noise of a great rush of air, like a giant's sigh, swelling to a roar.

Claypole and the little Japanese stopped, and then the latter suddenly, with a cry, bounded forward.

"Not so fast, you son of a gun," shouted Claypole above the strange tumult in the air.

But at that instant there was a terrible crashing and rending in the mountains above, and the darkness became intense. I leaned forward and gripped Claypole by the arm.

"What is it?"

He shouted something in my ear which I could not hear above the tumult. Suddenly the ground began to tremble beneath my feet, and I swayed violently. Something hit me on the shoulder, and I staggered sideways, still holding on to Claypole. There was a crashing of branches, and I seemed to discern the dark bodies of great trees felled and tossed. We lost our footing and together we rolled over and over for some distance, finally being brought up short by what proved to be a large bowlder.

I sat gasping, the breath knocked out of me.

"What's happened?" I waispered, after a second or two.

"Avalanche," replied Claypole briefly. "We're lucky not to have been killed. Brought on by the storm, I expect."

I remembered from vague lessons in my youth that earth on the steep slope of a mountain side was frequently loosened after a storm and slipped down. Stories of mountain villages swept away came to my mind.

We stumbled to our feet.

"Now where is that little Japanese?" said Claypole.

We went forward again in the darkness. The air was filled with the smell of freshly turned earth, but we could see practically nothing. Suddenly a light bleamed, and I saw that Claypole was holding a powerful electric torch in his hand. He flashed it around him as we went forward. Presently it shone on something white. A couple of steps forward brought us to our late prisoner.

He was lying half buried beneath the trunk of a great pine, smashed flat and obviously dead.

I was still dazed from the shock of the avalanche, and I found that I no longer had perfect control over my muscles, but shivered spasmodically, a phenomenon which I had noticed when undergoing a heavy bombardment during the late War. It was not exactly fear, but rather physical reaction from great strain.

At any other time I should have been horrified by the swift doom of the two men who had guided us from the chalet. But I had no emotion to spare for such accidents as these. The events of the last few days, the horror of the madhouse, quickly succeeded by the experience of being drugged, the forced excitement of my escape, when I had severely hurt one man and seen two others killed, and finally, the avanlache, smashing and wrecking the forest and so nearly putting an end to both of us, had rendered me for the moment unresponsive to the sancitity of human life. My mind was in the same condition as during the War, when I marched up to the trenches and went through an attack, watching the men lying cold and huddled or else fallen grotesquely round me, regarding them as no more than bundles of clothes without any bodily or spiritual connection with myself. We stood for a moment beside the corpse. Then Claypole, turning away, said briskly:

"We must hustle. The Lord High-Muckamuck will be quitting the chalet in about thirty minutes at the outside, and I must be waiting for him with Doctor Kuntz. We must now make straight for the Home."

De started off again, downhill this time, retracing our steps. The avalanche had in places swept the path, and on reaching the point where Claypole had so dramatically achieved by rescue, we had to look for some time before we found the body of the other Japanese. Claypole flashed his torch to the side of the track, and presently it lighted up the turnk of a pine lying across it, and not far away the inanimate form of the little Japanese.

"If Mr. Center should be curious," said Claypole, "it was a stone from that avalanche and not I that hit him."

"But what about me," I asked. "You've got to account for me, remember."

"You?" echoed Claypole. There's no need whatever to account for you. You're ceased to exist."

"What do you mean?" I said.

"I mean that this avalanche was a friend in need, a godsend and blessing in disguise. It swept down across the track, polished off you and your keepers, and left me standing alone, trembling in all by mortal limbs, while each particular hair did stand on end. Then this fretful porcupine just ran home and told Mr. Center all about it.

"You mean to report that I was killed."

"That's so," he replied. "It's up to you to cease upon the midnight with no pain, as the poet says. That avalanche makes things unexpectedly easy. In fact, I was wondering what on earth to do with you. You were a bit of a nuisance coming up from under that tablecloth. I needed time at the Home, but it was clear that for you any delay would have been fatal. Your ticket for kingdom come was taken and the signal down."

PAIGE—and only Paige—has a real Style Coupe at low cost. It has a Coupe that rivals the most costly in beauty of body line, and interior appointment. It has a Coupe with a larger and more powerful motor—speedier, and more quickly accelerated. And yet a Coupe that sells at an amazingly low price—a price possible only because of the tremendous (and extremely economical!) production facilities of the new Paige plant.

This new Paige Coupe on the 6-45 chassis offers far more in every way than do ordinary Coupes. Its French wings, stylish landau bows, and bright fabric rear quarters give it a trig and jaunty appearance. The lines are extraordinarily graceful, with a double belt molding, integral sun visor and rounded roof. The interior is uncommonly spacious, and there is a surprising amount of storage room. The extra wide seat is upholstered to match the handsome body finish. The whole interior is exquisitely beautiful.

Findlay, Ohio—"There is nothing to equal Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets for weak kidneys. I was having trouble with my kidneys, they would act too freely. My back ached all the time and I had so much misery that I did not feel like doing anything that meant exertion. By the time I had taken two bottles of the 'Anuric Tablets' my kidneys were in fine condition, my backache disappeared and I have not been bothered with my kidneys since." —Mrs. A. H. A New COUPE by PAIGE - at only $1095 f. o. b. factory

PAIGE—and only Paige—has a real Style Coupe at low cost. It has a Coupe that rivals the most costly in beauty of body line, and interior appointment. It has a Coupe with a larger and more powerful motor—speedier, and more quickly accelerated. And yet a Coupe that sells at an amazingly low price—a price possible only because of the tremendous (and extremely economical) production facilities of the new Paige plant.

This new Paige Coupe on the 6-45 chassis offers far more in every way than do ordinary Coupes. Its French wings, stylish landau bows, and bright fabric rear quarters give it a trig and jaunty appearance. The lines are extraordinarily graceful, with a double belt molding, integral sun visor and rounded roof. The interior is uncommonly spacious, and there is a surprising amount of storage room. The extra wide seat is upholstered to match the handsome body finish. The whole interior is exquisitely beautiful.

The Spoiled Hero

Perhaps George Young, who attained fame and glory by winning the Catalina swimming contest, has learned a useful lesson. Toronto, his native city, waited long and planned nobly to make his home-coming notable, and in return was snubbed. George refused to attend the great public dinner arranged in his honor, because his estranged pal, Bill Hastings, had been invited. The notables of the city gathered to do him honor, and had to eat their banquet in painful silence, because the seat of the guest of honor was empty.

That was pretty raw. George seems to have dimly felt how raw it was, for he immediately tried to atone for it by what he thought was a brilliant idea. He would give a dinner of his own, with Bill Hastings left out, and all the city notables could come as his guests. He had made money enough to afford such a blow-out.

Glowing with his grand plan, George wrote to the mayor about it, and in a burst of wild generosity suggested that the mayor select the guests. "His Worship" would know whom to invite, anyway, better than George would. Then George made arrangements for the spread.

The mayor replied that the host had better do his own inviting.

When the time came, the mayor and other city notables, constituting the guests of honor, were not present. The tables were neatly turned. Instead of one empty chair, there were many. That meal was a sad occasion for George.

Now Toronto, which had made of George a superhuman hero, has soured on him.

George is only a kid, to be sure. And everybody has worked hard to turn his head since he swam to fame. But Toronto feels that even a kid might have better manners—and more loyalty to an old pal. May George Young, and any other potential Georges, profit by his experience.

Getting On Top

According to Dr. Alfred Adler, Viennese psychologist, many of our most serious troubles in America come from our fierce struggle for superiority.

"The competitive spirit appears in every phase of American life," he says. "Your young men and women are striving to be gods and goddesses. When they fall short of their ideals, they suffer breakdowns—hence the suicide, the criminal, the neurotic.

"Every man must have a record. A fifty-story building is a record. Marrying three wives is a record. Dancing till 6 o'clock in the morning is a record. The American wants to be a conqueror in everything he does."

In Vienna, he explains, it is very different. There, "if a man is competitive, if he strives to be a leader, he hides it like a shame. If a student is ambitious to stand at the head of his class, he is ridiculed. Football and other games are played and attended for recreation or because there is nothing else to do—not for championships.

"In Europe a good man who misses success is still respected and beloved by his fellow-men."

Evidently here is a wide gulf between the Old World and the New. Which is better? "Ours!" most of us will answer unhesitatingly. Yet we pay heavily for all this competitive glory. Life is more than records.

Patriotic History

Poise is something much American-written history has lacked. First it ran to the extreme of depicting all our national heroes as perfect and all our national acts as wise and good.

Then came an awakening. "This won't do," said many honest citizens. "That part of the uniform of the British soldier in our Revolutionary days was red is no reason for regarding all British ever after as 'red coats' and enemies and thereby biassing our whole historical outlook. We'll change this and be fair."

Then some of the history writers went to the other extreme and began to dig up scandals about our great men and to try to show that the United States was always wrong and only luck had moved us forward.

This was a little more modest, but it gave about as false a picture of American history as the earlier type. There is a better way to write history. Philip Guedalla, a British historian, suggests the way in a recent comment.

"History," says Guedalla, "doesn't have to be patriotism. All that's needed is the truth. There's no use for either whitewash or lampblack."

School children who are taught true history with the whitewash and lampblack omitted ought to turn out better patriots in the long run, because they will have an intelligent understanding of historical events, their causes and effects.

While the artist world is debating the question whether John McCormack or Edward Johnson is the greatest tenor, why shouldn't the rest of us get down to something really practical, and find who is the worst, and do something about it?

Chicago now boasts of a "model jail," than which we'll say nothing could be more appropriate for Chicago.

That fancier in Olympia, Wash., who has bred "barkless dogs," should see what he can do about parrots.

REDUCED TO BARE NECESSITIES

As he traveled through the Arkansas bottoms, the tourist from the East marveled at the fecundity of canine life as manifested in every settlement. Late in the afternoon he came to a cabin set in the middle of a clearing and halted to ask his way.

The head of the house, a bewhiskered person, came to the fence in answer to the traveler's hail and gave him the directions for reaching the county-seat. With him came an eruption of barking, lop eared hounds; some of them black and tan and some showing a mongrel admixture in their coloring.

"How many dogs have you?" asked the Easterner.

"Well, suh," said the native, "I've had a sight of bad luck with my hound-dawgs. Some kind of a disease has got in amongst 'em and it keeps on killin' 'em off. I've doctored 'em the best I know how but seems like it don't do no good. Let's see, now—how many have I got left! There's Ring and Sounder and Queenie, yonder, and Rip and Ole Tige, the grand daddy of the pack, and Trixie and the new litter of pups under the house—jest 'leven in all."

He sighed deeply.

"Sometimes—sometimes it looks like I ain't never goin' to be able to git a start on hound-dawgs no more."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—News has drifted back from far off Italy that Jim Handy has ascended the starry trail. For many years he was a derelict genius of the newspaper shops—perhaps one month in Nome and a few months later under the blaze of the southern cross.

He cared nothing for self glorification and yet in the past 25 years, journalism has felt his impress all the way around the world. He launched many ideas for which others received credit and then drifted on in the manner of a rudderless ship.

He was a little unkempt and at times a two-fisted man at the black bottle but his keen intellect survived until the last and in Rome newspaper correspondents whisper it was Handy that furnished several Promethian flashes for the gifted Mussolini.

He crossed my own path remotely. I never saw him or corresponded and yet on soiled paper he indited two ideas to a magazine editor which were passed along to me—and were the inspiration for more letters from readers than any others I ever wrote.

He was an idea man for this magazine and was then marooned in a lonely section of old Mexico. For this he was content with a slight monthly check. Park Row offered him top salaries, but he would always write the same reply: "I can't stay anchored."

His longest tenure was perhaps under Jim Keeley on the Chicago Tribune as a Sunday editor. His brilliant ideas were not confined to journalism. Broke one day in a foreign city, he suggested an American sausage breakfact to a hotel keeper.

He asked only for a small percentafe of profits. The idea is still making the inn keeper huge sums. Handy restless spirit overcame him and he was next heard of 4,000 miles away—collected his end for a time, but the aflame with a new idea.

New York clings to its smalltown curiosity. On 47th street and Sixth avenue, in the very heart of the Tenderloin, a gentleman wearing a white goatee and a buckskin suit, mounted a box. He began to exhort the virtues of an Indian remedy. He told how it would "whiten the teeth, harden the gums, tone up the liver, eradicate pin worms remove chilblains"—and many other things I wish I could remember. He collected a crowd and sold 14 bottles before a policeman hove into sight and he moved on his way.

Writing in the first person leaves the door wide open for scorching comment about self importance. And yet in years of employing the personal pronoun, only three caustic letters have been received. One today was a pip and perhaps justifiable but it was completely spoiled by being anonymous.

A hotel on Broadway has three bellboys and a night clerk who have occupied the same posts for more than 20 years. All have married, raised families and built homes. They are white-haired now and have refused an offer of the management to pension them.

In other days hotel clerks along Broadway sections were known as sports. They were not the cherub face, collar ad types often seen today. They usually had flaring mustachios and wore gay cravats, checkered vests and expensive watch chains and diamond rings. In off hours they frequented the gaming tables and gained fleeting reputations for holding their liquor well. They were migratory birds of passage and always on the wing. As a rule they were bachelors and heavy favorites with ladies.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Freak Inventions.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—Some years ago there was in the Patent Office in Washington the record of an application for a patent on an invention designed to keep chickens from scratching up the garden. The contraption was rather complicated, but when attached to the busy hen or the supervising rooster it would force either one to walk right on out of the garden if it attempted to pause to do any scratching. It was, in its operation, the antithesis of the hobble which restrains a horse from running away or straying far from camp.

It was not patented. It was not useful because it was not practicable. It was too expensive, in the first place, for the harness cost as much to manufacture as any pullet might be expected to fetch in market, and then the labo cost of harnessing each and every chicken on the range and seeing that the harness was kept in good working order was even more prohibitive.

The idea was original. For that reason it might have been entitled to a basis patent, but the stony-hearted examiners would not permit it to get by. In all probability, it is said, this invention was the product of a man who had a garden, but did not keep a chicken. He must have worked out his invention solely with the idea of having his garden protected from the ravages of his neighbor's hens. Probably it never occurred to him that his neighbor would have decided that the best means of protecting a garden against the ravages of chickens was to cover it or enclose it with a wire screen or netting.

It is also possible that if the apparatus which made a chicken keep on walking when it tried to scratch had been patented the neighbor would have countered with an invention for the protection of gardens and flower beds against marauding fowls, and then a war might have been waged to determine which should be forced to use the other's device. And that would have made business for the lawyers and the courts, and possibly have furnished copy for the newspapers.

An Alarm That Worked.

About the same time that the chicken harness was brought to the attention of the Patent Office an application was filed for a patent on what might be called a sure-fire alarm clock—that is, an alarm clock that not only awakened the sleeper but forced him out of bed.

That there was a long felt need for such an invention goes without saying. There are few households that would be without one if the thing were successful and not too expensive. However, in this instance the examiners decided that it was too complicated and not wholly practicable. It was a combination bed and alarm clock. When the alarm went off, the foot and one side of the bed dropped down and the rear end shot up, with the result that the sleeper was catapulted out upon the floor—a sort of bucking broncho action, as it was described. The chief defect lay in that it required a lot of work to set the bed up again, and that there was no assurance that the sleeper would not continue his slumber on the floor.

It was suggested that if the machine could be so modified that the sleeper would be dumped into a bathtub full of cold water it might be effective, but the objection was raised to that

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Freak Inventions.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—Some years ago there was in the Patent Office in Washington the record of an application for a patent on an invention designed to keep chickens from scratching up the garden. The contraption was rather complicated, but when attached to the busy hen or the supervising rooster it would force either one to walk right on out of the garden if it attempted to pause to do any scratching. It was, in its operation, the antithesis of the hobble which restrains a horse from running away or straying far from camp.

It was not patented. It was not useful because it was not practicable. It was too expensive, in the first place, for the harness cost as much to manufacture as any pullet might be expected to fetch in market, and then the labo cost of harnessing each and every chicken on the range and seeing that the harness was kept in good working order was even more prohibitive.

The idea was original. For that reason it might have been entitled to a basis patent, but the stony-hearted examiners would not permit it to get by. In all probability, it is said, this invention was the product of a man who had a garden, but did not keep a chicken. He must have worked out his invention solely with the idea of having his garden protected from the ravages of his neighbor's hens. Probably it never occurred to him that his neighbor would have decided that the best means of protecting a garden against the ravages of chickens was to cover it or enclose it with a wire screen or netting.

It is also possible that if the apparatus which made a chicken keep on walking when it tried to scratch had been patented the neighbor would have countered with an invention for the protection of gardens and flower beds against marauding fowls, and then a war might have been waged to determine which should be forced to use the other's device. And that would have made business for the lawyers and the courts, and possibly have furnished copy for the newspapers.

An Alarm That Worked.

About the same time that the chicken harness was brought to the attention of the Patent Office an application was filed for a patent on what might be called a sure-fire alarm clock—that is, an alarm clock that not only awakened the sleeper but forced him out of bed.

That there was a long felt need for such an invention goes without saying. There are few households that would be without one if the thing were successful and not too expensive. However, in this instance the examiners decided that it was too complicated and not wholly practicable. It was a combination bed and alarm clock. When the alarm went off, the foot and one side of the bed dropped down and the rear end shot up, with the result that the sleeper was catapulted out upon the floor—a sort of bucking broncho action, as it was described. The chief defect lay in that it required a lot of work to set the bed up again, and that there was no assurance that the sleeper would not continue his slumber on the floor.

It was suggested that if the machine could be so modified that the sleeper would be dumped into a bathtub full of cold water it might be effective, but the objection was raised to that

OHIO SLAYER OF TWO FACES DEATH PENALTY

Blessing's Corner Farmer Shows no Signs of Emotion.

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O., Feb. 26.—Death in the electric chair is the penalty faced today by Leo Halterman, confessed slayer of his half brother and the latter's wife, as the result of a verdict returned late yesterday by a jury which deliberated his case after an 11-day trial.

The jury found him guilty of murder in the first degree, without recommendation of mercy.

Halterman was taken back to county jail to await the filing of a motion for a new trial by his attorneys.

Halterman confessed that he shot his half-brother, Charles Halterman, with whom he lived on a farm at Blessing's Corner, and later beat to death Mrs. Charles Halterman. He pleaded not guilty and sought to justify the killing on the grounds of self-defense, and accidental shooting.

AL G. FIELD'S SHOW COMING

Minstrels Come to Ceramic Theatre on March 4.

The latest musical selections are included in the program of the Fortieth Annual Edition of the Al G. Field Minstrels, which comes to the Ceramic theatre on Friday, March 4.

Jack Richards, who heads the singing cast with his wonderful Welsh tenor voice, has chosen that Irving Berlin favorite, "At Peace With the World," for his first number in the minstrel first part. He follows it up with "Moonlight and Roses," that lovely ballad. Billy Church, the other half of the singing act, uses "Blue Bonnet," which is finely adapted to his clear, bell-like voice.

Other numbers which other members of the cast use are: "My Air Castle World," "Daddy's Wonderful Pal," "If You Miss Me as I Miss You," "Let the End of the World Come Tomorrow,' "Hard to Get Gertie," and "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain." Comedy numbers are: "So is Your Old Lady," "Oh, Brother, What a Feeling," and "Play Me That Banjo Rag," Eddie Ross' favorite.

The very popular "Valencia" is used as the opening number and plenty of Charleston music is in evidence for the quick-stepping boys, headed by Billy and Leo Dornan and Gallagher and Cox. Bob Conn, eccentric dancer, has many new steps and put his dance over with plenty of pep and enthusiasm.

Winter Months are Danger Months!

The Time of Year Good Physical Condition Counts Most

STATISTICS show February and March are the months of greatest sickness. Winter's colds, chills and sudden changes, indoor life and lack of fresh air and exercise, place heavier burdens on our eliminative organs. Too often sluggishness of function results.

It is the duty of the kidneys to keep the blood stream free from the poisons of bodily waste. Retention of this toxic waste is apt to make one listless, tired and achy. A dull, toxic backache is often a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions.

If you have reason to believe your kidneys are acting sluggishly, assist them with a tested diuretic*. Millions have used Doan's Pills. They are endorsed the country over. Ask your neighbor!

He follows it up with "Moonlight and Roses," that lovely ballad. Billy Church, the other half of the singing act, uses "Blue Bonnet," which is finely adapted to his clear, bell-like voice.

Other numbers which other members of the cast use are: "My Air Castle World," "Daddy's Wonderful Pal," "If You Miss Me as I Miss You,' "Let the End of the World Come Tomorrow,' "Hard to Get Gertie," and "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain." Comedy numbers are: "So is Your Old Lady," "Oh, Brother, What a Feeling," and "Play Me That Banjo Rag," Eddie Ross' favorite.

The very popular "Valencia" is used as the opening number and plenty of Charleston music is in evidence for the quick-stepping boys, headed by Billy and Leo Dornan and Gallagher and Cox. Bob Conn, eccentric dancer, has many new steps and put his dance over with plenty of pep and enthusiasm.

Winter Months are Danger Months!
The Time of Year Good Physical Condition Counts Most
STATISTICS show February and March are the months of greatest sickness. Winter's colds, chills and sudden changes, indoor life and lack of fresh air and exercise, place heavier burdens on our eliminative organs. Too often sluggishness of function results.
It is the duty of the kidneys to keep the blood stream free from the poisons of bodily waste. Retention of this toxic waste is apt to make one listless, tired and achy. A dull, toxic backache is often a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions.
If you have reason to believe your kidneys are acting sluggishly, assist them with a tested diuretic*. Millions have used Doan's Pills. They are endorsed the country over. Ask your neighbor!

PROPOSE TO ELIMINATE FOUR CROSSINGS IN COUNTY

OHIO PROGRAM UNDER EMMONS PLAN OUTLINED

Highway Director Lists 248 Places of Danger.

VAST PROJECT

Constitutional Amendment Will be Submitted to Voters.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26.—State Highway Director George Schlesinger today made public a tentative list of 248 railroad grade crossings, situated throughout Ohio, which the state highway system proposes to eliminate.

Schlesinger said that, in making up this list, consideration was given both to highway needs and to the matter of proportioning the work of elimination among the various railroads operating in Ohio.

A vast project, requiring at least $20,000 000, the program is the most extensive of its kind ever devised for the safety of motorists.

Its financing depends on the bond issue proposed by Representative Ralph W. Emmons of East Rochester, Columbiana county, now pending in the highways committee of the house.

This requires a constitutional amendment, as did the soldier bonus, and would authorize issue of $25,000,000 serially, as the funds are needed for the state's share.

"Give us the money and in two years we'll have every one of the grade crossings started," Director Schlesinger promised.

The cross ngs selected are only a fourth of all in the state, but were chosen because more trains and more automobiles cross them than any others.

They are places were white crosses flourish and increase in number each year.

Railroad crossings proposed to be eliminated include:

In Columbiana county: Pennsylvania, one half mile south of Salem on State route 45; Pennsylvania, at northeast corporation line of Salem on State route 19; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, ¼ mile west of East Rochester on State route 5, and Pennsylvania, at East Palestine.

In Jefferson county: Pennsylvania, at Rush Run; Pennsylvania, at Toronto, and W. & L. E., at Rush Run, all on State route 7.

The tentative list provides for elimination of one railroad grade crossing in Adams county, 6 in Allen, 5 in Ashland, 5 in Ashtabula, 4 in Athens 1 in Auglaize, 5 in Belmont, 2 in Brown, 3 in Butler, 1 in Carroll, 2 in Champaign, 7 in Clark, 2 in Clermont, 2 in Clinton, 4 in Columbiana, 1 in Coshocton, 1 in Crawford, 4 in Cuyahoga, 4 in Darke, 1 in Defiance, 4 in Delaware, 5 in Erie, 2 in Fairfield, 1 in Fayette, 3 in Franklin, 2 in Fulton, 2 in Gallia, 1 in Geagua, 4 in Greene, 1 in Guernsey, 6 in Hamilton, 4 in Hancock, 3 in Hardin, 3 in Harrison, 2 in Henry, 1 in Highland, 1 in Hocking, 1 in Holmes, 6 in Huron, 4 in Jackson, 3 in Jefferson, 6 in Knox, 2 in Lake, 1 in Lawrence, 3 in Licking, 1 in Logan, 6 in Lorain, 4 in Lucas, 2 in Mahoning, 3 in Marion, 2 in Medina, 1 in Meigs, 4 in Miami, 2 in Montgomery, 4 in Morrow, 3 in Muskingum, 1 in Noble, 4 in Ottawa, 1 in Paulding 3 in Perry, 2 in Pike, 5 in Portage, 5 in Preble, 2 in Putnam, 6 in Richland, 5 in Ross, 2 in Sandusky, 2 in Scioto, 4 in Seneca, 4 in Stark, 6 in Summit, 4 in Trumbull, 6 in Tuscarawas, 3 in Union, 2 in Van Wert, 2 in Vinton, 2 in Washington, 6 in Wayne, 3 in Williams, 2 in Wood and 2 in Wyandot county.

Crossing proposed to be elimiated in Wayne county are: W. & L. E. at McDowell in state route 5; C. A. & C., at East Union, on state route 5; B. & O. at Doylestown station on state route 36; Erie, at West Salem on state route 53; Penn. & W. & L. E at Orrville on state route 94, and W. & Le E. one mile south of Orrville on state rote 94.

Storm Sweeps New England.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—A terrific rain and wind storm, which swept New England during the night and continued today, raised havoc with telephone communication systems throughout Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

In Maine every telephone circuit with the exception of that in Portland is out of order. In New Hampshire but five communities have service, and there is no telephone service possible in Vermont.

The terrific wind that accompanied the rain swept down wires and poles, causing damage that will require several days work to establish even temporary relief.

he makes of it. He has gathered it in carefully and given it back liberally. Thus far his gifts to science and education, including the fight against disease, and the effort to eradicate specific diseases, amount to more than $500,000,000.

Even the good communist who believes that everything should belong to the people and be divided, will admit that it is better to have one man of intelligence gather a thousand millions and spend the money intelligently, than to have a million people get it and spend it in small driblets for soda water and ice cream, with nothing to show for it afterwards.

Drive For Federal Control of Coal Industry Begins

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The congressional drive for federal legislation to regulate the coal industry was accelerated today as result of the collapse of the Miami wage negotations between bituminous miners and operators.

A strike this spring in the soft coal fields unquestionably would speed the regulatory bills in the next congress in December.

It is too late this season to do anything.

Federal supervision, either as a temporary expedient or as a permanent measure, is anathema both to miners and operators. They have always fought strenuously against outised intervention in their affairs.

Miss Eva Young Will Preach in Avondale Church

Owing to the absence of Rev. John Macdonald, who has been called to Dunkirk, N. The evening services will be dispensed with in order to give members of the congregation an opportunity to attend the revival meeting at the Oakland Free Methodist church.

PENSION FUND HITS $10,528

Presbyterian Subscriptions in District Reported at Dinner.

Subscriptions, totalling $10,528.56 have been pledged by Presbyterians in the East Liverpool district for the proposed $15,000,000 pension fund, according to reports submitted at a dinner meeting in the social rooms of the First church last evening. This figure does not include reports from smaller churches.

Representatives of the First and Second churches of East Liverpool, Emmanuel chapel, Curry Memorial, Bethel, Salineville, Wellsville, Monroeville and Longs Run Presbyterian churches attended the meeting.

T. V. Milligan, district chairman, presided. Rev. John Sharp, Martin's Ferry, missionary field representative for the Steubenville and St. Clairsville Presbyteries, discussed the campaign being conducted by a laymen's committee.

Campaign workers are expected to wind up their work over the week-end. Final reports will be submitted at a dinner which will be held in the Westminster Presbyterian church, Steubenville, next Tuesday evening. Quota of the district is approximately $78,000.

Alleged Payroll Padding In Ohio Guard is Probed

CLEVELAND, Ohio. Feb. 26.—Several officials connected with the Ohio National guard, have been summoned to appear before U. S. District Attorney, A. E. Bernsteen, in connection with alleged payroll padding, it became known here today.

Records of various units have been in the hands of investigators for almost two months past.

It is alleged that payments were juggled in such a way as to show men present for drill who did not appear.

Captain G. W. Connelly, of the 145th infantry, appeared at Bernsteen's office shortly after noon today and was arrested on two warrants charging forgery of drill pay checks.

He will probably be given a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Monahen.

COOLIDGE VETO OF FARM BILL CAPITAL ISSUE

Chances of Succeeding Himself Debated Question.

TWO EXTREMES

Iowa Legislature Starts Petition for Lowden.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The effect of President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill upon his chances of succeeding himself in 1928 was a hotly debated question in the capital today wherever two or more politicians gathered.

"Mr. Coolidge, by this veto, has signed his political death warrant. He at last has definitely alienated the normally Republican mid-west."

"Mr. Coolidge, by this veto, has shown himself a courageous statesman, above sectionalism, which in the long run will be appreciated and rewarded by the country with renomination and re-election."

Between these two extremes the controversy fumed and sputtered. Representatives of the agricultural west were raging, publicly and privately. So, too, were some of the southern Democrats. On the other hand, the representatives of powerful industrial and financial east were loud in their praise for the president's summary decapitation of the farm bloc's pet child.

Davies Also in Race.

While the extremists on either side made extravagant claims, there was on all sides a general recognition of the fact that whatever else Mr. Coolidge may have done in rejecting the bill he has, at least, let himself in for a savage fight if he aspires to another term in the White House.

The action of the Iowa legislature in starting a petition in favor of ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden's nomination within an hour after news of the veto reached Des Moines was cited as merely one indication of the opposition that Mr. Coolidge may expect in 1928.

The two men that were more responsible than any others for the enactment of the McNary-Haugen bill were ex-Governor Lowden and Vice President Charles G. Dawes. Without their championship the bill never would have passed. Lowden has written and spoken in favor of it throughout the grain belt for two years. It was Dawes who took the parliamentary helm in congress and by shrewd generalship maneuvered it through both houses.

Both men are considered candidates by every politically-minded person in Washington.

Edna Felton, 8-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Felton, died last night in the home on the Chester-New Cumberland road.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in charge of Rev. C. W. Ewing. Burial will be made in Locust Hill cemetery.

Nicholas Malykescish.

Funeral services for Nicholas Malykescish, 65 years old, who died at Weirton, W. Va., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Arner funeral parlors, Chester. Burial will be made in Locust Hill cemetery.

MARINES' EYES ON SHANGHAI

No Orders For U. S. Forces to Land In China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—American marines have not yet been instruced to land at Shanghai for the protection of the foreign settlement, nor will they be unless and until an actual emergency arises, it was announced at the state department today.

Administration officials had no comment to make on the British forces already having been landed.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26. — Sun Chuan Fang's Shanghai defenders are thoroughly disorganized and unless the forces of Shang Tso Lin can be moved to the front within a few hours the Cantonese armies appear today likely to bring their drive for Shanghai to the city's gates.

The Shantung forces are being rushed through Shanghai to the battle front as fast as transportation can be provided, and as they arrive they are replacing the demoralized Sun Chuan Fang units.

Night long troop movements are said to have resulted in 15,000 fresh Shantung forces reaching the front, making the Shantung armies in active serves now about 20,000, with additional troop trains arriving in Shanghai hourly.

There are rumors that the Cantonese are in ocupation of Sunkiag, the last stronghold before the city, and there are rumors that the Chinese navy in the Whangpoo river has gone over in its entirety to the Cantonese.

TWO CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE

ALGONA, Ia., Feb. 26.—Glenn and Lecnard Crouch, aged 6 and 5, respectively, were burned to death in their beds today when Harvey Crouch, their father, tried to start a fire with kerosene.

Insull Defiant

stand. Senator Reed (D.) of Missouri, chairman, announced that Senator Goff (R.) of West Virginia, would draw a resolution at once citing Insull to the senate for contempt. He added that the resolution would include the names of Daniel F. Schuyler, Insull's attorney, and Thomas W. Cunningham, of Philadelphia.

Reed would not say whether the trio would be called before the bar of the senate and an attempt made to send them direct to jail, or whether they would be cited to the United States attorney here for prosecution in the federal courts.

J. Frank Adams Sells His Lisbon Insurance Agency

Sale of the J. Frank Adams insurance agency at Lisbon to J. F. Moore, former deputy clerk of courts, and the consolidation of the Moore and Harry E. Marsden agencies, was announced at Lisbon today.

Adams, who is postmaster at Lisbon and a former member of the Columbiana county election board, has been in the insurance business for about 13 years. The business has been in charge of Moore for about four years.

Marsden, who is secretary of the Columbiana county fair board, has been in business for 21 years. The consolidated agencies will be conducted in Marsden's quarters as the office of the Adams agency must be vacated about May 1 to make room for the new building to be erected by the Peonle's State bank.

The change is effective March 1.

36 MEN DROWNED WHEN TYPHOON WRECKS SHIP

Foundered Freighter Elkton Found Off Luzon.

CARGO IS LOST

Destroyers Failed In Search After Receiving S. O. S.

TOKIO, Feb. 26.—The foundered United States shipping board freighter, the Elkton, has been found 1,000 miles off Luzon, according to wireless reports received at Yokohama today. The crew of 36 men were drowned, the report said.

Caught in a typhoon last week, the Elkton sent out distress signals, but rescue ships, including four destroyers, were unable to locate the vessel.

The Elkton carried a cargo of sugar valued at $3,000,000. The cargo is a total loss, wireless reports said.

Missing Launch Found.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Feb. 26.—The launch Imp, which has been missing since Feb. 20, was found today off Port Etches where it had taken refuge from a storm.

The boat, carrying two radio operators and supplies to the radio station on Tinchenbrook island, was believed to have foundered.

Searchers aboard the forestry ship Chugach found A. Williams, pilot of the boat, and Clifford Muir and Edwin J. Rost, radio operators, uninjured.

PROPOSE TO ELIMINATE FOUR CROSSINGS IN COUNTY

OHIO PROGRAM UNDER EMMONS PLAN OUTLINED

Highway Director Lists 248 Places of Danger.

VAST PROJECT

Constitutional Amendment Will be Submitted to Voters.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26.—State Highway Director George Schlesinger today made public a tentative list of 248 railroad grade crossings, situated throughout Ohio, which the state highway system proposes to eliminate.

Schlesinger said that, in making up this list, consideration was given both to highway needs and to the matter of proportioning the work of elimination among the various railroads operating in Ohio.

A vast project, requiring at least $20,000 000, the program is the most extensive of its kind ever devised for the safety of motorists.

Its financing depends on the bond issue proposed by Representative Ralph W. Emmons of East Rochester, Columbiana county, now pending in the highways committee of the house.

This requires a constitutional amendment, as did the soldier bonus, and would authorize issue of $25,000,000 serially, as the funds are needed for the state's share.

"Give us the money and in two years we'll have every one of the grade crossings started," Director Schlesinger promised.

The crossings selected are only a fourth of all in the state, but were chosen because more trains and more automobiles cross them than any others.

They are places were white crosses flourish and increase in number each year.

Railroad crossings proposed to be eliminated include:

In Columbiana county: Pennsylvania, one half mile south of Salem on State route 45; Pennsylvania, at northeast corporation line of Salem on State route 19; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, ¼ mile west of East Rochester on State route 5, and Pennsylvania, at East Palestine.

In Jefferson county: Pennsylvania, at Rush Run; Pennsylvania, at Toronto, and W. & L. E., at Rush Run, all on State route 7.

The tentative list provides for elimination of one railroad grade crossing in Adams county, 6 in Allen, 5 in Ashland, 5 in Ashtabula, 4 in Athens 1 in Auglaize, 5 in Belmont, 2 in Brown, 3 in Butler, 1 in Carroll, 2 in Champaign, 7 in Clark, 2 in Clermont, 2 in Clinton, 4 in Columbiana, 1 in Coshocton, 1 in Crawford, 4 in Cuyahoga, 4 in Darke, 1 in Defiance, 4 in Delaware, 5 in Erie, 2 in Fairfield, 1 in Fayette, 3 in Franklin, 2 in Fulton, 2 in Gallia, 1 in Geagua, 4 in Greene, 1 in Guernsey, 6 in Hamilton, 4 in Hancock, 3 in Hardin, 3 in Harrison, 2 in Henry, 1 in Highland, 1 in Hocking, 1 in Holmes, 6 in Huron, 4 in Jackson, 3 in Jefferson, 6 in Knox, 2 in Lake, 1 in Lawrence, 3 in Licking, 1 in Logan, 6 in Lorain, 4 in Lucas, 2 in Mahoning, 3 in Marion, 2 in Medina, 1 in Meigs, 4 in Miami, 2 in Montgomery, 4 in Morrow, 3 in Muskingum, 1 in Noble, 4 in Ottawa, 1 in Paulding 3 in Perry, 2 in Pike, 5 in Portage. 5 in Preble, 2 in Putnam, 6 in Richland, 5 in Ross, 2 in Sandusky, 2 in Scioto. 4 in Seneca, 4 in Stark, 6 in Summit, 4 in Trumbull, 6 in Tuscarawas, 3 in Union, 2 in Van Wert, 2 in Vinton, 2 in Washington, 6 in Wayne, 3 in Williams, 2 in Wood and 2 in Wyandot county.

Crossing proposed to be elimiated in Wayne county are: W. & L. E. at McDowell in state route 5; C. A. & C., at East Union, on state route 5; B. & O. at Doylestown station on state route 36; Erie, at West Salem on state route 55; Penn. & W. & L. E at Orrville on state route 94, and W. & Le E. one mile south of Orrville on state rote 94.

Italian Aviator, On Four-Continent Hop, Leaves Bahia

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 26.—Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian ace who is making a four-continent hydroplane flight, arrived here from Bahia shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

De Pinedo had flown the course, approximately 800 miles, in about seven hours.

BAHIA, Brazil, Feb. 26.—Comander Francisco De Pinedo, Italian aviator who is making a four-continent flight, hopped off from here at 7:30 o'clock this morning for Rio de Janeiro. He arrived here yesterday afternoon, flying from Pernambuco.

Storm Sweeps New England.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—A terrific rain and wind storm, which swept New England during the night and continued today, raised havoc with telephone communication systems throughout Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

In Maine every telephone circuit with the exception of that in Portland is out of order. In New Hampshire but five communities have service, and there is no telephone service possible in Vermont.

The terrific wind that accompanied the rain swept down wires and poles, causing damage that will require several days work to establish even temporary relief.

he makes of it. He has gathered it in carefully and given it back liberally. Thus far his gifts to science and education, including the fight against disease, and the effort to eradicate specific diseases, amount to more than $500,000,000.

Even the good communist who believes that everything should belong to the people and be divided, will admit that it is better to have one man of intelligence gather a thousand millions and spend the money intelligently, than to have a million people get it and spend it in small driblets for soda water and ice cream, with nothing to show for it afterwards.

Drive For Federal Control of Coal Industry Begins

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The congressional drive for federal legislation to regulate the coal industry was accelerated today as result of the collapse of the Miami wage negotations between bituminous miners and operators.

A strike this spring in the soft coal fields unquestionably would speed the regulatory bills in the next congress in December.

It is too late this season to do anything.

Federal supervision, either as a temporary expedient or as a permanent measure, is anathema both to miners and operators. They have always fought strenuously against outised intervention in their affairs.

Miss Eva Young Will Preach in Avondale Church

Owing to the absence of Rev. John Macdonald, who has been called to Dunkirk, N. Y., by the serious illness of his sister, morning services at the Avondale street Free Methodist church tomorrow will be in charge of Miss Eva Young. The evening services will be dispensed with in order to give members of the congregation an opportunity to attend the revival meeting at the Oakland Free Methodist church.

PENSION FUND HITS $10,528

Presbyterian Subscriptions in District Reported at Dinner.

Subscriptions, totalling $10,528.56 have been pledged by Presbyterians in the East Liverpool district for the proposed $15,000,000 pension fund, according to reports submitted at a dinner meeting in the social rooms of the First church last evening. This figure does not include reports from smaller churches.

Representatives of the First and Second churches of East Liverpool, Emmanuel chapel, Curry Memorial, Bethel, Salineville, Wellsville, Monroeville and Longs Run Presbyterian churches attended the meeting.

T. V. Milligan, district chairman, presided. Rev. John Sharp, Martin's Ferry, missionary field representative for the Steubenville and St. Clairsville Presbyteries, discussed the campaign being conducted by a laymen's committee.

Campaign workers are expected to wind up their work over the weekend. Final reports will be submitted at a dinner which will be held in the Westminster Presbyterian church, Steubenville, next Tuesday evening. Quota of the district is approximately $78,000.

Alleged Payroll Padding In Ohio Guard is Probed

CLEVELAND, Ohio. Feb. 26.—Several officials connected with the Ohio National guard, have been summoned to appear before U. S. District Attorney, A. E. Bernsteen, in connection with alleged payroll padding, it became known here today.

Records of various units have been in the hands of investigators for almost two months past.

It is alleged that payments were juggled in such a way as to show men present for drill who did not appear.

Captain G. W. Connelly, of the 145th infantry, appeared at Bernsteen's office shortly after noon today and was arrested on two warrants charging forgery of drill pay checks.

He will probably be given a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Monahen.

COOLIDGE VETO OF FARM BILL CAPITAL ISSUE

Chances of Succeeding Himself Debated Question.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The effect of President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill upon his chances of succeeding himself in 1928 was a hotly debated question in the capital today wherever two or more politicians gathered.

"Mr. Coolidge, by this veto, has signed his political death warrant. He at last has definitely alienated the normally Republican mid-west."

"Mr. Coolidge, by this veto, has shown himself a courageous statesman, above sectionalism, which in the long run will be appreciated and rewarded by the country with renomination and re-election."

Between these two extremes the controversy fumed and sputtered. Representatives of the agricultural west were raging, publicly and privately. So, too, were some of the southern Democrats. On the other hand, the representatives of powerful industrial and financial east were loud in their praise for the president's summary decapitation of the farm bloc's pet child.

Davies Also in Race.

While the extremists on either side made extravagant claims, there was on all sides a general recognition of the fact that whatever else Mr. Coolidge may have done in rejecting the bill he has, at least, let himself in for a savage fight if he aspires to another term in the White House.

The action of the Iowa legislature in starting a petition in favor of ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden's nomination within an hour after news of the veto reached Des Moines was cited as merely one indication of the opposition that Mr. Coolidge may expect in 1928.

The two men that were more responsible than any others for the enactment of the McNary-Haugen bill were ex-Governor Lowden and Vice President Charles G. Dawes. Without their championship the bill never would have passed. Lowden has written and spoken in favor of it throughout the grain belt for two years. It was Dawes who took the parliamentary helm in congress and by shrewd generalship maneuvered it through both houses.

Both men are considered candidates by every politically-minded person in Washington.

DEATH ROLL

Ralph Orr Jr.

Ralph, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Orr, former residents of East Liverpool, died yesterday in the home, 265 Oakland park, Columbus.

Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers and three sisters: Robert, Jack, Virginia, Ella June and Winifred.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon. Burial will be made in Columbus.

Edna Felton.

Edna Felton, 8-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Felton, died last night in the home on the Chester-New Cumberland road.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in charge of Rev. C. W. Ewing. Burial will be made in Locust Hill cemetery.

Nicholas Malykescish.

Funeral services for Nicholas Malykescish, 65 years old, who died at Weirton, W. Va., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Arner funeral parlors, Chester. Burial will be made in Locust Hill cemetery.

MARINES' EYES ON SHANGHAI

No Orders For U. S. Forces to Land In China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—American marines have not yet been instruced to land at Shanghai for the protection of the foreign settlement, nor will they be unless and until an actual emergency arises, it was announced at the state department today.

Administration officials had no comment to make on the British forces already having been landed.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26. — Sun Chuan Fang's Shanghai defenders are thoroughly disorganized and unless the forces of Shang Tso Lin can be moved to the front within a few hours the Cantonese armies appear today likely to bring their drive for Shanghai to the city's gates.

The Shantung forces are being rushed through Shanghai to the battle front as fast as transportation can be provided, and as they arrive they are replacing the demoralized Sun Chuan Fang units.

Night long troop movements are said to have resulted in 15,000 fresh Shantung forces reaching the front, making the Shantung armies in active serves now about 20,000, with additional troop trains arriving in Shanghai hourly.

There are rumors that the Cantonese are in ocupation of Sunkiag, the last stronghold before the city, and there are rumors that the Chinese navy in the Whangpoo river has gone over in its entirety to the Cantonese.

TWO CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE

ALGONA, Ia., Feb. 26.—Glenn and Leonard Crouch, aged 6 and 5, respectively, were burned to death in their beds today when Harvey Crouch, their father, tried to start a fire with kerosene.

Insull Defiant

stand. Senator Reed (D.) of Missouri, chairman, announced that Senator Goff (R.) of West Virginia, would draw a resolution at once citing Insull to the senate for contempt. He added that the resolution would include the names of Daniel F. Schuyler, Insull's attorney, and Thomas W. Cunningham, of Philadelphia.

Reed would not say whether the trio would be called before the bar of the senate and an attempt made to send them direct to jail, or whether they would be cited to the United States attorney here for prosecution in the federal courts.

J. Frank Adams Sells His Lisbon Insurance Agency

Sale of the J. Frank Adams insurance agency at Lisbon to J. F. Moore, former deputy clerk of courts, and the consolidation of the Moore and Harry E. Marsden agencies, was announced at Lisbon today.

Adams, who is postmaster at Lisbon and a former member of the Columbiana county election board, has been in the insurance business for about 13 years. The business has been in charge of Moore for about four years.

Marsden, who is secretary of the Columbiana county fair board, has been in business for 21 years. The consolidated agencies will be conducted in Marsden's quarters as the office of the Adams agency must be vacated about May 1 to make room for the new building to be erected by the Peoples State bank.

The change is effective March 1.

36 MEN DROWNED WHEN TYPHOON WRECKS SHIP

Foundered Freighter Elkton Found Off Luzon.

CARGO IS LOST

Destroyers Failed In Search After Receiving S. O. S.

TOKIO, Feb. 26.—The foundered United States shipping board freighter, the Elkton, has been found 1,000 miles off Luzon, according to wireless reports received at Yokohama today. The crew of 36 men were drowned, the report said.

Caught in a typhoon last week, the Elkton sent out distress signals, but rescue ships, including four destroyers, were unable to locate the vessel.

The Elkton carried a cargo of sugar valued at $3,000,000. The cargo is a total loss, wireless reports said.

Missing Launch Found.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Feb. 26.—The launch Imp, which has been missing since Feb. 20, was found today off Port Etches where it had taken refuge from a storm.

The boat, carrying two radio operators and supplies to the radio station on Tinchenbrook island, was believed to have foundered.

The Men You Know

who have got ahead in the world — what kind of chaps were they? "Good fellows," who spent every penny they made? Answer the question honestly, and then think it over.

You've got to think enough about the future to prepare for it, or else you're liable to be reminded of your oversight forcefully and unpleasantly.

FIVE CHESTER PLACES ROBBED

Police Chief Smith Investigates Petty Jobs.

Chief of Police William Smith today is investigating a series of petty robberies which occurred here last night in which five business houses were entered. About $6 in cash, and chewing gum, candy and cigars were taken.

Places visited were: Temple Brothers' Motor company, Third and Carolina avenue; confectionery store of Walter Shaw, Carolina avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets; Robert Irwin gas filling station, Carolina avenue below Fifth street; pool room conducted by Harry Huckelberry, Fifth street and Carolina avenue, and the cigar and confectionery store of J. M. Mayhew, Dunn street.

Entrance to each place was gained by the culprits, believed local youths, by breaking the glass in the front doors and pushing back the night locks. Two dollars in pennies were taken from the Mayhew store, together with a quantity of candy and tobacco, while four dollars represented the loot found in the filling filling station. Nothing of value was taken at th other places.

The robberies were discovered at 4:30 by Harry Huckelberry who was arousd from his bed in rear of the the pool room by the barking of his police dog. Going to the front of the place he found that the glass in the window had been broken and the night lock forced. He said he believed the thieves were frightened away by the dog. He notified Chief Smith who was later advised of the other robberies.

FREE METHODIST MEETS PLANNED

PROBE CONVICT ROAD WORK COST

Cost of convict road work, the advisability of doing away with the division offices of the state road commission and questions of policy as to control of business all mingled in the questioning of members of the state road commission yesterday at Charleston by the senate investigating committee.

A new mass of new statistical material asked for by the investigators was presented by Chairman Fortney and Commissioner McCoy and W. I. Birthisel, the commissioner's accountant, who explained some of the reports on costs of prison labor on five projects in whose construction the prisoners were used. In connection with this phase of the inquiry, Harry Scherr, commission counsel asked Chairman Fortney if he did not consider the system in using convict labor overlapping authority among the central offices, the division office and the office of the assistant warden in charge of the prisoners. Mr. Fortney replied that he did not and likened the arrangement to that with a contractor, the assistant warden standing in much the same position as the contractor on other road work.

TRENT TENDERED COLLEGE POST

CLARKSBURG, Feb. 6.—W. W. Trent, of Charleston, one of the leading educators of the state and at present secretary of the West Virginia State Education association and editor of the West Virginia School Journal, was chosen president of Broaddus college at a meeting of the board of trustees held at the Clarksburg Baptist church today. Mr. Trent at the present time is in Texas attending a national educational meeting and could not be communicated with, but it is expected he will accept the position.

Among matters taken up were plans to put the college on a firm financial basis, securing more students next year and selection of a faculty for next year. Special committees were appointed to give attention to these subjects.

SUCCESSFUL CARD PARTY HELD HERE

Successful card party was held by women of the Sacred Heart church in the school building Thursday night. Twenty tables of euchre and "500" were in play.

Trophies in euchre were awarded to Mrs. Orin ... wers, Miss Dorothy Maple. E. V. Wehner and Michael Burgess, while honors in "500" went to Mrs. Wilmont Pipes and Miss Verna Horrigan.

This will be the last party until after the lenten season which begins next Wednesday.

PARENT-TEACHERS TO MEET MONDAY

Members of the Parent-Teachers' association will meet at 7:30 Monday night in the Central school building. Program will be given by the pupils of the Washington building. They will also be in charge of the social hour.

County Seat Teams Downed.

New Cumberland high school basketball teams were defeated last night by the Follansbee squads in games staged at the latter place. County seat boys lost by a score of 19 to 13, while the girls were trimmed by a score of 25 to 16.

Pastor to Fill Pulpit.

Rev. William T. McKee, will be in charge of the services tomorrow in the First Presbyterian church. He will preach at the morning and evening services. Sunday school and Young People's meeting will be held at the usual hours.

Missionary Meeting.

Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist church will meet at 7:30 Tuesday night. Mid-week prayer meeting will be held Wednesday night in the church. Anniversary program of the Ladies Aid society will be held at 7:30 Thursday night.

REVIVAL MEETS CLOSE SUNDAY

Evangelistic services which have been in progress for the last two weeks in the First Methodist Episcopal church will close tomorrow night. The final sermon will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. R. C. Ehrheart.

The meetings have been largely attended and a number of accessions made to the membership roll.

WHITE SOX OFF FOR CAMP WORK

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Headed by Ray Schalk, newly appointed manager, the first "round-up" of White Sox baseball players will steam out of Chicago today for Shreveport, La., where they will pitch camp for spring training.

Only nine men make up the contingent leaving today, but the number is expected to swell as the train proceeds southward. Beside picking up players along the route, Schalk said he expected to find 14 men awaiting his arrival at Shreveport.

Today's party included Schalk, Crouse, Connally, Barrett, Clancy two recruits, Robert Way, Harold Stricklin, and Frank Roth and Russell Blackburne, coaches.

JACK IS PLEASED WITH INDIANS

HOT SPRINGS, Feb. 26.—Manager Jack McCallister of the Indians is so well pleased with the showing of his staff that he isn't giving much consideration to any of the recent arrivals, at least for the present.

Jack is planning some changes in the outfield but says it's a little too early to talk about it yet.

600 ATHLETES IN INDOOR MEET

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 26.—Interest in collegiate athletics today focused on the University of Illinois where this afternoon and tonight more than 600 athletes, the cream of 68 universities, colleges and high schools will compete in the tenth annual Illinois indoor track meet, the largest event of its kind in the country.

The high light of the meet, including four university relays and ten special events, will be held tonight.

Start Fielding Practice.

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 26.—Fielding practice for the Athletics' hurlers has been inaugurated by Coach Kid Gleason. The pitchers, young and old practiced falling on bunts and covering first base after the daily warm up and batting drill yesterday. The hot weather has broiled the stiffness out of Jack Quinn's arm and the veteran took the mound yesterday. Walter French, the first outfielder to report arrived yesterday. The rest of the team is due Sunday.

Johnson in Uniform.

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 26.—"Ol' Walter" Johnson was in uniform today.

"Its the twentieth year I've reported for spring practice in the big show," said Walter. "I feel pretty good."

REVIVAL MEETS CLOSE SUNDAY

Evangelistic services which have been in progress for the last two weeks in the First Methodist Episcopal church will close tomorrow night. The final sermon will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. R. C. Ehrheart.

The meetings have been largely attended and a number of accessions made to the membership roll.

WHITE SOX OFF FOR CAMP WORK

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Headed by Ray Schalk, newly appointed manager, the first "round-up" of White Sox baseball players will steam out of Chicago today for Shreveport, La., where they will pitch camp for spring training.

Only nine men make up the contingent leaving today, but the number is expected to swell as the train proceeds southward. Beside picking up players along the route, Schalk said he expected to find 14 men awaiting his arrival at Shreveport.

Today's party included Schalk, Crouse, Connally, Barrett, Clancy two recruits, Robert Way, Harold Stricklin, and Frank Roth and Russell Blackburne, coaches.

JACK IS PLEASED WITH INDIANS

HOT SPRINGS, Feb. 26.—Manager Jack McCallister of the Indians is very well pleased with the showing of his outfit that he isn't giving much consideration to any of the recent arrivals, at least for the present.

Jack is planning some changes in the outfield but says it's a little too early to talk about it yet.

600 ATHLETES IN INDOOR MEET

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 26.—Interest in collegiate athletics today focused on the University of Illinois where this afternoon and tonight more than 600 athletes, the cream of 68 universities, colleges and high schools will compete in the tenth annual Illinois indoor track meet, the largest event of its kind in the country.

The high light of the meet, including four university relays and ten special events, will be held tonight.

Start Fielding Practice.

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 26.—Fielding practice for the Athletics' hurlers has been inaugurated by Coach Kid Gleason. The pitchers, young and old practiced falling on bunts and covering first base after the daily warm up and batting drill yesterday. The hot weather has broiled the stiffness out of Jack Quinn's arm and the veteran took the mound yesterday. Walter French, the first outfielder to report arrived yesterday. The rest of the team is due Sunday.

Johnson in Uniform.

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 26.—"Ol' Walter" Johnson was in uniform today. "Its the twentieth year I've reported for spring practice in the big show," said Walter. "I feel pretty good."

BE IN CHURCH SUNDAY

Be Not Ashamed of Gospel, Says Newell Church Pastor

Rev. W. E. Dean, Methodist Episcopal Minister, Prepares Sermonette on God's Word.

By Rev. W. E. Dean.

"There was a rider on a pale horse, coming from the gates of hell. His name was Saul of Tarsus and he was riding headlong toward Damascus.

Breathing out theatening and slaughter he was bent on devastation and death to the church of Jesus Christ.

As he neared Damascus he came face to face with Him who said: "On this rock will I build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

This most potent personality that the powers of darkness had yet produced against the church of Christ went down in utmost defeat before the great Galilean Prophet. Saul, of Tarsus died on the road to Demascus and Paul the apostle began his great career.

Transformed into a Prince of Missionaries he henceforth led the march of Christianity throughout the world.

This Paul the apostle was the brainiest man of his age and the most scholarly of all the apostles.

He underwent a change of heart divine, miraculous, momentous.

Rev. W. E. Dean.

On the road to Damascus he was suddenly transferred, transformed and transfigured.

He listened, and the one who was the head and front of the human race, speaking as never man spoke, set his heart burning with a heavenly glow that has lightened the world ever since.

Weighing well the words of this mighty ambassador of Jesus Christ the great Augustine was converted and became one of the greatest of the early church fathers.

Martin Luther, the great reformer, had the words of Paul flashed upon his mind and by the power of God was born into His Kingdom.

And it was words by the Apostle Paul that God used to fire the heart of John Wesley, to make him a flame of fire and to start a revival that has lasted for over a hundred years.

Paul says he was not ashamed of the gospel of Christ. Why?

Because it has power to unchain the intellect.

Because it has power to soften and subdue the savage who is inhuman.

Because it has power to loosen the chains of superstition that bind the heathen.

Because it has power to fill the earth with arts and useful sciences.

Because of its power to comfort those that mourn and to ease the harshness of living.

Because of its power to banish vice whether in heathen lands or the slums of the largest cities.

Because it teaches men to live and to die, and gives to the world the only perfect standard of morals.

Because it reveals the fountain for sin and uncleanness.

Because of its power to enlighten and fit man for God and glory.

Because it frees society from oppression and liberates woman from degradation and nations rom incessant wars.

He was not ashamed of the gospel of Christ because it was a revelation from God, a light from Heaven, with power to transfigure the whole fabric of human existence.

EXACTLY SUITS ELDERLY PERSONS

There is a sound therapeutic reason why Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds is especially suited to the needs of elderly persons: because it contains no chloroform, or opiates to cause constipation (that bug-bear of advancing years) and to dry up the natural and necessary secretions. Mildly laxative, wonderfully soothing and healing to the irritated area, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound quickly stops all coughs and throat irritations, lingering "flu" coughs and disturbing night coughs. Is exactly suited to the needs of elderly people. Ask for it.

WELLSVILLE'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NEARLY 96 YEARS OLD

MET IN BARN

Services Later Were Held in Brick School House.

Organized nearly 96 years ago, the First Presbyterian church of Wellsville is one of the oldest houses of worship in the upper Ohio valley.

The church was formally organized on April 5, 1831, but for several years prior to that time services were conducted at irregular intervals. Records show that Rev. Mr. McLean preached before gatherings of Presbyterians in a grove at the foot of the hill near Third street. The first communion service was held in a barn on the Wells estate, just above the present city.

For a short time services were held in a brick school house in Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, on the site which was until recently owned by Miss Margaret Smith. The first pastor was Rev. T. E. Hughes, who served the church from 1832 to 1836. He died in Wellsville in 1838 and was buried in Spring Hill cemetery.

The first building was erected in 1834 on land on which, until a few years ago, was a lumber yard belonging of Giles McGregor. Twenty years later the site of the present church in Riverside avenue, between Fifth and Sixth street, was purchased and a building costing $4,000 erected. This structure was destroyed by fire in 1869 and a larger edifice was immediately built. The value of the church property at that time was approximately $5,000.

In 1916, this church was razed and the present structure was erected and occupied the following year. The present building, which is connected with a manse, was made possible through a generous gift made by the late William G. McCollough in memory of his parents, William and Eliza beth Nessly McCollough. A bronze tablet on the wall of the church commemorates the gift. Another bronze tablet has been placed in the church in honor of George B. Johnson, who was a charter elder of the church.

The second pastor was Rev. Thomas F. Magill, great uncle of the present pastor, who served from 1840 to 1844 He was followed by Rev. J. M. Lowrie, whose service terminated in 1846.

Other pastors were: Rev. T. P. Gordon, 1851 to 1856; Rev. W. W. Laverty, 1857 to 1864; Rev. T. A. McCurdy, 1865 to 1867; Rev. J. L. R. Wycoff, 1869 to 1870; Rev. J. C. Molov, 1871 to 1874; Rev. S. M. Davis, 1875 to 1884; Rev. H. W. Lowry, 1885 to 1898; Rev. L. F. Laverty, 1898 to 1903; Rev. William G. Reagle, 1903 to 1917; Rev. H. G. Wilkinson, 1917 to 1920.

Rev. Frank Magill, who became pastor in 1922, will leave April 1 to assume charge of the First Presbyterian church of Newark to which he was called about a week ago.

This is the rose He planted,
Here in the thorn-cursed soil;
Heaven is blest with perfect rest;

BARITONE SOLOIST AT METHODIST EPISCOPAL EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Frederick J. Balmond.

Special evangelistic services will be conducted in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Fifth and Jackson streets, beginning Sunday evening, and continuing for at least two weeks.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler, the pastor, will preach each evening. The music will be in charge of Frederick J. Balmond, of Philadelphia, a baritone soloist, who has had wide experience as a song leader. He will arrive here today from Anderson, Ind., where he has been engaged in an evangelistic campaign.

Services will begin promptly each evening at 7:30. Dr. Fowler has held a similar campaign in each of the three years of his pastorate at the First church.

"MAKING COMMUNITY CHRISTIAN" IS SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

William T. Ellis Tells of His Travels in Old Region of Galatia.

By William T. Ellis.

Jerusalem has no civic pride. There is no "community spirit" in the old city. Evidence of this is found in the fact that Jerusalem's only public auditorium, aside from the Y. M. C. A. Hut, is a dingy little motion picture hall. A resident of Jerusalem thinks of himself as a Moslem, as a Roman Catholic, as a Greek Orthodox, as a Jew or as an Armenian, rather than as a citizen or Jerusalem. The British administration is engaged in a constant struggle to prevent the continuance of ancient oriental unsocial practices, especially in the realm of sanitation and hygiene. A "Pro-Jerusalem Society" was formed, shortly after the war, but it called forth mostly the interest of foreigners, and that has steadily subsided. So lacking in public spirit and civic consciousness is Jerusalem that there is always present the danger of religious and race riots.

That seems very different from our western conception of community life. Christianity nowadays expresses itself in social service. Local pride is a powerful force in our life, especially in the West. We feel our solidarity with our neighbors. It is considered a religious duty to help the community of which we are a part. Protestant, Catholic, Jew and non-churchman work together for neighborly needs. Our times have gone a long, long way from the hermit conception of Christianity. Even the smaller communities boast their women's clubs, their Rotary clubs and similar organizations; and these are dominated by Christian ideals of helpfulness and mutual improvement. They are applied Christianity. The Gospel works out in neighborhood good will and solidarity.

For Christianity is a neighborly religion. As our lesson text declares, "All the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Here in America, neighborliness, as expressed by a sense of social responsibility and community solidarity, has reached a level unknown in the Old World. I have never seen anything finer than the way certain western towns—I have Carlsbad and Roswell, New Mexico, specially in mind—"carried on," shoulder to shoulder, when their banks closed and financial disaster struck everybody. Communism and other forms of radicalism could never make headway amidst such proved neighbors, expressing their interdependence by Christian democracy.

But the "Intelligentsia" Sneer.

It is the vogue amidst that sterile and comical little group of "liberals" who regard themselves as the "intelligentsia" of the country, to sneer at the present mood of social service and simple neighborliness. They jeer at the Rotary clubs and kindred bodies, even as they do at the churches. Doubless it is better to have the hostility of these radicals than their approval.

Really thoughtful persons perceive that our day's social passion, and the desire for self-improvement and for community betterment, is doubtless the most characteristic trait of the New World. Of course, it has its dangers, especially of superficiality and of professionalism. Too many men and women are making a livelihood out of organized social service. The volunteer and neighborly aspect of the prevailing spirit of helpfulness and good will needs ever to be stressed. A deflation of over organized philanthropic and religious activities seems to be impending. This will be all to the good if it quickens the oldfashioned, unprofessional and personal community activities of neighbors. After all, we cannot hire anybody else to be neighborly on our behalf. Every man must pull his own weight in the race of life.

Shrewd, sound sense tells every person who possesses it that the social service which lasts must be fired by the major motives. The noble passion for people's well-being that is abroad in the land should be captured for Christ. It needs His adequate Spirit to sustain and guide it. No community is completely neighborly until it is Christian. Religion is the greatest foe of all anti-social forces. It is the Gospel, at work in a myriad churches, which keeps the common life of our land sweet and sound and friendly. "By love serve one another" is Paul's precept. When love for a neighbor grows faint, under the constant impact of that neighbor's imperfections, then the love of Christ constrains us to love even the unlovable. Christian community spirit lasts.

Sharing the Great Passions.

Of late I have been traveling in the old region of Galatia, where lived the Christians to whom the Lesson text was addressed. It is now central Turkey; and the present capital of the country, Angora, was the capital of Paul's Galatia. Nowadays Turkey is working out her ideal of community spirit. Before the League of Nations' exchange of populations, which eliminated Moslems from Greece and Christians from Asiatic Turkey, there was constant suspicion and distrust and antagonism between the rival elements of the population. Now the powerful and purgative passion of patriotism has welded the Turkish into undreamed-of solidarity. Their nation has been made over into newness by invoking the high principle of nationalism. The transformation which has ensued is incredible; I would scarcely believe it had I not seen for myself.

In this wonder which has been wrought amidst the modern successors of Paul's Galatians may be read the lesson of the Lesson. It needs the most powerful purposes, the mightiest motives, the supreme spirit, to change a nation, a community, an individual, and to keep them changed. When vital Christianity animates a neighborhood, transformation occurs. Many a town has been completely made over by a revival of religion. If the considerations of Christ prevail in a community, then the characteristics of Christ will follow. The "fruits of the Spirit" as the Lesson calls them, are borne when the life of the tree is Christ.

These fruits are tabulated by Paul as "love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." What a description of an ideal life for a community and for a man! That sort of life is possible—and it is possible—only where the Spirit of Christ prevails. Thus God works out in human life.

"A picket frozen on duty,
A mother starved for her brood,
Socrates drinking the hemlock,
And Jesus on the rood;
And millions who, humble and nameless,
The straight, hard pathway plod,—
Some call it Consecration, and others call it God."

Foci of Friendliness.

Certain spots on the map, like Jerusalem, Antioch, and Ephesus, are immortal as centers of radiation. From them Christianity spread widely. Colloquially, we nowadays call such communities "live," because their power is disseminated. No neighborhood can be vital in its force and friendliness without becoming a focus of influence. When we help to make our own village or town or city Christian, we are thereby most directly serving the wider world. Example is still more contagious than speech.

Wise old Paul linked the Lesson with personal qualities. Communities are, after all, simply collections of individual persons. Only Christian men and women create Christian communities. The person who lives a godly life does more to shape his neighbor's character than the professional uplifter or office-holder. A devoted man or woman who teaches a Sunday school class, leads a troop of Boy or Girl Scouts, inspires a young people's society, or promotes a reading circle, is doing direct and fundamental community service. There are no roads to social betterment that do not lead through the hearts of individual personalities.

This above all: to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.—Shakespeare.

It is the absence of love, not its fulness, that makes us so impatient of the weakness and inconsistencies of our Christian brethren.—Anon.

BARITONE SOLOIST AT METHODIST EPISCOPAL EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Frederick J. Balmond.

Special evangelistic services will be conducted in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Fifth and Jackson streets, beginning Sunday evening, and continuing for at least two weeks.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler, the pastor, will preach each evening. The music will be in charge of Frederick J. Balmond, of Philadelphia, a baritone soloist, who has had wide experience as a song leader. He will arrive here today from Anderson, Ind., where he has been engaged in an evangelistic campaign.

Services will begin promptly each evening at 7:30. Dr. Fowler has held a similar campaign in each of the three years of his pastorate at the First church.

"MAKING COMMUNITY CHRISTIAN" IS SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

William T. Ellis Tells of His Travels in Old Region of Galatia.

By William T. Ellis.

Jerusalem has no civic pride. There is no "community spirit" in the old city. Evidence of this is found in the fact that Jerusalem's only public auditorium, aside from the Y. M. C. A. Hut, is a dingy little motion picture hall. A resident of Jerusalem thinks of himself as a Moslem, as a Roman Catholic, as a Greek Orthodox, as a Jew or as an Armenian, rather than as a citizen or Jerusalem. The British administration is engaged in a constant struggle to prevent the continuance of ancient oriental unsocial practices, especially in the realm of sanitation and hygiene. A "Pro-Jerusalem Society" was formed, shortly after the war, but it called forth mostly the interest of foreigners, and that has steadily subsided. So lacking in public spirit and civic consciousness is Jerusalem that there is always present the danger of religious and race riots.

That seems very different from our western conception of community life. Christianity nowadays expresses itself in social service. Local pride is a powerful force in our life, especially in the West. We feel our solidarity with our neighbors. It is considered a religious duty to help the community of which we are a part. Protestant, Catholic, Jew and non-churchman work together for neighborly needs. Our times have gone a long, long way from the hermit conception of Christianity. Even the smaller communities boast their women's clubs, their Rotary clubs and similar organizations; and these are dominated by Christian ideals of helpfulness and mutual improvement. They are applied Christianity. The Gospel works out in neighborhood good will and solidarity.

For Christianity is a neighborly religion. As our lesson text declares, "All the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Here in America, neighborliness, as expressed by a sense of social responsibility and community solidarity, has reached a level unknown in the Old World. I have never seen anything finer than the way certain western towns—I have Carlsbad and Roswell, New Mexico, specially in mind—"carried on," shoulder to shoulder, when their banks closed and financial disaster struck everybody. Communism and other forms of ralicalism could never make headway amidst such proved neighbors, expressing their interdependence by Christian democracy.

But the "Intelligentsia" Sneer.

It is the vogue amidst that sterile and comical little group of "liberals" who regard themselves as the "intelligentsia" of the country, to sneer at the present mood of social service and simple neighborliness. They jeer at the Rotary clubs and kindred bodies, even as they do at the churches. Doubless it is better to have the hostility of these radicals than their approval.

Really thoughtful persons perceive that our day's social passion, and the desire for self-improvement and for community betterment, is doubtless the most characteristic trait of the New World. Of course, it has its dangers, especially of superficiality and of professionalism. Too many men and women are making a livelihood out of organized social service. The volunteer and neighborly aspect of the prevailing spirit of helpfulness and good will needs ever to be stressed. A deflation of over organized philanthropic and religious activities seems to be impending. This will be all to the good if it quickens the oldfashioned, unprofessional and personal community activities of neighbors. After all, we cannot hire anybody else to be neighborly on our behalf. Every man must pull his own weight in the race of life.

Shrewd, sound sense tells every person who possesses it that the social service which lasts must be fired by the major motives. The noble passion for people's well-being that is abroad in the land should be captured for Christ. It needs His adequate Spirit to sustain and guide it. No community is completely neighborly until it is Christian. Religion is the greatest foe of all anti-social forces. It is the Gospel, at work in a myriad churches, which keeps the common life of our land sweet and sound and friendly. "By love serve one another" is Paul's precept. When love for a neighbor grows faint, under the constant impact of that neighbor's imperfections, then the love of Christ constrains us to love even the unlovable. Christian community spirit lasts.

Sharing the Great Passions.

Of late I have been traveling in the old region of Galatia, where lived the Christians to whom the Lesson text was addressed. It is now central Turkey; and the present capital of the country, Angora, was the capital of Paul's Galatia. Nowadays Turkey is working out her ideal of community spirit. Before the League of Nations' exchange of populations, which eliminated Moslems from Greece and Christians from Asiatic Turkey, there was constant suspicion and distrust and antagonism between the rival elements of the population. Now the powerful and purgative passion of patriotism has welded the Turkish into undreamed-of solidarity. Their nation has been made over into newness by invoking the high principle of nationalism. The transformation which has ensued is incredible; I would scarcely believe it had I not seen for myself.

In this wonder which has been wrought amidst the modern successors of Paul's Galatians may be read the lesson of the Lesson. It needs the most powerful purposes, the mightiest motives, the supreme spirit, to change a nation, a community, an individual, and to keep them changed. When vital Christianity animates a neighborhood, transformation occurs. Many a town has been completely made over by a revival of religion. If the considerations of Christ prevail in a community, then the characteristics of Christ will follow. The "fruits of the Spirit" as the Lesson calls them, are borne when the life of the tree is Christ.

These fruits are tabulated by Paul as "love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." What a description of an ideal life for a community and for a man! That sort of life is possible—and it is possible—only where the Spirit of Christ prevails. Thus God works out in human life.

"A picket frozen on duty,
A mother starved for her brood,
Socrates drinking the hemlock,
And Jesus on the rood;
And millions who, humble and nameless,
The straight, hard pathway plod,—

Foci of Friendliness.

Certain spots on the map, like Jerusalem, Antioch, and Ephesus, are immortal as centers of radiation. From them Christianity spread widely. Colloquially, we nowadays call such communities "live," because their power is disseminated. No neighborhood can be vital in its force and friendliness without becoming a focus of influence. When we help to make our own village or town or city Christian, we are thereby most directly serving the wider world. Example is still more contagious than speech.

Wise old Paul linked the Lesson with personal qualities. Communities are, after all, simply collections of individual persons. Only Christian men and women create Christian communities. The person who lives a godly life does more to shape his neighbor's character than the professional uplifter or office-holder. A devoted man or woman who teaches a Sunday school class, leads a troop of Boy or Girl Scouts, inspires a young people's society, or promotes a reading circle, is doing direct and fundamental community service. There are no roads to social betterment that do not lead through the hearts of individual personalities.

This above all: to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.—Shakespeare.

It is the absence of love, not its fulness, that makes us so impatient of the weakness and inconsistencies of our Christian brethren.—Anon.

proposal that it might result in an occasional drowning and make trouble for coroners' juries in determining whether death was the result of accident or suicide.

The files of the Patent Office record hundreds of equally freakish inventions. Several of them were mechanical carriages or vehicles, forerunners of the automobile. Shortly after the Civil war an inventor turned up in Washington with the plans for what he called a walking vehicle. It was a four-legged machine, operated by steam power, that walked like an animal, but was not constructed to resemble a horse.

Shortly after this two men came forward with an invention somewhat similar, except that their vehicle was drawn by a steam-driven two-legged creature that was in effect a mechanical man. The boiler was enclosed in the body of the automaton, and an engine just behind the body moved the jointed legs through a system of levers. She steering gear was a rope passed around the body of the "man."

Drawn, Not Propelled.

All the early geniuses who were striving to solve the problem of a mechanical vehicle for streets and highways seemed unable to get away from the horse idea. That is, their efforts were always directed toward creating a mechanical animal that would draw a vehicle, and it seemed never to have occurred to them to apply power to the wheels of the vehicle and thereby propel it.

A man by the name of Doyle, for examnle, invented a power horse that was little short of a marvel of ingenuity and that imitated the movements of a real horse almost perfectly. In appearance it resembled the animal that used to stand in front of harness makers' shops. The engine and boiler were in the vehicle and a shaft transmitted power to a driving mechanism within the body of the horse. Theoretically this creature could step out and trot in a manner that would put a real horse completely in the shade. It is said, too, that almost any one at that time would have seen more promise in Doyle's horse than in Selden's "road locomotive," patented in 1895, which was an exceedingly crude affair.

Even after the horseless carriage had been evolved inventors still struggled with the horse complex, apparently possessed with an obsession that no acceptable power-driven vehicle could be devised that did not have some kind of an animal out in front. One man turned out an affair somewhat similar to Doyle's save that the horse was mounted on wheels and the engine in the vehicle ran the wheels under the horse, which was actually steered or guided by reins.

And as late as 1904 a real automobile was constructed that had a dummy horse out in front so that horses would not be frightened by the machine. It will be recalled that frightening horses and causing runaways was one of the serious troubles of the motorists of early days, and this inventor doubtless believed he had solved the problem of avoiding such disasters. Also he put his dummy horse to practical uses. The body was a receptable for tools and spare parts, which motorists at that time had to carry with them if they were going far from their base of supplies, and the glass eyes were nothing less than headlights that were lighted by an oil lamp concealed within the horse's head.

In many lines inventors have endeavored to devise machines to do what the human hand does, or what animals do, and do it in much the same manner, but they have met with little success.

Patent experts say that the inventor may get valuable ideas from studying the animate thing he seeks to supplant, but that to produce the commercially successful machine he must follow established mechanical principles and effect his result in a wholly different way from the living model.

Let us endeavor so to live, that when we come to die, even the undertaker will be sorry.—Mark Twain.

Walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God.—Col. 1:10.

We are in this world to provide, not for ourselves, but for others, and that is the basis of economy.—Woodrow Wilson.

REVIVAL MEET TOPICS LISTED

Evangelist Trager to Preach Sunday in Glendale Mission.

Evangelist John Trager, of Philadelphia, Pa., will preach at the three services tomorrow in the Glendale mission near Newell, where he is conducting revival services.

He will have as his subject at the morning services which begin at 11 o'clock, "If We Carry Our Corner What Happen." His topic at the afternoon meeting at 3 p. m. will be: "Ten Bible Reasons Why I Can and Must Be Holy." Night services will begin at 7:30. The sermon subject will be "Death or Life." Prayer services will be held at 10 a. m.

The meetings which have been growing in interest and being largely attended will continue next week beginning every evening at 7:30.

Rehearsal Scheduled.

Members of the cast that will appear in the minstrel show to be given by employes of the Homer Laughlin China company will hold a rehearsal tomorrow afternoon in the Eagles auditorium, East Liverpool. Austin Bolles and William Stevenson are the directors.

Building Work Retarded.

Work on the erection of the new Wells high and elementary school on the site of the old Kenilworth golf grounds has been retarded during the past week by inclement weather.

To Inoculate Pupils.

Pupils of the Congo school will be inoculated against typhoid, smallpox and scarlet fever Monday by Dr. W. L. McClue, county health physician.

Services Here Tomorrow.

Services will be held at the usual hours tomorrow in the various churches of the city. Pulpits will be occupied at the morning and evening services by the respective pastors.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium." 121 West Fifth Street.

576. What did the English word Hell originally mean?

Answer: It had the same meaning as the Hebrew word SHEOL and the Greek word HADES; that is, it meant the unseen or hidden condition of the dead. See the Standard Dictionary, unabridged. We have already learned what is the condition of the dead. See Psalms 6:4; 115:17; 146:4; Ecclesiastes 9:5, 6,10.

577. In Luke 16:19-31, is the Narrative of the rich man and Lazarus a literal statement or is it a parable? Is it a story about one thing to give a lesson about something else?

Answer: We can only tell by reasoning the question out from the Bible standpoint. See Isaiah 1:18, first half.

578. Does it say the rich man was wicked?

Answer: No. It simply says that he was rich, was clothed in purple and fine linen and had plenty to eat.

579. Does it say that Lazarus was an extra good man, loved God with all his heart and tried his very best to serve and obey Him?

Answer: No. It says nothing of the kind. It says that he was a beggar, that he lay at the rich man's gate, full of sores, that he wanted to be fed from the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table, and that the dogs licked his sores. See Verses 20, 21.

580. Does it say that the poor beggar went to heaven?

Answer: No. He went to Abraham's Bosom. See Verse 22.

581. How many persons could be held in Abraham's Bosom?

Answer: A person usually holds but one at a time in his bosom. If the story is to be taken literally, then Abraham's bosom must be explained as literal, and in that case but one or two would be all that would gain the coveted place.

582. What do Young's and Strong's Concordances say in explanation of who this Lazarus was?

Answer: Young's says that Lazarus "is a symbolic name in one of the parables." Strong's says: "Lazarus was the name of two Israelites, the one imaginary." These are two great authorities and they agree that this is a parable.

Haskin's Letter

proposal that it might result in an occasional drowning and make trouble for coroners' juries in determining whether death was the result of accident or suicide.

The files of the Patent Office record hundreds of equally freakish inventions. Several of them were mechanical carriages or vehicles, forerunners of the automobile. Shortly after the Civil war an inventor turned up in Washington with the plans for what he called a walking vehicle. It was a four-legged machine, operated by steam power, that walked like an animal, but was not constructed to resemble a horse.

Shortly after this two men came forward with an invention somewhat similar, except that their vehicle was drawn by a steam-driven two-legged creature that was in effect a mechanical man. The boiler was enclosed in the body of the automaton, and an engine just behind the body moved the jointed legs through a system of levers. She steering gear was a rope passed around the body of the "man."

Drawn, Not Propelled.

All the early geniuses who were striving to solve the problem of a mechanical vehicle for streets and highways seemed unable to get away from the horse idea. That is, their efforts were always directed toward creating a mechanical animal that would draw a vehicle, and it seemed never to have occurred to them to apply power to the wheels of the vehicle and thereby propel it.

A man by the name of Doyle, for examnle, invented a power horse that was little short of a marvel of ingenuity and that imitated the movements of a real horse almost perfectly. In appearance it resembled the animal that used to stand in front of harness makers' shops. The engine and boiler were in the vehicle and a shaft transmitted power to a driving mechanism within the body of the horse. Theoretically this creature could step out and trot in a manner that would put a real horse completely in the shade. It is said, too, that almost any one at that time would have seen more promise in Doyle's horse than in Selden's "road locomotive," patented in 1895, which was an exceedingly crude affair.

Even after the horseless carriage had been evolved inventors still struggled with the horse complex, apparently possessed with an obsession that no acceptable power-driven vehicle could be devised that did not have some kind of an animal out in front. One man turned out an affair somewhat similar to Doyle's save that the horse was mounted on wheels and the engine in the vehicle ran the wheels under the horse, which was actually steered or guided by reins.

And as late as 1904 a real automobile was constructed that had a dummy horse out in front so that horses would not be frightened by the machine. It will be recalled that frightening horses and causing runaways was one of the serious troubles of the motorists of early days, and this inventor doubtless believed he had solved the problem of avoiding such disasters. Also he put his dummy horse to practical uses. The body was a receptable for tools and spare parts, which motorists at that time had to carry with them if they were going far from their base of supplies, and the glass eyes were nothing less than headlights that were lighted by an oil lamp concealed within the horse's head.

In many lines inventors have endeavored to devise machines to do what the human hand does, or what animals do, and do it in much the same manner, but they have met with little success.

Patent experts say that the inventor may get valuable ideas from studying the animate thing he seeks to supplant, but that to produce the commercially successful machine he must follow established mechanical principles and effect his result in a wholly different way from the living model.

Let us endeavor so to live, that when we come to die, even the undertaker will be sorry.—Mark Twain.

Walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God.—Col. 1:10.

We are in this world to provide, not for ourselves, but for others, and that is the basis of economy.—Woodrow Wilson.

DIVORCE CASES HEARD BY COURT

Three Decrees Issued While One Action is Dismissed.

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty, a decree of divorce has been granted Sarah Hughes against her husband, Paul Hughes, an action that was filed in common pleas court November 8 last. The court has also ordered the defendant to pay his former wife $5 per week, beginning February 26 for the support of a minor child, the custody of which has been awarded the mother. Judgment for costs in this case has been returned against Hughes.

Extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty were two charges made in the divorce petition filed December 17 last by Zella Whinnery against her husband. Ross A. Whinnery, and upon proof of these claims the court has awarded a decree to the plaintiff. She has also been restored to her maiden name, that of Zella Mangus, and a temporary restraining order granted at the time the petition was filed has been made perpetual by an order of court.

Wilful absence for a period of three years was charged by Sarah J. Baker in the petition for divorce filed against her husband, Willard V. Baker, and also gross neglect of duty. This petition was filed December 21 last, and after the customary number of witnesses had been examined, a decree in favor of the plaintiff was handed down by the court. The custody of a minor child was also awarded the plaintiff.

The divorce petition filed by Louise Blackman against her husband, Charles E. Blackman, December 22, last has been dismissed by the plaintiff at her costs because of legal technicalities, and without prejudice. Within an hour after this entry was made by Judge Lones, Attorney Charles Boyd as counsel for the plaintiff refiled the petition.

There has been a hearing in the court on the application for temporary alimony in the divorce action filed February 1 last by Gladys Stouffer against her husband, Merle Stouffer, and the defendant has been ordered to pay his wife $35 at once, and $5 per week until further order of court. The hearing on the petition for divorce in this case will not likely come before the court again until late in March.

More than 100 divorce cases are still pending in common pleas court, 12 of which have been assigned for trial before Judge Lones Friday of next week.

CAMP BUILDING PLAN DISCUSSED

Committees representing all civic clubs in the county, save those at Columbiana and East Palestine, were represented at a dinner sponsored by the Lisbon Kiwanis club to devise ways and means for the erection of permanent buildings on the site of the summer camp of the County Public Health league. The dinner was served by the women of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church, and was in charge of Homer Deemer, president of the Lisbon Kiwanis club.

The clubs were represented by from three to 10 members, and support to the matter was assured, but it was decided that a committee-at-large should be appointed to consider future plans. This committee is expected to be selected within the next two weeks.

County commissioners have donated acreage for summer camp purposes near the county home, and while the sale of Christmas seals has produced sufficient revenue for the upkeep of the summer activity, the matter of permanent buildings has always been an open question.

REFEREE NAMED IN PAXSON CASE

Attorney George L. Lafferty, of Lisbon, has been appointed referee by Judge W. F. Lones to determine the issues in the case of Carrie M. Paxson against Harry V. Paxson, of Salem, from whom the plaintiff was granted a decree of divorce and custody of children by the late Judge James G. Moore January 8, 1925.

Paxson at the time of the divorce proceeding was ordered to pay his wife $1.000 alimony. He was cited in court to answer to what disposition he has made of his property, and because of the length of time that may be required to determine the issues, the court appointed a referee to take the record of the case and in turn report to the court.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to John W. Armstrong, a mechanic residing at Lisbon but formerly located at Loudenville, and Clara F. F. Saxton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Saxton, of Lisbon. They were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Christian church by the Rev. R. J. Bennett.

Court Costs Fixed.

Judgment against the plaintiff for the costs in the case has been handed down by Judge W. F. Lones in the action filed November 13, 1923, by Jacob C. Dorsey against Theodore Kavaulis. On a motion of counsel for the plaintiff the cause has been dismissed from the record, but at the costs of the plaintiff.

Property Transfers.

Walter B. Hill as executor to John J. Humphreys and others, part of an acre in section 12, Liverpool township, $350.

DIVORCE CASES HEARD BY COURT

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty, a decree of divorce has been granted Sarah Hughes against her husband, Paul Hughes, an action that was filed in common pleas court November 8 last. The court has also ordered the defendant to pay his former wife $5 per week, beginning February 26 for the support of a minor child, the custody of which has been awarded the mother. Judgment for costs in this case has been returned against Hughes.

Extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty were two charges made in the divorce petition filed December 17 last by Zella Whinnery against her husband. Ross A. Whinnery, and upon proof of these claims the court has awarded a decree to the plaintiff. She has also been restored to her maiden name, that of Zella Mangus, and a temporary restraining order granted at the time the petition was filed has been made perpetual by an order of court.

Wilful absence for a period of three years was charged by Sarah J. Baker in the petition for divorce filed against her husband, Willard V. Baker, and also gross neglect of duty. This petition was filed December 21 last, and after the customary number of witnesses had been examined, a decree in favor of the plaintiff was handed down by the court. The custody of a minor child was also awarded the plaintiff.

The divorce petition filed by Louise Blackman against her husband, Charles E. Blackman, December 22, last has been dismissed by the plaintiff at her costs because of legal technicalities, and without prejudice. Within an hour after this entry was made by Judge Lones, Attorney Charles Boyd as counsel for the plaintiff refiled the petition.

There has been a hearing in the court on the application for temporary alimony in the divorce action filed February 1 last by Gladys Stouffer against her husband, Merle Stouffer, and the defendant has been ordered to pay his wife $35 at once, and $5 per week until further order of court. The hearing on the petition for divorce in this case will not likely come before the court again until late in March.

More than 100 divorce cases are still pending in common pleas court, 12 of which have been assigned for trial before Judge Lones Friday of next week.

CAMP BUILDING PLAN DISCUSSED

Committees representing all civic clubs in the county, save those at Columbiana and East Palestine, were represented at a dinner sponsored by the Lisbon Kiwanis club to devise ways and means for the erection of permanent buildings on the site of the summer camp of the County Public Health league. The dinner was served by the women of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church, and was in charge of Homer Deemer, president of the Lisbon Kiwanis club.

The clubs were represented by from three to 10 members, and support to the matter was assured, but it was decided that a committee-at-large should be appointed to consider future plans. This committee is expected to be selected within the next two weeks.

County commissioners have donated acreage for summer camp purposes near the county home, and while the sale of Christmas seals has produced sufficient revenue for the upkeep of the summer activity, the matter of permanent buildings has always been an open question.

REFEREE NAMED IN PAXSON CASE

Attorney George L. Lafferty, of Lisbon, has been appointed referee by Judge W. F. Lones to determine the issues in the case of Carrie M. Paxson against Harry V. Paxson, of Salem, from whom the plaintiff was granted a decree of divorce and custody of children by the late Judge James G. Moore January 8, 1925.

Paxson at the time of the divorce proceeding was ordered to pay his wife $1.000 alimony. He was cited in court to answer to what disposition he has made of his property, and because of the length of time that may be required to determine the issues, the court appointed a referee to take the record of the case and in turn report to the court.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to John W. Armstrong, a mechanic residing at Lisbon but formerly located at Loudenville, and Clara F. F. Saxton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Saxton, of Lisbon. They were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Christian church by the Rev. R. J. Bennett.

Court Costs Fixed.

Judgment against the plaintiff for the costs in the case has been handed down by Judge W. F. Lones in the action filed November 13, 1923, by Jacob C. Dorsey against Theodore Kavaulis. On a motion of counsel for the plaintiff the cause has been dismissed from the record, but at the costs of the plaintiff.

Property Transfers.

Walter B. Hill as executor to John J. Humphreys and others, part of an acre in section 12, Liverpool township, $350.

CHESTER BOWS TO WELLSVILLE

Orange Teams Cop Two Games at Park Court.

HANGING up another pair of victories over Chester last night on the Rock Springs court, Wellsville high made a clean sweep of its 1927 series with the Hancock countains.

Klinck's boys took the main tilt by a score of 16 to 13, grabbing off the laurels in the second half after the home team had held a 10 to 3 lead at the intermission.

Th visitors were unable to get going on the old "merry go round" floor in the first two periods and as a result their shooting suffered. In the second half however, they organized a strong offense and carried the play to the basket. Provost and Kimble led the field goal brigade with three apiece.

The visiting girls captured a 20 to 8 decision in the preliminary. Misses Irwin and Connor led the scorers, with six and seven points apiece.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 26.—Members of the Brooklyn Robins today are enroute to training camp here from various sections of the country. A quorum will not be on hand until Monday, when the annual boiling out process will start.

SPANIARD TO GET MALONEY FIGHT

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—As a result of his victory last night over Knute Hansen, Paolino Uzcudun probably will be matched with Jimmy Maloney, the Boston "strong boy."

After the fight Promtoter Tex Rickard conferred with Maloney and he the basque probably will clash at the Garden on March 25.

New Cumberland Claims Cage Title

Take Honors After Win Over Chester Quint.

New Cumberland high school basketball teams, both boys and girls, claim 1927 championship honors as a result of wins over the two Chester teams at New Cumberland Tuesday night.

The New Cumberland boys won by a score of 20 to 12 and the girls copped a 23 to 12 decision.

RESERVES TRIM SCOUTS, 51-10

PAOLINO WINS FROM HANSEN

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Paolino Uzcudun, colorful Basque woodchopper of Spain, "got the duke," as the boys say, after battling ten rounds last night with Knute Hansen, the mournful Dane of Minnesota, and promptly turned a spectacular flip flop—right in the Madison Square Garden ring with 13,000 fans looking on in surprise and amusement.

He did it with neatness and dispatch, whirling on the back of his neck before he capitulated his sturdy frame upright upon his dogs.

This is the "tip off" on the latest sensation from Europe. He's the Nick Altrock of the prize ring. He's what the boys in the $2 seats call a "card." They liked him and showed it. He can fight, too, but he'll have to display more than he did last night before he'll be seriously regarded as a contender for the world's heavyweight championship.

Paolino was up against a better natural fighter in Knute but he outgamed him. He is six inches shorter than Hansen and weighed 196 pounds as against the Dane's 204½. His reach is so much shorter he had to jump at Hansen time and again to get a good lick at him.

NEW BRIGHTON WINS AT MIDLAND

The Midland Collegians were defeated by the Standard Sanitary five of New Brighton, Thursday night at Midland. The final tally was 37 to 26. Guard Jack led the Midland field goal makers with five to his credit.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Paulino Uzcudum, of Spain, won decision over Knute Hansen, Minnesota Dane, ten rounds.

Tom Heeney, of New Zealand, won decision over Charley Anderson, of Chicago, when the referee disqualified Anderson in the ninth round for holding.

AT TAMPA, Fla.—Tommy Freeman of Hot Springs, Ark., knocked out Arturo Shekels, of Belgium, in the sixth round. Julian Moran of Havana, won decision over Georgia Russell, of Philadelphia, ten rounds.

AT SAN FRANCISCO—Billy Alger, of Arizona, won technical knockout over Jimmy Murray, of Miami, Fla., in the fourth round.

Billy Adams defeated Gilbert Attell, six rounds.

AT GRAND RAPIDS, IA.—Roy Williams, of Chicago and Eddie Morris of Sioux City, Ia., fought three rounds of a scheduled ten round bout, then the referee disqualified both fighters, calling it "no contest."

Second Trial

Guy Morrison, head coach of baseball, football and basketball at De Pauw University, will be tried out this spring by the Pittsburg Pirates. Morrison, a pitcher, was purchased by the Giants from Bloomington in 1923 but lacked experience. Pitched the Idaho Falls club to a flag last season with 17 victories and three defeats.

Bromby's Absence Handicaps Mount

Will be Unable to Play Against Bereans Tonight.

By defeating the Western Reserve quintet at Alliance Wednesday night the Mount Union cagers boosted their standing in the Ohio Conference percentage column to five hundred. They have won and lost five games.

While Baldwin Wallace does not stand so high in the Ohio Conference column, they have played several close games with the stronger teams and have won from the Heidelberg cagers that defeated the Mount team early in the season. Due to the two victories over Wooster and Reserve in the past week the Mount team will be favored to win.

However, with Captain Bromby out of the game, and with Baldwin Wallace out to seek satisfaction for the defeat handed them last year by Mount's championship team, the Mount team may have a harder time than is expected.

HORNSBY HITS— MOSTLY FLIES

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 26.—Several of the Giant rookies are outbatting the great Hornsby in practice, but nobody has heard the Rajah express fear of losing his job. Hornsby is hitting the ball but has been contributing more flies than line drives.

Pitcher Hugh McQuillan has not yet reported and his whereabouts are a mystery.

YANKEES DUE IN SOUTH SUNDAY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26.—The first squad of the New York Yankees will arrive here tomorrow and begin practice on Monday.

Begin Work Monday.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 26.—George Moriarity, new manager of the Tigers, will lead his forces on the training field Monday to start preparations for the 1927 campaign. The first contingent of Tiger hopefuls will arrive Sunday evening.

Y LOOP LEADERS CLASH MONDAY

Bulgers and Seniors Meet in Third Game.

The next game in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league will be played Monday night at 8:15 o'clock with the Bulger Drugs and the Senior gym class team as the contenders.

The contest probably will decide the championship of the circuit. Each team holds a victory over the other. Bulgers defeated the Seniors, 41 to 23, in the first clash, and the Seniors landed the second by a two-point margin, 34 to 32. Bill Cox will referee.

Reserves Assist In Beating Youngstown Chaney Five, 30 to 12

St. Valentine, Edison, "Honest Abe" Lincoln and George Washington have given the month of February some red letter days, enough ordinarily to satisfy the cravings of the most exacting celebrator, but it chances, in the lives of local basketball followers that there is to be one more big day of this particular month and that's right now.

They are looking for something more to celebrate and nothing less than a victory over Springer's Salem high school team will suffice. The Salemites, victors over the Blue and White in an early season engagement will make their bow before Potter fans tonight at the school gymnasium in a contest that is expected to establish a new school game attendance mark for the season.

Lorah worked his squad easily last night at Youngstown, the local boys finishing ahead of Chaney by a score of 30 to 12. Lorah used 17 players, everybody getting into the game but himself and Student Manager Tommy Maley. The old reliable quint started the game and had it pretty well tucked away in the third period when the parade to and from the East Liverpool bench started.

Captain Jimmy Hamilton played about a half a game and McKeever the same. English was in for approximately three quarters. Dick Larkins left in the third period and McConville contributed a half game.

Chaney played largely a defensive game on their small floor in the first period and managed to outscore the locals by the grand total of two points to one point. The locals cut loose in the second period and score 10 more points while Chaney was getting two. Lorah's kids registered nine in the third period and nine more in the fourth, Chaney getting three in each quarter.

Mindful of the struggle confronting them tonight, the loca lads took it easy all the way. If they had so desired the chances are they could have run up a count of 50 or more on the Steel City aggregation.

Salem tonight is probably the toughest article the locals have tackled during the season, with the exception, perhaps of Akron Central and Springer's outfit trimmed the Rubber City five by a generous count at Salem recently.

Springer has a wonderful team, one of the flashiest turned out in the north county precincts for many a year and a victory for the locals would indeed be a feather in their bonnets. Hamilton and McKeever probably will be entrusted with the duty of bringing in the field goals, along with English at center, while a job just as difficult will be dropped on the shoulders of McConville and Larkins. It'll be largely up to these two boys, who have never failed yet, to form the keystone of the defense arch.

Gross, of New Philadelphia, has been assigned the job of refereeing, and Lewis, of Ambridge will umpire.

All this, plus the exclusive advantage of the Willys-Knight engine. The Knight sleeve-valve engine is the only type of automobile engine that actually improves with use—growing smoother, quieter, more powerful with every mile. Highs Face Tough Task In Clash With Salem Here Tonight

Orange Teams Cop Two Games at Park Court.

HANGING up another pair of victories over Chester last night on the Rock Springs court, Wellsville high made a clean sweep of its 1927 series with the Hancock countains.

Klinck's boys took the main tilt by a score of 16 to 13, grabbing off the laurels in the second half after the home team had held a 10 to 3 lead at the intermission.

The visitors were unable to get going on the old "merry go round" floor in the first two periods and as a result their shooting suffered. In the second half however, they organized a strong offense and carried the play to the basket. Provost and Kimble led the field goal brigade with three apiece.

The visiting girls captured a 20 to 8 decision in the preliminary. Misses Irwin and Connor led the scorers, with six and seven points apiece.

ROBINS TO BEGIN 'BOILING' MONDAY

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 26.—Members of the Brooklyn Robins today are enroute to training camp here from various sections of the country. A quorum will not be on hand until Monday, when the annual boiling out process will start.

SPANIARD TO GET MALONEY FIGHT

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—As a result of his victory last night over Knute Hansen, Paolino Uzcudun probably will be matched with Jimmy Maloney, the Boston "strong boy."

After the fight Promtoter Tex Rickard conferred with Maloney and he the basque probably will clash at the Garden on March 25.

UPAN ADAM

"Babe Ruth is conductin' his argument for more salary from California. Lotta guys could talk rough to the boss if they were that far away"

New Cumberland Claims Cage Title

Take Honors After Win Over Chester Quint.

New Cumberland high school basketball teams, both boys and girls, claim 1927 championship honors as a result of wins over the two Chester teams at New Cumberland Tuesday night.

The New Cumberland boys won by a score of 20 to 12 and the girls copped a 23 to 12 decision.

RESERVES TRIM SCOUTS, 51-10

The Chester Reserves defeated the Scout passers in a fast game on the M. E. court, the count being 51 to 10. Bartley with 12 buckets and Wright with four were the chief scorers.

PAOLINO WINS FROM HANSEN

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Paolino Uzcudun, colorful Basque woodchopper of Spain, "got the duke," as the boys say, after battling ten rounds last night with Knute Hansen, the mournful Dane of Minnesota, and promptly turned a spectacular flip flop—right in the Madison Square Garden ring with 13,000 fans looking on in surprise and amusement.

He did it with neatness and dispatch, whirling on the back of his neck before he capitulated his sturdy frame upright upon his dogs.

This is the "tip off" on the latest sensation from Europe. He's the Nick Altrock of the prize ring. He's what the boys in the $2 seats call a "card." They liked him, and showed it. He can fight, too, but he'll have to display more than he did last night before he'll be seriously regarded as a contender for the world's heavyweight championship.

Paolino was up against a better natural fighter in Knute but he outgamed him. He is six inches shorter than Hansen and weighed 196 pounds as against the Dane's 204½. His reach is so much shorter he had to jump at Hansen time and again to get a good lick at him.

NEW BRIGHTON WINS AT MIDLAND

The Midland Collegians were defeated by the Standard Sanitary five of New Brighton, Thursday night at Midland. The final tally was 37 to 26. Guard lack led the Midland field goal makers with five to his credit.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Paulino Uzcudum, of Spain, won decision over Knute Hansen, Minnesota Dane, ten rounds.

Tom Heeney, of New Zealand, won decision over Charley Anderson, of Chicago, when the referee disqualified Anderson in the ninth round for holding.

AT TAMPA, Fla.—Tommy Freeman of Hot Springs, Ark., knocked out Arturo Shekels, of Belgium, in the sixth round. Julian Moran of Havana, won decision over Georgia Russell, of Philadelphia, ten rounds.

AT SAN FRANCISCO—Billy Alger, of Arizona, won technical knockout over Jimmy Murray, of Miami, Fla., in the fourth round.

Billy Adams defeated Gilbert Attell, six rounds.

AT GRAND RAPIDS, IA.—Roy Williams, of Chicago and Eddie Morris of Sioux City, Ia., fought three rounds of a scheduled ten round bout, then the referee disqualified both fighters, calling it "no contest."

Second Trial

Guy Morrison, head coach of baseball, football and basketball at De Pauw University, will be tried out this spring by the Pittsburg Pirates. Morrison, a pitcher, was purchased by the Giants from Bloomington in 1923 but lacked experience. Pitched the Idaho Falls club to a flag last season with 17 victories and three defeats.

Bromby's Absence Handicaps Mount

Will be Unable to Play Against Bereans Tonight.

By defeating the Western Reserve quintet at Alliance Wednesday night the Mount Union cagers boosted their standing in the Ohio Conference percentage column to five hundred. They have won and lost five games.

While Baldwin Wallace does not stand so high in the Ohio Conference column, they have played several close games with the stronger teams and have won from the Heidelberg cagers that defeated the Mount team early in the season. Due to the two victories over Wooster and Reserve in the past week the Mount team will be favored to win.

However, with Captain Bromby out of the game, and with Baldwin Wallace out to seek satisfaction for the defeat handed them last year by Mount's championship team, the Mount team may have a harder time than is expected.

HORNSBY HITS— MOSTLY FLIES

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 26.—Several of the Giant rookies are outbatting the great Hornsby in practice, but nobody has heard the Rajah express fear of losing his job. Hornsby is hitting the ball but has been contributing more flies than line drives.

Pitcher Hugh McQuillan has not yet reported and his whereabouts are a mystery.

YANKEES DUE IN SOUTH SUNDAY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26.—The first squad of the New York Yankees will arrive here tomorrow and begin practice on Monday.

Begin Work Monday.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 26.—George Moriarity, new manager of the Tigers, will lead his forces on the training field Monday to start preparations for the 1927 campaign. The first contingent of Tiger hopefuls will arrive Sunday evening.

Y LOOP LEADERS CLASH MONDAY

Bulgers and Seniors Meet in Third Game.

The next game in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league will be played Monday night at 8:15 o'clock with the Bulger Drugs and the Senior gym class team as the contenders.

The contest probably will decide the championship of the circuit. Each team holds a victory over the other Bulgers defeated the Seniors, 41 to 23, in the first clash, and the Seniors landed the second by a two-point margin, 34 to 32. Bill Cox will referee.

Probable lineups:

Reserves Assist In Beating Youngstown Chaney Five, 30 to 12

Locals Take it Easy on Eve of Return Battle With Springer's Great Team; Seventeen Players are Used by Coach Lorah.

St. Valentine, Edison, "Honest Abe" Lincoln and George Washington have given the month of February some red letter days, enough ordinarily to satisfy the cravings of the most exacting celebrator, but it chances, in the lives of local basketball followers that there is to be one more big day of this particular month and that's right now.

They are looking for something more to celebrate and nothing less than a victory over Springer's Salem high school team will suffice. The Salemites, victors over the Blue and White in an early season engagement will make their bow before Potter fans tonight at the school gymnasium in a contest that is expected to establish a new school game attendance mark for the season.

Lorah worked his squad easily last night at Youngstown, the local boys finishing ahead of Chaney by a score of 30 to 12. Lorah used 17 players, everybody getting into the game but himself and Student Manager Tommy Maley. The old reliable quint started the game and had it pretty well tucked away in the third period when the parade to and from the East Liverpool bench started.

Captain Jimmy Hamilton played about a half a game and McKeever the same. English was in for approximately three quarters. Dick Larkins left in the third period and McConville contributed a half game.

Chaney played largely a defensive game on their small floor in the first period and managed to outscore the locals by the grand total of two points to one point. The locals cut loose in the second period and score 10 more points while Chaney was getting two. Lorah's kids registered nine in the third period and nine more in the fourth, Chaney getting three in each quarter.

Mindful of the struggle confronting them tonight, the loca lads took it easy all the way. If they had so desired the chances are they could have run up a count of 50 or more on the Steel City aggregation.

Salem tonight is probably the toughest article the locals have tackled during the season, with the exception, perhaps of Akron Central and Springer's outfit trimmed the Rubber City five by a generous count at Salem recently.

Springer has a wonderful team, one of the flashiest turned out in the north county precincts for many a year and a victory for the locals would indeed be a feather in their bonnets. Hamilton and McKeever probably will be entrusted with the duty of bringing in the field goals, along with English at center, while a job just as difficult will be dropped on the shoulders of McConville and Larkins. It'll be largely up to these two boys, who have never failed yet, to form the keystone of the defense arch.

Gross, of New Philadelphia, has been assigned the job of refereeing, and Lewis, of Ambridge will umpire.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS IN "THE BLACK PIRATE" AT THE AMERICAN THEATRE, BEGINNING MONDAY.

STRAND BOOKS MUSICAL PLAY

Harrison's "Big Lyric Revue" Here Next Week.

A treat is in store for the patrons of the Strand theatre when Arthur Harrison's "Big Lyric Revue" opens here next Monday for a special engagement for one week. This show is said to be one of the best tabloid musical comedy presentations on the road this season. The performances are clean and free from all vulgarity or suggestiveness.

Their first bill, "The Love Nest," abounds in comedy situations and sparkles with pretty music and good dancing.

In conjunction with the show itself, there are interpolations of vaudeville specialties. Among these specialties are Ambrose Haley, known as the "Musical Nut;" George Seldon, the "Tamborine King;" the Carlyle Duo, "Eccentric Dancers;" The Panama Four, "Harmony, Comedy Quartette;" Brenon & Brenon, "Comedy Entertainers." There is also a chorus of snappy dancing girls who also know how to sing.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS IN "THE BLACK PIRATE" AT THE AMERICAN THEATRE, BEGINNING MONDAY.

STRAND BOOKS MUSICAL PLAY

Harrison's "Big Lyric Revue" Here Next Week.

A treat is in store for the patrons of the Strand theatre when Arthur Harrison's "Big Lyric Revue" opens here next Monday for a special engagement for one week. This show is said to be one of the best tabloid musical comedy presentations on the road this season. The performances are clean and free from all vulgarity or suggestiveness.

Their first bill, "The Love Nest," abounds in comedy situations and sparkles with pretty music and good dancing.

In conjunction with the show itself there are interpolations of vaudeville specialties. Among these specialties are Ambrose Haley, known as the "Musical Nut;" George Seldon, the "Tamborine King;" the Carlyle Duo, "Eccentric Dancers;" The Panama Four, "Harmony, Comedy Quartette;" Brenon & Brenon, "Comedy Entertainers." There is also a chorus of snappy dancing girls who also know how to sing.

Sheriff's Sale of Real Estate

The Liverpool Motor Car Co., Plaintiff vs. T. R. Walton, et al. Defendant. Case No. 17852.

In pursuance of an Order of Sale issued from the Common Pleas Court in the above entitled action, I will offer for sale at public auction on the premises in East Liverpool, in the above named County, on Tuesday the 29th day of March, 1927, at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., the following described real estate, situate in the County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and in the City of East Liverpool, to-wit:

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio and being part of the northwest one-fourth (¼) of section twenty-four (24), township five (5) range one (1) and more particularly described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a point on the south line of a tract of land conveyed by M. O. Fisher to William Hall, Sr. by deed dated Sept. 3rd, 1901 and recorded in Volume 253, page 56, records of said county and part of which tract was conveyed by said William Hall to Charles W. Maybe There Are No Atoms, Smithsonian Scientist Admits

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.— Ever since I consulted Prof. Charles G. Abbott of the Smithsonian Institution on the subject of atoms. I've regarded the atom with a certain amount of suspicion.

CHARLES ABBOT

Is there any such thing?

When a scientist is lecturing about atoms, he takes the position that there's no doubt about them.

For instance, Prof. Arthur Haas of the chair of physics at Vienna University, one of the world's foremost atomic authorities, lectured on 'em here the other night, before the Philosophical Society of Washington and the Washington Academy of Sciences.

He referred to the atom as if he'd seen and handled one. He said it's a wee solar system, same as ours, with the sun in the middle and planets revolving around it. He said there's enough atomic energy locked up in a gram of matter to raise all the buildings in New York to the height of the highest skyscraper, if it could be released and harnessed.

FOR a long time I swallowed these statements without a grain of salt.

I reckoned that solar systems must run all the way up and down the scale from the infinitely prodigious to the infinitely infinite-simal. I wondered if they were inhabited.

I didn't question the story that a teaspoonful of water contains sufficient atomic energy to kick the "Leviathan" from New York to Liverpool and back again, provided it could be released and harnessed. All I wondered was: What would happen if a teaspoonful of atomic energy should accidentally be released without being harnessed?

And finally it occurred to me to wonder also: How, since an atom is miles too small to be seen by the highest power microscope, did science discover the blame thing?

TO resolve these doubts I repaired to Dr. Abbott, perhaps America's best known scientist, chief assistant to the late C. D. Walcott a head of the Smithsonian, and likely to become head of it himself, following Dr. Walcott's recent death.

FIRST, Dr. Abbot shattred the solar system theory.

An atom isn't a solar system. That's just a way of expressing it. There's a so-called sun, but it's a pewee compared with its so-called planets, not a whale, like our sun. The so-called planets revolve around it in different planes, every which-way. My, no! there's nothing to indicate increasing and diminishing scales of solar systems, much less inhabited ones.

Yes, undoubtedly there's boundless atomic energy stored up in matter but there's no reason to suppose it's accidental release would raise the dickens. Probably it would just siss out harmlessly.

"AND how," I asked disappointedly, for by this time the doctor had about taken all the romance out of atoms for me, "do you know there are any atoms, anyway?"

"If there aren't," said Dr. Abbot calmly, "we're on the wrong track, that's all."

"You mean maybe all the scientists are mistaken?" I exclaimed incredulously. "That atoms are just a theory and perhaps there isn't any such thing?"

"Well, suppose there isn't," rejoined the doctor. "Mistakes are what science learns by."

After that what are you going to believe about science?

RICHARD DIX FILM COMING

Betty Bronson Also in Ceramic Picture for Tuesday.

Beauty Becomes Bachelor's Bride Because of Bizarre Bequest.

This string of "B's" gives a short outline of the plot of Richard Dix's new Paramount starring picture, "Paradise for Two," opening a three day run at the Ceramic theatre on Tuesday, in which all of the three supporting players have names beginning with "B"—Beranger, Bronson and Breese.

Betty Bronson is the stage struck girl whom Dix hires to pose as his wife so he can get control of a legacy.

Edmund Breese is Dix's uncle who is trustee of the legacy and whom Dix tries to outwit by securing the "hired wife."

Andre Beranger is the theatrical producer who gets the girl for Dix and then falls in love with her when Dix does.

"There are lots of 'B's' in the cast of 'Paradise for Two,'" Dix says. "but that doesn't mean that it isn't 'A' comedy drama."

FAIRBANKS AT AMERICAN

Doug and Billie Dove Featured in "Black Pirate."

This picture, a new Fairbanks super-production, is laid in that part of the southern seas known in the Seventeenth century as the Pirate's Main, where Morgan and his blood-thirsty rovers had their secret island, on which they hid the tribute exacted at guns' points from traders and travelers.

It is said that Fairbanks has never before had such a fitting vehicle for his blithe sort of adventuring. He plays the part of a young nobleman, who swears to avenge the killing of his father by pirates. This he does in a series of exciting episodes, that demand every known variety of dueling, fighting, and daredevil cleverness. He captures a big ship single-handed, steals the heroine from the villians, and fights his way through the ranks of the cutthroats.

"The Black Pirate" is rated the fastest moving story Fairbanks ever made, and this is a promise of considerable speed. Starting with the blowing up of a ship and maintaining an explosive tempo throughout, this picture should afford all the interest and suspense forecast for it.

Fairbanks' production is the first picture of such magnitude to be made in color, and marks an entirely new departure in this regard through its elimination of all glaring hues. It is claimed that he has succeeded in incorporating color into this film in such a bewitching fashion that the spectator is completely charmed by it, and sees it only as one sees a panorama in real life.

The star's leading lady is the beautiful Billie Dove, she and Tempe Pigott as a duenna make up the entire feminine contingent.

Fleischman Yeast Company Features Movie for Bakers

Bakers of the district were entertained with motion pictures by The Fleischman Company, Cincinnati yeast manufacturers, at the Ceramic cafeteria hall, West Fifth street, Thursday evening.

The title of the picture was "What Shal' We Eat Today?," in which the mixing and making of various bread and pastry products was vividly portrayed. M. R. Sembach, representing the company, pointed out how simple a matter it was for the baker to provide the housewife with a wide variety of baked goods.

Lunch, consisting of bakery products which had been displayed during the evening, and coffee was served.

"The Black Pirate" is rated the fastest moving story Fairbanks ever made, and this is a promise of considerable speed. Starting with the blowing up of a ship and maintaining an explosive tempo throughout, this picture should afford all the interest and suspense forecast for it.

Fairbanks' production is the first picture of such magnitude to be made in color, and marks an entirely new departure in this regard through its elimination of all glaring hues. It is claimed that he has succeeded in incorporating color into this film in such a bewitching fashion that the spectator is completely charmed by it, and sees it only as one sees a panorama in real life.

Fleischman Yeast Company Features Movie for Bakers

Bakers of the district were entertained with motion pictures by The Fleischman Company, Cincinnati yeast manufacturers, at the Ceramic cafeteria hall, West Fifth street, Thursday evening.

The title of the picture was "What Shal' We Eat Today?," in which the mixing and making of various bread and pastry products was vividly portrayed. M. R. Sembach, representing the company, pointed out how simple a matter it was for the baker to provide the housewife with a wide variety of baked goods.

Lunch, consisting of bakery products which had been displayed during the evening, and coffee was served.

RICHARD DIX FILM COMING

Betty Bronson Also in Ceramic Picture for Tuesday.

Beauty Becomes Bachelor's Bride Because of Bizarre Bequest.

This string of "B's" gives a short outline of the plot of Richard Dix's new Paramount starring picture, "Paradise for Two," opening a three-day run at the Ceramic theatre on Tuesday, in which all of the three supporting players have names beginning with "B"—Beranger, Bronson and Breese.

Betty Bronson is the stage struck girl whom Dix hires to pose as his wife so he can get control of a legacy.

Edmund Breese is Dix's uncle who is trustee of the legacy and whom Dix tries to outwit by securing the "hired wife."

Andre Beranger is the theatrical producer who gets the girl for Dix and then falls in love with her when Dix does.

"There are lots of 'B's' in the cast of 'Paradise for Two,'" Dix says. "but that doesn't mean that it isn't 'A' comedy drama."

EMMONS STAYS IN ASSEMBLY

EXPECT ANDERSON CASE RULING ON TUESDAY

Today

The Angel Moroni.
Brave Brigham Young.
See Death Valley.
The Ghost City.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

ON ONE of your trips across America, stop at Salt Lake City to get acquainted with the Angel Moroni, and all the land that stretches around him. Morini, very big in bright gold, stands above the temple built by Brigham Young, for his "latter day saints."

Young has gone, with all his wives, let us hope, to the reward of daring men. Polyamy has gone, but the golden Moroni still stands high in air, his trumpet tilted up toward the mountains full of wealth, and over the wide fields of magnificent fertility.

BELOW Moroni, on his right, stands Brigham Young's monument, a naked bronze Indian on one side, a bearded Mormon frontiersman on the other, back to back.

A bronze tablet between them tells the story of amazing adventure. Driven by belief in special revelation, Brigham Young set out to find a place where he and his followers could do as they pleased, and obey the orders of God as they understood them.

The Mormon band, traveling west through the wilderness 80 years ago, consisted of 143 men, three women, two children, 20 wagons, one boat, one cannon, 93 horses, 52 mules, 66 oxen, 19 cows.

On one corner of the tablet, fenced off from the white names, you see written, "Three colored slaves, Green Flake, Hark Lay, Oscar Crosby." Thir nams are printed here and the others left out to even things up.

Wise was Brigham Young, apart from the wife question. He made his streets 132 feet wide. If New York or Chicago had Salt Lake City's streets, their traffic problem would be solved.

BELOW the Golden Moroni stands Brigham Young's house, called "The Beehive." Colonial in style, with a big beehive on top, nearby stands his other house for more of the family.

Just across the way is the Federal Reserve bank, of solid stone, and be-

Review-Tribune Offers Booklet About Presidents

How many people can tell who was president before Lincoln?

Few Americans can even name the presidents in order. A complete fact story about them, their lives, their times, their wives and families, their services, has been compiled, with a portrait of each, into one neat forty-page booklet. The Washington Information Bureau of this newspaper has prepared this booklet.

"President of the United States," one of the most interesting and useful works of the sort ever printed, is now available to readers of this newspaper at the nominal cost of cents postpaid.

SUPREME COURT HEARS ARGUMENTS ON ERROR IN MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT

PROSECUTOR ON JOB FOR STATE

Motion for Third Trial in Frank McLain Death Will Follow if Court Holds for Defense.

The state supreme court will probably rule next Tuesday upon a motion for permission to file a petition in error in behalf of George A. Anderson, former East Liverpool automobile dealer, twice convicted of manslaughter in the death of Frank McLain, taxicab driver.

15 Minute Arguments.

Arguments for and against the motion were heard at Columbus yesterday. Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes and his assistant, John Baucknecht, East Palestine, appeared for the state, while Attorney George T. Farrell, Lisbon, represented Anderson.

Each side was allowed 15 minutes in which to present its case. Six members of the court, who were in attendance, took the application under advisement.

If the motion is sustained, the case will be presented upon its merits at a later date. Reversal of the common pleas and appellate courts, which refused a third trial, will be asked by Anderson.

Anderson, who is under sentence of four years and eight months to 20 years in the penitentiary, is at liberty under bond pending the supreme court ruling. Should the tribunal refuse to consider the case, Anderson, who is working in Columbus, will surrender his bond and be taken to prison. He has already served four months, having been liberated after the cour of appeals granted him a second trial.

COOLIDGE SIGNS BANKING BILL

The measure was enacted by the senate only after cloture had been invoked to kill a filibuster.

"PRICE-FIXING" BILL IS KILLED BY PRESIDENT

Agriculture Relief Plan Unconstitutional, White House Says.

SARGENT RULING

Veto Sidetracks Chance of Enactment by Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Coolidge vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill today and in a vigorous message to congress explaining his action declared that the bill was unconstitutional, that it would not benefit the farmer, and that it was unworkable.

The president's veto throws down the gauntlet to his middlewestern political opponents, who wrote and campaigned ceaselessly for the bill. It also kills any chance for farm relief legislation until next December, as there is no chance of enactment of the measure over the veto, nor is there time to put through any other program in the week remaining of the present session.

While the principal ground for the veto was its stated unconstitutionality, supported by a 10-page opinion from the attorney general, Mr. Coolidge literally hacked the bill to pieces with his criticisms of it.

Would Not Benefit Farmer.

The unconstitutionality was based upon that section which would limit the president in his choice of men to comprise the federal board which would administer the act. This was interpreted by the attorney general to violate the constitutional appointive power of the president.

But, aside from that, Mr. Coolidge said:

"The Chief objection to the bill is that it would not benefit the farmer..

"It would not succeed in providing a practical method of controlling the agricultural surplus, which is the heart of the whole problem....

"The administrative difficulties in-

FIRE DESTROYS TOURING CAR

Peerless touring car, belonging to Richard Andrews, of this city, was destroyed by fire which broke out while the machine was traveling along the River road, west of Ralston's crossing, at 2:45 o'clock this morning. The blaze is believed to have been started from a short circuit in the lighting system.

Firemen from the East End and Central stations extinguished the blaze with chemicals.

DRY RIDGE, KY., WIPED OUT BY FIRE; 30 HOTEL GUESTS FLEE

No Lives Reported Lost; Many Fight Way to Safety.

$250,000 DAMAGE

Bank, Postoffice, Theatre, Restaurant and Store Destroyed.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Ky., Feb. 25.—The little town of Dry Ridge, four miles north of here, today was practically a smouldering mass of ruins, its business district and seven residences having been wiped out by a fire early today.

No lives were reported lost, although 30 guests of the Carlsbad Spring hotel, famous as a health resort, narrowly escaped death when the hotel burned.

They were warned in time to fight their way through heavy smoke and flames to safety.

Damage was expected to exceed $250,000.

Sick Woman Rescued.

Fire fighting apparatus from this city and from Walton, 10 miles from Dry Ridge, was rushed to the scene but lack of a water supply hampered work.

Scores of persons were forced to the streets in night attire. From one of the burning homes a sick woman was carried by rescue workers just before the walls crashed.

The fire, when discovered by a farmer about 1 o'clock this morning, had eaten its way into the hotel and two other buildings.

All of the burned buildings were constructed of wood.

One Is Killed, Two Wounded As Thugs' Machine Gun Barks

Underworld Attack is Made From Automobile as it Speeds by Night Club in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—One man was killed and two others were wounded as a machine gun barked its message of death from an automobile which speeded by the Club cadix here early today.

Men and women participating in a private party in the night club fled in terror after the shooting, believed to have been the climax of an underworld feud.

The dead man is John Bricker, 28, address unknown. Six bullets riddled his neck, forehead and back.

Five bullets penetrated the neck, shoulders and abdomen of Michael Duffy, 43, who, according to police, is dying in Hahnemann hospital.

The doorman of the club, Earl Brown, 34 is being treated in a local hospital for two bullet wounds in the thigh.

SIX NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH AS TIME BOMB DAMAGES BROOKLYN HOME

The force of the infernal machine hurled all six out of their beds and threw terror into the residents of this fashionable section.

Two men in a sedan were seen to drive up to the house about fifteen minutes before the explosion. One walked up to the porch, dropped "something," and hurried back to the machine, which sped off.

Every window in the house, in which there are about fifteen rooms, was shattered. The front of the house was a total wreck.

A large squad of detectives are scouring the city for these two men, who police are certain were the writers of two threatening letters which Palmieri received about two months ago.

The letters warned the former judge that his house would be blown up unless me complied with their demand at once for $20,000.

ALLEGED MEMBER OF WHITTEMORE GANG IS ARRESTED IN CLEVELAND

According to local detectives, Weinzimmer is believed to be the man who drove Whittemore, his wife, Margaret, "the Tiger Girl," and other members of the gang to this city after the $150,000 Fifth avenue "job" was pulled in New York, in January, 1926.

At that time Whittemore is thought to have "hidden out" in this city. Police records show that Weinzimmer was arrested, questioned and subsequently released. A few days later local police received a request to pick him up, but until late yesterday no trace had been found.

Weinzimmer came up to Detective Nathan Obrisky and calmly asked if he was wanted. Obrisky took him to Central police station.

Whittemore was hanged in Baltimore, August 14, 1926, for the murder of a guard at the Maryland penitentiary.

Ex-Empress Zita And Prince Otto In Auto Smash-up

COUTY MEMBER TO TAKE CIVIL SERVICE PLACE AT MEET END

Attorney General Rules on Question of Two Posts.

OATH DEFERRED

East Rochester Man Will Resign Near Close of Session.

Ralph W. Emmons, Republican, of East Rochester, recently appointed member of the state civil service commission by Gov. A. V. Donahey, will retain his place as one of the Columbiana county's two state representatives until the end of the present session of the Ohio assembly, he announced today.

Defers Qualifying.

Emmons' decision followed a ruling by Attorney General Turner, who held that he may continue to serve as a member of the general assembly until he formally qualifies as civil service commissioner.

"Under present conditions I do not expect to qualify until the close of the present session," Emmons said.

The attorney general's ruling also determined the status of State Senator Edwards, who was appointed a member of the state tax commission.

Emmons and Edwards were among the Donahey appointees who were confirmed by the senate.

W. H. Van Fossan, of Lisbon, also a Republican, is the other Columbiana county member of the lower house.

40 DEAD, 100 HURT IN WRECK

Broken Axle Causes Mexican Train Crash Near Tampico.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 25.—Bodies of the victims of the disastrous train wreck near Tampico were being removed from the wreckage today, and physicians and nurses were giving aid to the injured.

The death list is now fixed at 40, while it is believed that close to 100 suffered injuries.

Most of the victims were workingmen and their families.

FEDERAL PROBE OF SHIP CRASH

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25.—A federal investigation opened today into the steamship collision between two Bay line vessels, the City of Richmond and the City of Annapolis, yesterday.

There was only one fatality, Miss Virginia Starkey, 20, of Baltimore. Her cabin was directly in the path of the tearing prow of the Richmond as it struck the Annapolis, and she was either killed by the collision or drowned, steamship officials believe. Fog is blamed for the accident.

COMPLAINT CHARGING EXISTENCE OF GIGANTIC MOVING PICTURE TRUST, GOVERNED BY WILL H. HAYS, MOVIE "CZAR," IS FILED AT CAPITAL

By Robert S. Thornburgh.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—A complaint charging the existence of a gigantic moving picture trust, comprising all the corporations governed by Will H. Hays, movie "czar," has been filed with the department of justice with demand for an investigation, it was learned today.

Aside from admitting that a complaint against the alleged "Hays trust" had been received from Frank J. Rembusch, head of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners' Association of Indiana, and that an inquiry would be made, justice department officials declined to comment.

So far insufficient evidence to justify an anti-trust prosecution has been presented. It was understood, however, that Rembusch would be requested to furnish additional facts and that the department might launch a study of the make-up of the entire motion picture industry to determine whether the Sherman and Clayton laws have been violated.

The charges made by Rembusch, in general, are similar to the allegations presented to the federal trade commission in the investigation of the Famous Players-Lasky combine, accused by the independents of restraining trade and eliminating competition in the movie industry. Hearings in this case virtually have been terminated.

Officials said that the charges brought by Rembusch are much more extensive in their scope, however, than those against the Famous Players-Lasky corporation.

Rembusch, in his letter, alleged that all companies operating under Hays comprise a trust and that independents are unable to break into the movie business without his sanction.

The Hays organization and its members control the production and distribution field and dominate the entire industry, he said. The Hays association is said to control about 95 per cent of the moving picture industry.

"If a theatre owner complains, his character and business are subject to assassination," Rembusch wrote. "Often if a theatre owner refuses to buy a picture they will send agents into his city to destroy the good will he has with his patrons and threaten to build a theatre in competition.

"Today none can find a way to the screen except through the Hays association."

Rembusch charged that the "independents are about all gone and the 'dependents,' stars, directors and others come under the influence of the trust."

About a year ago the justice department investigated the arbitration system in the movie industry and some modification of the plan was brought about.

MINER INJURED IN EARTH SLIDE

River Highways Choked by Slips; Two Homes Destroyed.

T. B. Boyle, 74, employed at Richland Coach company mine settlement, near Warwood, was probably fatally injured, while two homes were destroyed by an earth slide late Wednesday afternoon.

Boyle was caught in the slide while attempting to save the belongings of his home, which had been partially destroyed in an earlier slide the same afternoon. He was removed to the North Wheeling hospital, where it is said his condition is critical.

Another huge slide was reported at Stop 30 on the Wheeling Traction company tracks, south of Short Creek. Street car traffic was held up for two hours. The state highway between Wellsburg and Wheeling in many places was impassable, traffic being forced to move to the car tracks on the west side of the road.

The road between Wellsburg, Follansbee, and Weirton on Thursday morning was filled at seven points, with huge piles of earth and rock which had come down during the night. Several slips of this nature were also reported on the pike between Weirton and New Cumberland.

State and county road employes were busily engaged during the early hours of the morning in removing the debris to permit passage on the roads. It will, however, require weeks to remove all the debris providing no more slips occur. The loosening of the earth and rock which work down from the hills to the road is the result of the warm and thawing spell of the past two days.

SUSPECTS TAKEN TO WHEELING

Brooke county deputies removed Tony Vizziri, Tony Presty, Paul Seeva and Ralph De Pasquale, all alleged blackhanders of Follansbee, taken in a recent cleanup of the district by Sheriff Robert M. Lowe, from the Brooke county to the Ohio county jail on Wednesday evening.

The deputies in return, brought back to the Brooke county jail several witnesses who were being held in the Ohio county jail in connection with the cases.

The move was made at the instigation of Sheriff Lowe and Prosecuting Attorney James Wilkin, who will question the witnesses further before they face the grand jury on Monday, March 7. The sheriff and prosecutor expect to have the men convicted in the March term of the Brooke county circuit court on the evidence which will be presented by these witnesses.

Don't Let a Cough or Cold "Go Down"

If you let a cough get down into your bronchial tubes or lungs, it stops being merely a nuisance and becomes a real danger. A "head cold" is only a bother while it stays in your head. But once it gets down into the danger zone, serious trouble threatens.

Act promptly to check the cough; to keep the head cold from "going down." Sure and lasting relief is as near as the nearest drug store.

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of danger. Real medicine, reaching deep with its soothing, healing power, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes of your throat and bronchial tubes.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your cold from going down into the danger zone.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable—for children and grown people. At all druggists—60c; twice as much, $1.00. 1d34c

Tiger Terror Finally Ended.

After having killed many people and terrorizing a great part of Egypt, a man-eating tiger that seemed to defy all human methods of warfare, was killed near Cairo recently. He was known by sight to the whole countryside because he wore a collar, obviously having escaped from captivity. He would enter a village and carry off a picaninny while the terrorized parents looked on, and natives so feared him that a driver would sit cowering and chattering while the animal attacked his ox team in daylight. The striped bandit always indulged in surprise attacks, traveling long distances between his kills, and for years avoided all traps and sportsmen until a hunter shot him and claimed the heavy reward offered for his head.

ELKRUN GRANGE TO HOLD BANQUET

W. C. Smith will be toastmaster at a banquet to be served by the male members of Elkrun grange to the women members Saturday evening at which time addresses will be delivered by Appellate Judge L. T. Farr and County Agent Floyd Lower. Arrangements are being made to serve about 180 people, which will include officers of other granges and new members who have been recently added to the roster.

The banquet is the result of a program contest staged during the winter meetings, and arranged by the men and women of Elkrun grange. The programs arranged by the women were considered the best according to the judges, C. C. White of Lisbon and Homer Williams.

Report Confirmed.

The report of the commissioners has been confirmed in the partition case of Ella M. Amon against Thomas E. Iler, and the court has issued an order of sale in this cause.

Granted Leave To File.

In the $15,000 automobile damage action filed in common pleas court January 27 last by Minnie O'Brien against Walter A. Brooks, the defendant has been granted leave to file an answer by March 12, according to an order that has just been handed down.

Divorce Granted.

On the grounds of wilful absence for over a perior of three years, Judge W. F. Lones has granted a divorce to Luther McClead from his wife, Virginia S. McClead, the action having been filed January 8. The case was not contested, and the plaintiff was represented by Attorney James E. Davis of East Liverpool.

Property Transfers.

Frank G. Jones and wife to Wilma McCormick, lot No. 3 in East Liverpool, $5.

Affidavit for transfer for Liverpool township real estate inherited from Joseph H. Bailey by Rose and Lawrence Bailey.

Margaret A. Rankin to Homer Flooding, lot 378 in Leetonia, $100.

Affidavit for transfer of real estate inherited from Newton Mellon by Nellie Mellon, lot 7354 in East Liverpool.

Ira F. Seevers and wife to O. C. Delaney and wife, lot 3890 in East Liverpool, $550.

H. W. Hammond as executor to Ross Sheets and others, 57.57 acres second 2 in Fairfield township.

J. T. Cannon to Harry M. Dunlevy lot 4718 in East Liverpool, $5.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to Irvin Yaggi, a farmer of Knox township, and Delilah Girard, formerly residing in Knox township, but now of Deerfield, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Girard. The couple were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Presbyterian church by the Rev. P. W. Macaulay.

Seek To Sell Property.

An application to sell real estate has been filed in common pleas court by Henry Zipperian as executor under the will of the estate of the late Jacob Zipperian against Gorea Giethlein and others.

East Fairfield

Chicken supper given by the Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening in the grange hall was largely attended.

Mrs. Myrtle Reed, Mrs. N. G. Baker and their brother, Frank Schooley, and son, Dan Francis, of East Palestine, attended the funeral of Mrs. Roy Johnson at Sebring Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Southwick and son Howard and Mrs. S. A. Might visited Saturday at Youngstown.

Miss Evelyn Albright was the guest of Miss Inmae Schmidt, Sunday.

Mrs. Howard Williamson spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Amanda Justison, at East Palestine.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crook were Columbiana callers Monday.

Those from Fairfield and vicinity attending the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williamson at Rogers were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williamson, Mrs. Mary Hawkins, Mrs. Thomas Coppock, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williamson and family and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lower and family. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson lived for many years on their farm just west of Fairfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baker transacted business in Salem Monday.

A program was given Monday afternoon by the Fairfield high school in the auditorium in commemoration of Washington's birthday.

Fairfield basketball teams came out on the short end of the score when they played the East Palestine high teams at the Columbiana high gymnasium. Scores were 32-12 in favor of East Palestine boys and 33-8 in favor of East Palestine girls.

Dr. R. C. Craven of Albany, N. Y., who represents the American Humane association, gave a talk recently to the pupils of the Fairfield Centralized school.

Examinations For All Food Handlers

Judging from developments at a meeting of the board of health, steps are to be taken "within the near future" to widen the scope of the ordinance providing for medical examination of perons engaged in the preparation and sale of food in East Liverpool.

Councilmanic legislation, enacted by unanimous vote and approved by Mayor Benedum, and which becomes effective on March 1, affects owners and employes of hotels, restaurants, lunch rooms, candy-making establishments and bakeries.

For some undetermined reason, probably the proportions of the task of enforcement, grocers and butchers and milk handlers, all of whom come in contact with more people in one or two days than others affected do within a week, were exempted from the provisions of the law. Because of this situation, health board members admit, charges of "class legislation" have been heard.

In sponsoring the measure, the board's sole purpose was to protect the public from communicable diseases, but it is inconceivable that it shall be accomplished unless the ordinance is amended. And, too, the plan of charging for compulsory medical examinations should be abandoned.

The purpose of the legislation is A-1, but no law should make "fish of one and flesh of another."

Decency Pays Better

It might be supposed that the theatrical business would see the need of moral housecleaning, for business if not for moral reasons.

Broadway, which produces the shows and sets the theatrical standards for America, has begun deluging the country with indecency. It is not so bad as European drama, but it is too rotten for America, and there are signs everywhere that the American people will not stand for it. The action of the authorities in New York City is merely spectacular evidence of what is likely to become a national revolt, destined to bring American drama back to the decency and decorum that characterize normal American life.

If the playwrights and producers continue along their recent course, they will surely lose their decent patrons. That has begun already. If they minister only to the indecent, they sink deeper and deeper in the mire and must end in self-disgust and financial failure. Theatrical prosperity in the past has been gained by appealing to the whole public—by playing for the average man and woman, who are neither puritanic nor shameless, but who demand in their entertainment a higher degree of cleanness and respectability than any other country in the world.

The decent people of this country always put the indecent people out of business when it comes to a show-down.

The theatres may be decent from compulsion or from choice. If they are wise, they will choose the way of decency—if not because it is decent, then because it is the only way to continuous prosperity.

Nothing rotten ever prospers in the long run. Economic laws, at bottom, are moral laws. Business is based on ethics. So is art, even if the artists can't see it.

Letting In Complete Sunlight

Twenty cities in this country are putting the new vitaglass in certain hospitals for the purpose of testing its efficiency in health work. This glass is a quartz product of English invention which is said to transmit the ultra-violet or actinic rays of sunlight, which are the health-bearing rays. Ordinary window glass excludes these special rays so that sunlight coming through it, though warm and beautiful, lacks the healing power of outdoor sunlight.

If the new glass does what is claimed for it, its use should be extended not only to all hospitals and places for the care of the sick, but to school rooms and private homes. This would help to prevent many diseases now cured by sun treatment or artificial ultra-violet rays.

A Hero In a Dime Museum

In Central Park, New York, there is a bronze statue to Balto, the sledge dog which, two years ago, led the dog team that carried diphtheria anti-toxin to Nome, Alaska, thus helping to end a serious epidemic.

In Los Angeles there is a cheap dime museum in which the real Balto and his dumb companions spend their days tied to a sled as one of the exhibits.

If the dog really is a hero he deserves better treatment than that. Even if he isn't a hero here at all, it is still a cruel thing to keep in such a place a group of dogs accustomed to outdoor life and rigorous exercise.

Wild animals kept in captivity in zoos are accorded considerably better treatment and more respect than Balto receives.

Then, too, when moving pictures talk, maybe movie audiences will keep quiet.

We'd like to see a competition, on the speaking stage, between a company of movie actors and a company of radio actors.

My Favorite Stories

THE PURIFICATION OF JOHNSON SIDES.

Johnson Sides, official peacemaker of the Piutes in Nevada, one cold January night, got lost in a snowstorm and was induced by a cowboy, who found him, to take a long swig out of a whisky bottle. This was Johnson's first offense and it tipped him over completely. In a delirium he walked into a burial place and staggered through the musty portals of an ancient and abandoned tomb. There he lay down to sleep it off. The chilly temperature sobered him up. He returned to Carson the next morning penitent and terrified at having broken the law.

The legislature happened to be in session. A humorously inclined member got hold of the Indian, heard his story, and drew up a bill as follows:

"SENATE BILL NO. 6521.

"Section I. Be it enacted that the drink taken by Johnson Sides in the Carson City graveyard Monday night, January 3rd, be hereby declared null and void.

"Section II. This act shall go into effect immediately upon its passage and approval by the governor."

With much pomp and panoply and with great wads of red sealing-wax and a mass of red ribbon affixed to the document, this hoax was solemnly passed by the senate, without a dissenting vote, then was taken to the assembly and there passed unanimously, and after the governor had signed it, the precious paper was bestowed upon Johnson with an elaborate speech. He took the document to the outskirts of the town where his tribe was encamped, translated it and announced that the white Father had called the big souse off.

The next morning thirty-six drunken Piutes were gathered up out of the cemetery by the local constabulary.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Thoughts while strolling: The Mexican with parrots on his shoulder "For Sale." W'atever became of sky ad writers? And gold-headed canes? Those New York women whom jewels and cosmetics have given power to queen it undisputed.

The swaggering strut of the Rialto. Chic Sale's blue car. The mining camp dance hall girl who runs a beauty parlor. Windows filled with poker chips ukes, music box cocktail shakers, jewel studded garters—O, yes, the world is filled with a number of things.

Also a lot of laughs. For instance—the cabaret chorus girl who hires a messenger boy chaperone. Dapper Daps and Slick Sadies. Bird store window sign: "You have spent $50 on a lark, why not $5 for a sweet singing canary?" A yoke of oxen moving to a movie studio.

Yiddish cafes now getting a play. Broadway's new slang for being on the water wagon—"up the pole." The casting agencies with their chill pall of frozen dreams. Newsies darting blindly into traffic. The first display of summer garden hoes and rakes.

Berton Braley and his slouch hat. Seed pearls sold from push carts. Job printers with ticking aprons and eye shades. Second-rate actors taking to monocles and Oxonian accents. And jobless chorines with Barrymore manners. Types and monotypes.

Glass tubed delicately tinted advertising signs like those in Paris. The movie ticket sellers—like magazine cover girls. Lindy, the cafe man. Gobs sky-larking in Times Square. Wh'n a cop grins. A passing woman exclaims: "He was a drunkard when I married him."

Ziegfeld's office. And the glorifying department. The stubby, heavy shouldered guards in mid-town banks. A group of the blind tapping their way to a matinee. John La Gatta, the artist. Theatre banner — "Bold and sexy." Buckitty, buckitty!

The "buff" has passed out of the New York picture with high powered motor equipment for the fire department. In other days every district had its "buff" who never missed a blaze. He became a neighborhood hero for his prompt and unfailing romp after the engines or hook and ladder wagons. It was a youthful hobby and many men who became famous in later years, pursued it. Al Smith was a "buff," as were many other East Side notables.

It is noticeable, too, that firemen are not lionized as they once were. There was a thrill about their driving plunging magnificent horses through crowded centers. Gaping boys were always standing about fire houses in the manner of the lads at the players' gate at ball fields.

Nor do New York boys follow the occasional band when it parades through the street. What is left of youthful curiosity is centered in watching personal appearances of movie stars—which is not as it should be.

Gene Tunney walks on a prominent thoroughfare to receive only a few backward glances. In John L. Sullivan's prime he left the old Gilsey House one day for a walk. Two blocks away he found he could not move in any direction. He was so hemmed in it took several cordon of police to romp to his rescue. Gertrude Ederle's triumphal return from her channel swim excited the biggest curiosity in years. Yet days later in her own neighborhood not a head was stuck out the window as she passed along.

A wide-panted college cutup was trying to negotiate a revolving door in a midtown hotel. An affable gentleman, noting he needed assistance, offered it. The collegiate eyed him coldly and said: "If you drunk I'm think, you're crazy."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Watch Us Grow.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 25.—An interesting field for speculation and calculation as to the future growth in population of the United States is found in the government's estimate as to what the population will be on July 1 next. If this estimate is accurate, and past estimates are said to have proved remarkably reliable, the United States will pass the 200,000,000 mark long before the end of the present century.

In fact, that figure, which some economists says is the maximum population the United States can support comfortably, will be reached about midway of the decade, 1960 to 1970, and if the economists know their oats something will have to be done about it before the year 2000 rolls around.

The estimates of the Bureau of Census, which applies only to continental United States, places the population as of July 1, 1927, at 118,628,000. This is an increase of almost 13,000,000 over the total shown by the actual enumeration of 1920, the rate of increase being more than 1.5 per cent per year, which would give an increase of more than 15 per cent for the decade, 1920-1930. This would be a slightly higher rate than was shown for 1910-1920, when the increase was a little more than 14 per cent, and would give the United States more than 121,000,000 inhabitants in 1930.

Should this 15 per cent increase per decade be maintained the population in 1940 will be just under 140,000,000; in 1950 it will approximate 160,000,000; in 1960, 185,000,000; in 1970, 210,000,000; and in 1980 the present population will have been more than doubled, while the figure for the year 2000 will be in the neighborhood of 290,000,000.

Lest anybody become unduly alarmed over this hypothetical growth it may be pointed out that with 290,000,000 inhabitants the density of population will be only about 97 per square mile. The last figures for England showed 701 per square mile, for Belgium, 648, and for Germany, 328. In 1920 this country had 35.5 people per square mile and the estimated population for 1930 would give about 40.

How Estimates Are Made.

Census Bureau estimates are based upon available data concerning deaths, births, immigration, and emigration. This takes into account all vital statistics of the states and all federal data, and is regarded as scientific and dependable.

There is another method of computing the growth in population and that is to take the growth shown during the preceding census period of ten years, divide it by ten, and then add one-tenth for each year of the decade for which the estimate is to be made. In this instance, the estimate figured out in this manner checks with that arrived at by carrying on the Census Bureau estimate up to 1930 on the Champions of M. Eugene Turpin, discoverer of the powerful explosive melinite who died recently, are urging that a suitable memorial be erected to his memory. Turpin became recognized when he revealed the secret of making non-toxic coloring matters, and shortly afterward I came famous through his researches into the properties of picric acid, which resulted in the discovery of melinite. Although he was acquited of having sold his invention to a British firm after he had disposed of it to the French Ministry of War, he was sentenced in 1889 to five years' imprisonment for having committed a breach of the French official Secrecy Act in a pamphlet on melinite published by him. After a bitter polemic with the Ministry of War, which he accused of having robbed him, Turpin was pardoned in 1893.

"Miss Sulu" in Beauty Race.

Among the contestants for the glory and profit in being chosen "Miss Philippine" is "Miss Sulu," who is representing the province of Sulu in the beauty contest being held in connection with Manila's annual carnival. Other provinces represented are Albany, Agra, Leyte, Surigao and Mountain Province. The contestants were chosen by popular vote in their districts, and all are sent to Manila to compete in the "Miss Philippine" contest, the winner of which receives $3,000 in Philippine money. All are native born. Other contests being held at the carnival this year are the national food conservation, the house beautiful, the art and the livestock exhibits. Fifteen provinces are holding exhibits this year. The carnival lasts for several months in the spring and summer.

CHINA SEEKS RIGHT TO WORK OWN SALVATION, EDUCATOR SAYS

Orientals Have Great Intellectual Capacity; Need Opportunity.

JAPAN STEPPING

Opinion of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif.—The Chinese have great intellectual capacity; all they need is opportunity.

Japan is a generation ahead of China in adapting itsself to modern methods.

In the modernization of China's education system in its higher branches she will work out her salvation.

These thoughts are brought to America by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford and brother of Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur. Dr. Wilbur, organization chairman of the Institute of Pacific Relations, has returned here from a three months' tour of China and Japan.

China Progressing.

The noted educator made contacts with many scholars, statesmen, soldiers and industrial leaders of the Orient. He was impressed particularly with the progress toward modern industrialized civilization being made by China, despite the present chaotic conditions there, he says.

One of the most important advances being made, he declares, is a new system of writing which reduces the number of characters from 30,000 to 1,000, fostered by young Chinese intellectuals, many of whom received their education in the United States. This system can be learned, in fact mastered, in 90 hours.

Changes Coming Suddenly.

"China is now, under the eyes of the world, going through changes not unlike those all modern governments have passed through, but she is having to meet these changes all at once," says Dr. Wilbur in commenting upon his impressions of the awakening giant.

"She is forced to face three trying things at once. First, she is changing her form of government; second, she is trying to adapt herself to the requirements that have been forced by science on modern civilization on all sides; third, she has to cope with the interference of the foreigner and his established privileges. This would furnish a trying problem for any nation.

"China is now going through a civil war, with more or less of a grouping of the North against the South, the South with a strong nationalistic instinct and the North with less of that spirit.

Dr. Wilbur's View.

"With us Americans it took many years to develop a national feeling and finally a civil war to establish the idea of national unity completely and a full national spirit. The paralyzing effect of civil war in China on many activities, including business, is no more irritating to us and other foreign investors now than ours were during our civil war to British investors, which offered one of Lincoln's greatest difficulties in pushing the war to its desirable conclusion.

"The Chinese have great intellectual capacity; all they need is opportunity. They are an agricultural people and have to develop a new economic system and organization as they move from the stage of home industries to that of modern industrial organization.

"My feeling after observing them and talking with their leaders is very strong that the world needs to be patient."

Pimples, Boils, Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S. You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and rundown people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. Mrs. J. W. Parker, 1337 Walnut street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

CLOTURE VOTE TOMORROW MAY BREAK TIE-UP

DRIVES LAUNCHED

Unless Cloture is Adopted, Measure is Doomed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Although assured of a vote tomorrow on the Johnson petition invoking cloture, the Boulder dam bill was threatened in the senate today on every side by drives to displace it in favor of other legislation.

One of the worst legislative jams in memory develops in the senate as a result of the filibuster against the Boulder dam measure and efforts of its advocates to force it to a final vote. A dozen other bills of major importance languished on the sidelines while senators fought over the Colorado river bill or quarrelled over precedence for other bills. Few of these measures can be passed between now and adjournment one week hence, it was apparent, unless the Boulder dam filibuster is broken.

The fighting chance for Senator Johnson (R.) of California, to win his remarkable battle for enactment of the bill, lay in the possibility that two thirds of the senate will vote for cloture on it in order to end the filibuster. Unless cloture is adopted, it was said, the bill is doomed to defeat along with numerous other bills.

"Gag Rule" Demanded.

The immediate conflict facing the senate as it met today was a race between sponsors of the new public buildings and the alien property bills for the opportunity to displace the Boulder dam measure. Both groups were supporting motions to consider their bill instead of the Johnson measure but neither was assured of victory. In either event, the Boulder dam bill will return to its privileged status at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for a vote on cloture.

If cloture should be adopted, final enactment of the bill will be but a matter of time. If it is rejected, the bill will in all probability be sidetracked for the remainder of the session.

The action of Senator Johnson in filing a cloture petition marked the third this session that "Gag rule" was demanded.

House Fights Against Time.

With Speaker Longworth declaring emphatically that the bill will be given its chance on the floor, the problem facing sponsors was to get the hearing in time to assure final passage.

The long fight on the three-cruiser amendment to the naval supply bill threw the house back on the present program. It had been expected that the medicinal liquor bill would be disposed of during the day. This further postponed consideration of the Colorado river project.

With the liquor bill and the second deficiency bill on the top of the list, there appeared little hope of getting a hearing on the bill this week.

"Price-Fixing" Bill

volved are sufficient to wreck the plan....

"The bill would subject the whole agricultural industry to tyranny of bureaucratic regulation and control...

"The bill would impose the burden of its support to a large degree upon farmers who would not benefit by it..

"The whole effect of the plan will be to continuously stimulate American production and to pile up increasing surpluses beyond the world demand..

These were but a few of the barbed shafts shot at the farm bloc's pet measure by Mr. Coolidge in the course of a message that ran nearly 8,000 words.

"The difficulty with this particular measure," the president said, "is that it is not framed to aid farmers as a whole and it is, furthermore, calculated to injure rather than promote the public welfare.

"The measure discriminates against products which make up what has universally been considered a program of safe farming. The bill upholds as ideals of American farming the men who grow cotton, corn, rice, swine, tobacco and wheat and nothing else. These are to be given special favors at the expense of the farmer who toiled for years to build up a constructive farming enterprise to include a variety of crops and livestock.

"The bill singles out raw products, chiefly sectional, and proposes to raise the prices of these regardless of the fact that thousands of other farmers would be directly penalized."

What, he asked, if this is a true relief measure, were all other products left out except those mentioned.

Price-Fixing, He Says.

"It seems almost incredible," he said, "that the producers of hogs, corn, wheat, rice tobacco and cotton should be offered a scheme of legislative relief in which the only persons who are guaranteed a profit are the exporters, packers, millers, cotton spinners and other processors.

"Clearly this legislation involves governmental fixing of prices. It gives the proposed federal board almost unlimited authority to fix prices on designated commodities. This is price-fixing, furthermore, on some of the nations basic foods and materials. Government price-fixing once started has alike no justice and no end. It is an economic folly from which this country has every right to be spared."

Hard Blow, Says E. C. Smith.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—"The president's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill is a repudiation of the platform upon which he was elected," Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois agricultural association, declared today.

Advised of Mr. Coolidge's action Smith made no effort to conceal his displeasure. "We expected it, of course," he said, "but it is a hard blow."

DEATH ROLL

Alonza Stewart.

Alonza Stewart, 52 years old, died yesterday after a three months' illness.

He is survived by two sons, Willis W. and Elmer L. Stewart; two brothers, John W. and James J. Stewart, ane one sister, Mrs. Cora Cline, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Miller funeral parlors, West Sixth street, in charge of Rev. C. Melvin McKay, pastor of the Tabernacle Christian church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Samuel F. Gallo.

Samuel F. Gallo, 10-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Gallo, died yesterday in the home at West Point.

He is survived besides his parents by five brothers and three sisters.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the West Point Catholic church. Burial will be made at Lisbon.

STATE SENATE, HOUSE RECESS

Legislature May Ask Elimination of Freight Rate Discrimination.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—Consideration will be given by the house of representatives here next Tuesday afternoon to a joint resolution, introduced by Representative W. T. Roberts, Belmont county, providing that the Ohio legislature memorialize congress to eliminate alleged freight rate discrimination said to exist between the southern and central coal fields.

Both the senate and house recessed until Monday night.

The house killed the Finefrock bill, which sought to create a state upholstery commission to inspect and regulate manufacturing and sale of mattresses, after the house reference committee reported that the bill was a duplicate of existing law.

The Beck bill, forbidding advertising of cigarettes where children under 21 years of age will see them, or giving away cigarettes to minors for advertising purposes, was referred to the house codes committee.

Because the house reference committee reported that the Ehrlich bill, providing that misdemeanors carrying a prison sentence shall be for an indefinite period, but not more than five years and may be paroled, conflicted with existing statutes, the house killed the measure.

A joint resolution was offered in the house by Representative J. H. Bustard, Cleveland, providing for appointment of a joint committee, consisting of three senators and three house members, to investigate criminal laws of Ohio and other states, and to submit at the next regular legislative session bills providing for a new state criminal code, designed to "make more certain and expeditious the apprehension and punishment of wrongdoers, to make more certain and clear the vindication of innocent persons, wrongfully accused, to simplify and expedite the conduct of criminal trials, and to assure that substantial justice shall be done."

The resolution provides for an appropiation of not more than $20,000 to defray expenses to be incurred by the proposed joint committee.

After concurring, by a vote of 110 to 0, in the action of the senate which attached the emergency clause to the Williamson supplementary appropriation measure, providing for expenditure of approximately $4,200,000 for state governmental activities prior to July 1, next, the house, by a vote of 62 to 45, refused to accept other senate amendments to the measure.

TWO FEDERAL AGENTS IN RUM WORK MISSING

Men Disappear From Their Rooms in Cleveland.

BOTH AMERICANS

Two "Under Cover" Workers are Beaten at Youngstown.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 25.—Two federal agents working out of the local prohibition office have mysteriously disappeared, it was learned here today.

Fred Snyder, prohibition administrator of this federal district, stated that the men were missing from their rooms this morning. Both are Americans and have been extremely active in uncovering bootleggers during the past few weeks.

A mysterious telephone call was received by Snyder at noon to the effect that the men might be found at a Cleveland address. Police and federal agents are investigating. Snyder said the men might be those reported beaten and tortured at Youngstown.

Victims of Vice War.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 25.—City and county authorities today are making vigorous efforts to apprehend the perpetrators of an attack upon two "under cover" men who were severely beaten and tortured here late Thursday by an alleged gang of bootleggers in a revival of the vice war here.

Sheriff Peter Corll answered a hurry call to a "speakeasy" and found empty walls spattered with blood. Four later later a car was found in which the victims had been taken from town.

"BACKSLIDERS" REVIVAL THEME

Evangelist Trager in Charge of Glendale Mission Services.

Evangelist John Trager, of Philadelphia, who is conducting revival meetings in Glendale mission, near Newell, discussed "The Cry of the Lost Soul" last night.

He spoke in part as follows:

"A man may be lauded because of wealth and other great achievements, but he may be only a miserable pauper in the sight of God. Man looketh on the outward appearance but God looketh on the heart.

"David's cry to God for mercy was a result of reproof and sorrow for sin. No soul is crying to God unless first awakened by the Holy Ghost. Some cry as a result of adverse circumstances, but David's cry was different as he became desperate about his soul's need, came four-square with God and heard from heaven.

"Sin has made men slaves of evil habits and unfit for decent society, but the tribe of Judah could deliver them as Christ is the only true Emancipator to the human family."

His subject tonight will be "Penitent and Homeless Backsliders."

Mrs. W. S. Dailey, Former Resident Here, is Dead

Mrs. W. S. Dailey, formerly of East Liverpool, died in the Glenville hospital, Cleveland, at 8:15 o'clock last evening following an illness of a complication of diseases.

She and her husband conducted a confectionery in the Arcade building for many years and later opened a similar business in the Whittenberger building, Dresden avenue. They removed to Cleveland about eight years ago.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Wooley and Mrs. John Gross, both of Avalon, Pa. The body will be taken to Avalon for interment.

South America has 65,000,000 population, according to recent estimates.

$100,000 FIRE IN GALLIPOLIS

GALLIPOLIS, O., Feb. 25.—Fire of an undetermined origin early today burned the Gallipolis loose leaf tobacco warehouse to the ground, causing a loss of approximately $100,000. A cut of Hocking Valley freight cars were damaged. Grayson T. Thornton, Huntington, W. Va., is president of the warehouse concern.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Under cover of the strength and activity of the public utility and motor stocks, a considerable volume of profit taking was indulged in the industrial and railroad stocks in early trading today. Houston Oil, All American Cables and a few other speculative favorites continued the vigorous forward move which was in progress at the end of Thursday's session.

The reserve board's weekly report showed a gain of about 2 per cent in the reserves of the whole system, while the reserve ratio of the New York banks made the surprising advance of 7.4 points to 88 per cent of total resources. On this showing, Wall Street was surprised that no cut was ordered at yesterday's meeting of the governors of the bank. Call money renewals were posted at 4 per cent for week-end loans.

Offerings of the railroad shares and the leading industrials were quite heavy in the first hour, and the market as a whole was powerless to continue its advance. But concentrated buying of Americal Waterworks, Houston Oil and other newscomers to the active list spurted from 2 to 4 points in fairly heavy trading, while Republic, Crucible and Bethlehem, in the independent steel group, advanced a point or two to the accompaniment of rumors of new or enlarged dividends.

The oils also withstood selling pressure without any serious contraction of prices. Skelly was well bought around the highest price of the year. Coppers were quiet, sugars and equipments dull. U. S. treasury and liberty bonds were inactive but firm and commodity markets were slightly irregular.

U. S. WELCOMES BRITISH SHIP AT NICARAGUA

State Department Denies Resentment at London Move.

FRIENDLY ACTION

U. S. Marines Occupy Tiscapa Fortress, Leon, Chinandega.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. — The American government welcomes, rather than resents, the decision of the British government to dispatch a warship to Nicaraguan waters, according to all indications here today.

State department officials apparently regard the British act as constituting justification of their own position, which has been that the Nicaraguan situation is serious enough to warrant the dispatch of 5,000 marines and bluejackets to the little republic. And in the British government's careful explanation that no attempt will be made to land forces, they see still another admission on the part of the British that the Monroe doctrine is the established, respected policy in the western hemisphere.

Suggestions that the British decision may have been due in part to British dislike for the projected American-Nicaraguan protectorate treaty were dismissed by state department officials as far-fetched. They placed little credence in that theory.

MANAGUA, Feb. 25.—While American marines are now occupying the principal cities of Nicaragua, an army of 5,000 Diaz troops has set out from Matagalpas to give battle to the Liberal forces to the east of that city.

President Diaz has turned over the Tiscapa fortress to U. S. marines, who are also in occupation at Leon and Chinandega.

FIND INNOCENT MAN IN PRISON

Confessions of "Highway Terrorists" Exonerate Roy Bonar.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 25.—Roy Bonar, 21, of Newport, Ky., today was believed to be cleared of a robbery for which he is serving a 10-year sentence in the Frankfort, Ky., penitentiary.

Additional confessions of two members of Cincinnati's gang of "highway terrorists" convinced county authorities that Bonar was not guilty of robbing a Pleasant Hill, Ky., store keeper of $700, for which crime he was sentenced.

William Angilan, 28, Cincinnati, now awaiting trial on a murder charge in connection with the slaying last month of Mrs. Sherlie Glardon, during a highway robbery near here, and Gordon Lawrence, an admitted member of the gang who is facing numerous other robbery charges, admitted that they, with Howard Bonar, "pulled the job."

Roy Bonar, nephew of Howard, was not with them, they said.

Howard Bonar has been arrested and is being held here today on a charge of arson and for further investigation in connection with the robbery.

yond towers the snow covered mountains, the wealth of the Utah copper mines hidden in it. Moroni looks down on a lake so salty you cannot sink; four quarts of water evaporating leave one quart of salt.

Many things are as Brigham Young would have them and as he left them. The Angel Moroni doesn't suspect that the real authority below is the Federal Reserve bank, the gigantic copper mine on the mountain sides, and the big Union Pacific ocean, east to the land whence Brigham Young came so long ago.

FOR a small expense you can spend two days motoring through Death Valley on your way east or west, inspecting in safety the strangest place on earth, stopping over night at a modern inn, built on Furnace creek.

In Death Valley, you stand on the warm sand, far below the level of the Pacific, and look to the west, at the white top of Mount Whitney, highest peak in the United States.

THE trip must be made between October and the middle of May. In summer, Death Valley is the hottest place on earth, not fit for a tourist accustomed to roughing it on the rear end of an observation car. During the Death Valley season you have your comfortable automobiles, Death Valley Inn with swimming pool, electric light and bath for every room.

PROVIDENCE seems to have created Death Valley to prove that southeastern California has everything that anybody could want—you study brilliant colors of the appropriately named "Funeral Range" on the east, and to the west the tall Panamints, Uncle Sam's most precipitous mountain range, rising from the floor of Death Valley, more than 300 feet below sea level, to a height of 11,045 feet to the perpetual snow of Telescope Peak.

Picturesque and convincing are names of places in that valley, once the bed of an inland sea. Last Chance mountain and the Grapevine mountains close the southern end of the valley. The great Amargosa river of former times is dry. Gold, silver, copper, onyx are in those mountains. Many have died searching.

WHAT once were black molten streams of lava reache out into the desert, as they poured down from volcanoes, dead ages ago.

You walk over plains of salt a hundred feet deep, carefully avoiding alkali pools. Life is scarce there, a few snakes in summer, horned toads, the Chuckwalla lizard, eaten by the Panamint Indians. Above puzzled vultures soar, wondering why the automobile doesn't die, as donkeys and mules used to die in that desert, giving the vultures something to eat.

BRIEF and sufficient are the lines here and there on wooden tombstones, cracked by the heat, a name and "he ran out of water."

The Angel Gabriel has watched many struggles in that valley, when the temperature went to 140. No water within reach, desperate immigrants, prospecting in the valley, struggling panic-stricken to their death.

Traditions tell of Piute Indians, standing on the mountain side watching one party of white men fall and die, three hundred yards from a water hole. One survivor, Bennett, "struggling to a spring, found a ledge of pure silver, broke off a piece and when he reached civilization had it made into a rifle sight." Many have tried to locate that "gunsight ledge" of pure silver. You might find it.

Below Telescope peak you may see the "Devil's golf course." You couldn't walk over its jagged floor. Satan himself could hardly do that. Not far away is a beautiful date palm ranch, 178 feet below sea level. Anything will grow if you give it enough water.

AND across the Amargosa desert, you travel to the "Ghost city of Rhyolite." Once it had a population of more than 10,000, railroad stations, stores, dance halls, jail and church. All still stand at the foot of Bullfrog hill, church, jail, mills that ground up ore from the rich gold mine, all abandoned now. Musing on the ruins of an extince gold rush, you observe that there once was cheerfulness there in spite of jail and church, when you see one building built entirely of beer and champaigne bottles, emptied by enthusiastic pioneers, then used for building material.

THIS is an interesting country with the Angel Moroni guarding mountain ranges, marvelously fertile fields, all the climates and all the products of the earth.

Branch of Dallas Reserve Bank Will Go to San Antonio

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The federal reserve board today announced the establishment of a branch in San Antonio of the Dallas reserve bank. It will be opened after the McFadden branch banking bill is signed by the president.

CANTON TROOPS TAKE SUNKIANG, NEAR SHANGHAI

POWERS ON JOB

Foreign Allied Soldiers Take Field in Chief Seaport.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The Cantonese have captured Sunkiang, the last stronghold outside of Shanghai, according to a Shanghai dispatch to the Central News, as yet unconfirmed from other sources.

Loot Suburb of Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 25.—Soldiers of the Sun Chuan Fang armies in full retreat are reported to be looting in the suburbs of Shanghai.

Foreign troops have been placed at strategic points and may come in contact with these troops outside the limits of the international settlement.

Light guns have been placed in commanding positions in the international settlement and Italian and Japanese troops are giving support to the British.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 25.—A thin line of foreign allied troops took to the field today to protect Shanghai and its large foreign population while the maneuvering, warring Chinese military chieftains were preparing to fight it out among themselves to determine whether the northern or the southern faction shall control the city and its million dollars a month customs collections.

The British troops took up positions in the Jess Field district far beyond the southwest boundary of the international concession. Japanese military occupied similar positions in the northern Kiangwan district. The American marines are remaining aboard the United States war craft in the Yangtse river, but are prepared to land on a moment's notice.

As this dispatch is filed, Shanghai is protected on the south and west by the British, on the north by Japanese, and on the east by Italian troops. Numerous foreign warships in the Yangtse guard the river front.

Fengtien Troops Winning Race.

These precautions, a spokesman for the municipal government said, were a direct outgrowth of the arrival of Chang-Tso-Lin's Fengtien troops, whom the spokesman characterized as the worst troops in all China.

The Fengtien troops apparently are winning the race with the Cantonese for Shanghai. Five thousand additional Fengtien troops arrived this morning, bringing their total to 8,000.

General Pi Shou-Chen, governor of Tsingtau and commander of a division of the Fengtienites, in an interview today declared that at least 40,000 Fengtien troops will take the field against the Cantonese. He said a steady stream of these most efficient fighting men were pouring toward Shanghai.

"The Nationalists are faced with certain defeat," General Pi said. "Our operations were determined upon after the most careful planning. Moreover, we northerners are the best equipped soldiers in China, and are seasond campaigners."

Raining in Shanghai.

General Pi refused to disclose the Northerners' plans for the hostilities.

The Fengtien troops are virtually ignoring Sun Chuan-Fang's officers, the majority of whose loyalty is doubted. It is reported that the Nationalists offered General Li Pao-Chang, Shanghai defense commissioner, $200,000 to go over to the Cantonese. This offer is held largely responsible for the Fengtienites sudden rush toward Shanghai.

Shanghai was quiet today, drenched in a pouring rain. The general strike inaugurated last Saturday was virtually completely ended.

New Ultimatum Issued.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. — The American proposal for the neutralization of the Shanghai international settlement having failed of acceptance the diplomatic corps in Peking has issued a new ultimatum to the Chinese war lords to protect the lives and properties of foreigners in Shanghai, the state department announced today.

The edict warned the army chieftains "to take all measures necessary to avoid incidents which would constrain the foreign authorities themselves to take measures indispensable for securing the safety of the persons and property of their nationals."

McQUEEN'S RUN ROAD IMPROVEMENT PLAN TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEET TOMORROW IN WELLSVILLE CITY HALL

Mayor Fogo Calls Community Co-operative Conference.

ASK TRUCK AID

City May Furnish Slag; Suggest Vehicle Owners Haul it.

Efforts to effect the long sought improvement of the McQueen's Run road, through community co-operation, will be brought to a head at a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Wellsville city hall, when teamsters, truck drivers, coal men and others interested in the project will get together at the invitation of Mayor W. L. Fogo.

It is possible that a proposal whereby the city will furnish slag, with the wagon, truck men, farmers and others who use the road to a great extent hauling and distributing it.

The McQueen's Run road at present is in bad condition, seriously handicapping the operations of coal mines which send their product into the city by this route, as well as the farmers and others who use the road.

There are no ditches along the highway and, as a result, the road is covered a large part of the time with water and mud. It has received little or no attention for a number of years.

MRS. FRED WILSON HOSTESS TO CLUB

Fancywork and music were diversions. A two-course luncheon was served by the hostess, a pink and white color scheme being carried out.

Guests of the club included Mrs. George Fassett, this city, Mrs. Welch, of East Liverpool, and Mrs. James Smith, of Cleveland.

SAM GUDONO IS FINED $500

Third Street Man Arrested on Possession Charge.

Sam Gudona, Third street and Broadway, arrested last night by Patrolmen Cole, Pugh and Hickman, on a liquor charge, was in jail this morning under a fine of $500 and costs. Three other places also were raided, according to Chief Fultz, but no arrests made.

He is charged with possession.

When arraigned before Mayor W. L. Fogo last night, Gudona was fined $400 and costs.

When the mayor announced the fine, Gudona is alleged to have commented that "that fine not much."

Those four words cost Sam $25 each as the chief executive added another $100.

It was Gudona's second appearance in police court in the last two months.

The raiding party was compelled to force its way into the Gudona house. Gudona saw them come in and grabbed a glass jug said by police to have contained about a gallon of liquor. He dashed for a sink and was chased by Cole who prevented him from getting away with all of the evidence.

IRONDALE

The high school boys' basketball team will go to Steubenville Friday where they will take part in the Jefferson County Class B tournament. The team has worked hard this winter and managed to win half of the games played. Some games have been lost to considerably larger schools by a few points and the locals will go into the tournament trying to play up to their previous record.

The I. A. C. game with Amsterdam Tuesday night was cancelled on account of the visitors being unable to get through the snow bound roads.

Mrs. Thelma Luke, fifth grade teacher, was unable to assume her duties on Monday on account of illness.

Jenkins lodge No. 471, F. & A. M., held a special communication in the Masonic temple Tuesday evening. The M. M. degree was conferred and members from Wellsville, Toronto, New Somerset, Hammondsville and New Salisbury were present.

Harry Ferguson is suffering from a severe case of tonsilitis.

The Hammondsville school will hold a social in the school building Saturday evening.

Mrs. Elizabeth McBane, who was very seriously ill, is somewhat improved at present.

The Irondale Civic club held a meeting at the school gym Wednesday evening. Various matters for the improvement of the community were discussed.

Mrs. C. R. McFadden, who has been confined to her home on account of diphtheria, is rapidly recovering.

"Three Faces East," the next of the school's picture programs, will be shown at the school gym Monday, February 28. In connection with the feature picture an educational film, "Saving Coal at Home," will also be shown. "Three Faces East" is a thrilling drama of the secret service during the World war and is taken from a stage success by the same name. The picture was directed by Rupert Julien, who also plays the part of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany. Jetta Gouldal, Robert Ames and Clive Brook have the leading parts and Henry B. Walthall, of "Birth of a Nation" fame also has a role.

IRONDALE LOSES COURT BATTLE

The Irondale A. C. was defeated by the McCauslens, of Steubenville, 37 to 9, last night at Irondale. In the preliminary the Wellsville grade school team defeated the Irondale grade team, 16 to 11.

CHARLES GIVEN, AGED 65, DEAD

Lifelong Resident Here; Funeral to be Held Sunday.

Charles Stewart Given, 65 years old, lifelong resident of Wellsville, died this morning at 1 o'clock in the East Liverpool city hospital following an illness of complications.

He was born and reared here. For a number of years he was employed as an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad. In recent years he has been operating a restaurant and lunch room in Main street between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets.

His father, John B. Given, died three years ago at the age of 92 years.

Deceased is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Archer Freshwater of Painesville and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Eaby, of Long Beach, California; and Mrs. Homer Jackson, of Painesville.

Funeral services wil be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the D. N. MacLean chapel in Riverside avenue, in charge of Rev. Willis S. Rowe, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

POLICEMEN HERE GET NEW BADGES

Uniforms of Wellsville policemen today will be decorated with brand new badges.

Consignment of the insignia arrived by parcel post this morning at police headquarters and probably will be distributed some time today.

The badges are star shaped and are gold plated.

Stamped on the badge are the numerals, 1927. Any other badge, authorities announced today, should not be recognized. All regular policemen will receive the insignia.

FOUR DEPUTIES BAR TRAFFIC FROM HIGHWAY

Road Closed as Rock and Dirt Slide From Hilside.

DETOUR IN USE

Main Thoroughfare May be Closed Month or More.

With rock, dirt, logs and other debris constantly slipping on to the Wellsville-East Liverpool highway as a result of recent thaws and rains, the road has been definitely closed and may remain so for several weeks with four special deputy sheriffs on guard to bar all traffic. The deputies have been empowered to make arrests in event any attempt is made to break through the barriers.

"The road will not be re-opened to traffic until we are reasonably assured that it is safe," Rowland Kiltner, of the state highway department, announced today.

"The road may be closed for a month or even longer. As the campground road is improved its entire length, it is better to keep the main road closed than to run the risk of someone being killed or injured because of slides and rock falls."

By using the campground road detour, the distance is but a fraction of a mile farther than the main road, and under ordinary procedure about 10 minutes more is necessary to make the trip.

The state highway department, according to Kiltner, spent $2,700 in clearing the road last spring and summer.

This spring the department will face the necessity of not only cleaning off the highway but also of entirely resurfacing one section near Brady's "Cut," where the paving block was crushed in recently by a huge rock slide.

PHYSICIAN IS COURT VICTOR

Dr. A. C. Hoffmeister Wins First Round in Damage Action.

A verdict for the defendant was returned at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon by a jury in common pleas court No. 2 in the case of Herbert Salt against Dr. A. C. Hoffmeister, former Wellsville physician. The jury was locked up one hour and 20 minutes.

The plaintiff in this case was represented by Hill and Davidson of East Liverpool, while Hart and Koehler of Alliance had been retained by the defendant.

The plaintiffs sought 10,000 damages from the defendant as the result of the death of a child soon after it was born. After the verdict was read in open court, Attorney George E. Davidson announced that a motion would be filed for a new trial. The case occupied two days before Judge T. D. Price.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER NAMED

Congressman James T. Begg, thirteenth Ohio district, will deliver the chief address at high school commencement exercises on May 27.

Congressman Begg is a member of the house committee on foreign affairs at Washington.

CANTON TROOPS TO TAKE PEKING BY NEXT JULY

Southern Forces, Fight Way North Near Shanghai.

VICTORY LOOMS

Mid-summer May See Liberals in Control.

WASHINGTON. — Control of the Shanghai area, which now bids fair to fall into their hands, is the major objective on the program of the great Cantonese or Nationalist army which has fought its way out of the south of China in the last nine months.

The first goal in the drive northward was the Wuchang-Hankow sector on the Yanktze river, and this fell to the Cantonese with the capture of Wuchang on October 10 after a 40-day siege. The ultimate objective is Peking, which will carry with it control of all that part of China not included in Tibet and Mongolia, which are more or less independent, and Manchuria, which has been under the indirect influence of Japan although directly governed by Chang Tso-lin. If the southerners succeed in carrying out their program, they will be in Peking by July of this year and will then be in a position to treat with the foreign powers as the sole "central" government of China.

For the time being, however, the Cantonese are concerned with Shanghai, the occupation of which will give them control of the Yangtze valley, potentially one of the richest commercial and agricultural sections in the world, as well as control of the customs house there, which now yields a monthly revenue in excess of $4,000,000. Aside from these economic advantages the military position of the Cantonese will be considerably strengthened with Shanghai in their possession in that they can then prevent rival Chinese or foreign naval craft from passing up the Yangtze river, and they also will have wrested an important supply base from their enemies.

The Nationalist army is the direct heir of the Liberal movement which resulted in the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty in 1911 and the consequent establishment of the republic. That it has come out of the south is an accident of history; it could just as well have risen in almost any other section of China. But it was the faithful devotion of Sun Yat-Sen, provisional president of the first Republican government, that kept the idea of Nationalism alive after other revolutionary leaders had turned the republic to their own uses instead of adhering to the original intention of creating a new government for the benefit of the entire nation.

Sun's Three Principles.

Sun's home was in the south and he retired to Canton when Yuan Shih-kai, the first constitutional or regular president, set himself up as a virtual dictator. It was in Canton, therefore, the Sun began and for a number of years continued his agitation for the overthrow of the Peking administration. It was there also that he promulgated the "three principles of the people" for which the Cantonese army and the National People's Party are now fighting. These principles call for the feeling of China from foreign control, for the establishment of a democracy in the true sense of the word, and for improved labor conditions and better economic opportunities for the ordinary people.

Shortly before 1925 a military genius, Chiang Kai-shek, rose to prominence in Sun's army, having made the Whangpoa Military school at Canton the foremost institution of its kind in China. His reward was the command of the Nationalist army and in this capacity he established Canton's authority over the provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi. In the spring of 1926 he began his drive into the Yangtze valley, which brought about the capture of Wuchang and Hankow and is now being aimed at Shanghai.

A year ago another competent leader, Eugene Chen, joined the Nationalist party and was forthwith made foreign minister of the Canton government. Chen, graduate of Oxford university and originally a British subject, was previously editor of a Peking newspaper.

Among others who are playing prominent roles in the forward movement of Nationalism are Michael Borodin, advisor loaned to Canton by Soviet Russia; Sun Fo, son of Sun Yat-sen; Mrs. Sun Yat-sen; T. V. Soong, a Harvard graduate who is minister of finance; and as such increased the monthly revenue of his government from $750,000 to almost $5,000,000; and Wang Chung-wei, who reorganized the civil administration in the city of Canton and the province of Kwangtung.

With this leadership the Cantonese have pushed their way northward.

Wife Robs; He Cares for Baby.

While his wife wore his clothes and played the part of mail car bandit, a man, attired in skirts, cared for the baby at Fohndorf, near Vienna, recently. A gendarme was attracted by the movements of a lantern in a small car and as he approached it a woman wearing trousers leaped from the car and dashed across the snow-covered fields. When cornered she threatened the gendarme with a revolver, but was disarmed. Her husband, dressed in her clothes, was found, sitting along the roadside near the Fohndorf station and holding the baby. The woman is a former subordinate postal officer. Before the arrival of the gendarme she had forced the mail sorter at the point of a revolver to barricade himself in a cupboard of the car.

Swift Justice

Justice moves swiftly in municipal court at Kansas City, Mo., when Miss Sophia Ann Riley, the city's first woman prosecutor, handles affairs. Appointed by the mayor as assistant prosecutor Miss Riley stepped in and disposed of nearly a hundred cases recently in record time. Then she turned from the bench and powdered her nose. She has received the appointment as private secretary to Representative George H. Coombs, new member of Congress from Missouri.

OVER-CROWDED OHIO PRISONS ACUTE PROBLEM

State Penitentiary Now "Running Over" With Criminals.

ACTION SOUGHT

Warden Calls Condition Dangerous to Human Life.

COLUMBUS, O.—With the Ohio state penitentiary literally "running over"—housing 200 more than its rated maximum capacity of 3,000 men—and workhouses and county jails overflowing with prisoners, as an apparently unending stream pours into the state prison, Ohio has become acutely concerned with its criminological problem.

A flood of bills designed to meet various phases of the situation has resulted in the state legislature, now in session, and the legislators are giving a major part of their time to intensive study to the problem, with the hope of alleviating conditions.

Governor Vic Donahey, at the urgent request of Warden Preston E. Thomas, has recommended appropriations totalling nearly $400,000 for emergency construction of additional cells and equipment at the state prison plants.

Dangerous Condition.

Conditions at the penitentiary are described by the warden as "actually dangerous to human life." Prisoners are sleeping on cots in the corridors, in the boiler room, in the basement and in every out-of-the-way cranny in which a few army cots can be set up. Double decked bunks have been built and set up in the dormitory cell tiers, and the hospital is filled with able-bodied prisoners who are not ill, but for whom no other place to sleep can be found.

Meanwhile, half a dozen measures dealing with the criminal problem—many of which probably would have the effect of increasing the prison population—are pending in the legislature with some standing a good chance of passage by the present session, it is said.

One of these bills, copied from the widely discussed Baumes law of New York, would automatically sentence habitual criminals, previously convicted of felony offenses three times to prison for life. Others would classify robbery in various degrees, providing a graduated scale of imprisonment for robberies of various degrees. The present all-inclusive law carries a penalty of ten or twenty-five years for any character of robbery.

Other Measures.

Warden Thomas has espoused a "minimum indebtedness sentence" law, which would permit the release of prisoners convicted of many crimes at the discretion of parole or prison officials, after they had served a minimum sentence.

Still another bill which has been recommended for passage by the prison committee would classify all prisoners under five general heads—chronic offenders, subnormal offenders, insane offenders, abnormal offenders, casual offenders—and provides for scientific examination of all prisoners to determine in which classification they belong. It would authorize scientifically determined handling and treatment of the different classes of offenders.

MISSION SOCIETY MEETING TONIGHT

Members of the Young Women's Missionary society of the Second United Presbyterian church will meet tonight at 7:45.

Miss Lucille Thomas will have charge of the devotionals. Mesdames J. B. Elliott, H. C. Hamilton and R. A. Woomer will be the hostess.

Glee Club Concert.

Concert will be given by the Koppel Glee club in the Tabernacle Church of Christ next Friday evening, March 4. Silver offering will be taken.

Notice.

All members of local union No. 24 are requested to be present at regular business meeting, Tuesday, March 1. Refreshments will be served at close of meeting.

ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

Callouses

Quick, safe, sure relief from painful callouses on the feet.

At all drug and shoe stores

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads

Put one on—the pain is gone

The half-a-day man

FOR months he had hated to face it. . . . He was slipping. Losing out. He who once had shown such shining promise! His old-time vigor had gone. Ambition, itself! What had happened? He seemed to grow weary before the day was half-way through! What curse was beggaring his life?

Constipation blights many a bright career. It destroys initiative. It weakens the body and leads to disease after disease. Yet, constipation can be relieved—safely, permanently. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to give relief!

Why part-bran products are ineffective

Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100% bran. They know that 100% bran means 100% results! Here is why:

ALL-BRAN carries through the system moisture which its "bulk" absorbs. And it gently distends the intestines—cleansing, removing wastes. ALL-BRAN contains sufficient "bulk" to perform this work—because it is 100% bran. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is too small to be entirely effective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

Don't risk dangerous drugs

ALL-BRAN works as nature does. How different from pills and drugs whose dose must be constantly increased.

Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Let it soak a few moments to bring out its nut-like flavor. Mix it with other cereals. Use it in soups. Try the recipes on every package.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original 100% bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Comes ready to eat. Sold by all grocers. Served by hotels, restaurants. On diners.

No other low-priced six will ever give you this

It is not beyond the realms of possibility that some day there will be offered a newly created six, closely approximating in basic design and price the Pontiac Six as introduced a year ago.

Whoever builds it will be deserving of great credit. For the Pontiac Six resulted from the combined efforts of Oakland and General Motors engineers, using the matchless discoveries of the General Motors Research Staff and the matchless facilities of the General Motors Proving Ground.

But even if that car does make its appearance, it will lack one powerful inducement to ownership that is of paramount importance in contemplating the Pontiac Six:

Its design and construction will not be conclusively proved by millions of miles of actual service in the hands of thousands of owners. And that is essential, even in a car which was tested and developed as the Pontiac Six was for over three years prior to its announcement!

Design and construction so convincingly demonstrated means more than the elimination of fundamental weaknesses. It means peace of mind from one year's end to the other—and that is what buyers have a right to get, no matter how much or how little they pay!

Pontiac Six, $825 to $975. Oakland Six, companion to Pontiac Six, $1025 to $1295. All prices at factory. Bodies by Fisher. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BRUINS ENJOY SMOKE IN KANSAS

HUTCHINSON, Kansas, Feb. 25. — The Cubs stuck their heads out of the windows today as they rolled through Kansas and for the first time in many seasons smoked their cigarettes with all the liberty of American citizens.

The recent restoration of smoking privileges by the state legislature gave the boys a long awaited opportunity to make faces at the disconsolate "blue-noses."

The Cubs are enroute to Catalina Island to begin spring training.

Percy Jones, the Bruins' outstanding lefthander and a holdout, failed to show up when the troupe breezed into Kansas City early this morning.

Coach Jimmy Burke, Pitcher Jack Welch and First Baseman Charley Grimm were picked up at Kansas City.

China has a duck-feather shortage.

CHICAGO TRIMS ROSENBLUM FIVE

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The Rosenblums, Cleveland's professional basketball aggregation, were smarting under a severe sting to their championship pride today as a result of being played off their feet in a game with the Chicago Bruins here last night. The bears won, 29 to 23. Homer Stonebreaker, Bruin forward, led the parade by tossing nine consecutive field goals. He also scored three of Chicago's four baskets from the field.

New Range May Contain Gold.

Mountains which are believed to contain some of the richest gold in Australia have just been named by Michael Terry, a twenty-eight-year-old explorer of England, who discovered them a little more than a year ago. Terry was recently authorized by the government of West Australia to give the range a title, and he decided to call it the Dummer Range after Dummer Hall, Basingstroke, his family home. The range is about eight miles long, and is about 300 miles east of Broome, the pearl-fishing center on the Australian coast. It is believed that they are a continuation of the Cummins Range, which contains some of the richest gold deposits in the country.

Uganda Will Celebrate.

Uganda is preparing to celebrate the semi-centennial of the arrival of missionaries in that country. The anniversary is to be commemorated in Africa by a great thanksgiving service and a pageant of past and present Uganda. Meantime Dr. J. J. Willis, Bishop of Uganda, is making a tour of Great Britain to tell the story of his country. Radio broadcasting is a feature of this travels. Missionaries were sent from Britain to that part of Africa fifty years ago at the invitation of Mutesa, the King of Uganda, which was conveyed to England by Henry M. Stanley, the explorer, who had a prominent part in the opening of that wilderness. They arrived June 30, 1876. Mutesa was succeeded by Mwanga, who caused the death of many missionaries. Today there are 300,000 Christians in Uganda.

Girl Bags First White Rat.

Kitty Jarvis, who claims to be the only girl rat catcher in England, where there are millions of the rodents, has caught her first white rat. Her father, who has been trapping the animals all his life, says he never saw a pure white wild rat before, and the family, who dates its lineage back through 200 years of vermin apprehension, is wondering whether the catch is a sign of good or back luck. Meanwhile the white visitor is kept at the Jarvis home in Camberwell, scurrying about its cage like an imprisoned tiger. Kitty is so tender hearted that she does not like to sell the rats for experimental purposes. Her mother claims to be the only woman rat catcher in the country.

This whole-grain food

brings extra flavor—extra nourishment

The natural, unspoiled flavor of the whole grain—that's what makes a bowl of Mother's Oats taste so good. It cooks so smoothly, too—and you can always count on it being the same.

For the careful millers of Mother's Oats have learned how to make oats finer—smoother—more uniform—through 50 years of experience.

Children notice the difference at once.

And mothers are especially glad to see their growing children enjoy this nourishing breakfast. They know how child health specialists are urging the whole grains these days.

Mother's Oats with milk makes a liberal contribution of vitamins—minerals—protein and other elements that are necessary for sound and perfect development.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, good for silverware and many other handsome articles.

"Run Down?" You Need Stimulation

This Scientific Method Renews Vitality and Nerve Force

The whole energy and vitality of the body depend on what you get out of your food. If the glands of your digestive organs are not doing their work properly, you are bound to feel "run down," tired all the time, with no ambition and no enjoyment in life.

Scientific stimulation of the glands of your stomach and mouth and other vital organs will bring back vigor to your whole system.

A remarkable stimulant-tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat—feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy.

To Brides—

Who Want Him to Say: "These Biscuits Are Just Like Mother's"

THERE are many ways to win a husband, but to keep him—be sure to satisfy his appetite! Give him food he likes—golden-top biscuits light as a feather; luscious pies with flaky, tender crust; delicious fresh bread.

Made-Rite is the Bride's ideal flour because it doesn't need the skill and attention demanded by other flours for perfect baking. Remember this—good bread and pastries require flour with a flavor—flour that is accommodating, that doesn't chain you to bake board and oven.

Made-Rite Flour has both these superior qualities because only selected hard winter wheat that produces them is ever used for milling.

For three generations—since way back in Grandmother's day—Made-Rite Flour has been a family favorite. It is of uniform high quality—every sack is the same—as good as flour can be made. Include a sack in your grocery order today!

Antlers Hang Up Second Straight Victory Over Damascus

Rout Quaker Quint In 43-19 Tilt Here; 600 Watch Contest

Lippe-Shuppe-Wilde Scoring Combination Too Smooth for First Half Champions; Local Guards Make Foes Take Long Chances.

Playing before a crowd of between 600 and 700 fans who must have used shoe horns or some miraculous means of getting into the high school gymnasium, the East Liverpool Elks last night trampled the Damascus Quakers in the final meeting of the two teams on the season's regular schedule. The first half champions looked bad under a score of 43 to 19.

The crowd was the biggest of the season for any basketball game here and probably will be equalled only once during the year—that probably when the high school plays here Saturday night.

Under the depressive influence of the brilliant performance of Powell's youngsters, the Quakers perspired and could get nowhere own in "the pit," while the crowd, for no reason at all except that it was terribly hot, perspired all around the top rows of seats, and their collars as well, and wouldn't go anywhere if they could.

With Lippe, Shupe and Wilde fooling the visiting lads up around the basket where the East Liverpool field goals were dropping in and Anderson and McConville, and then Pusey, keeping Firth, Grice and Oesch shooting from the middle of the floor, the contest produced an ending extremely satisfactory to local enthusiasts who now envisage the Purple and White passers in the championship series at the end of the season.

Lippe and Shupe, the phantom forwards, were as elusive as a collar button under the bureau, but their field goals and the points they piled up, along with those of Center Ray Wilde, were amply substantial.

If a futurisic painting could be made of the game it would show a lot of little zig-zag lines all over the canvass—Shupe and Lippe cutting in and out, backward and forward, always on the move; then a series of bold straight lines starting from around the middle and converging to a common point—that's Wilde and the common point is the basket (he got there seven times); and then two more big dashes in sturdy, outstanding tone, ebbing backward and forward, pushing outward always—the guards, Anderson, McConville and then Pusey, repulsing the oncoming attack which rarely got beyond the foul line.

The defense must not be lost sight of in the brilliance cast over the scene by the three scorers. Damascus had a half dozen or less under-the-basket chances, and how! Grice was mowed down with not a single field goal.

Firth, the Alliance youngster, caged a couple of long distance attempts. The Giant Oesch, at center, apparently was too engrossed with marveling at the activities of Ray Wilde. Captain Kyser came up for three field goals and finished as the Quakers' high point man for the night. Nigel got into the game in the final quarter and got one field goal.

"Take-it easy" Lippe corraled a quartet of field goals in the first half and Wilde made three. In the second half Wilde tagged the meshes four times, bringing the crowd to its feet on several occasions with a wild "Hey" that could be heard for a block as he dashed down the court. Shupe sank two and Lippe and Wilson, who got into the game in the final period one apiece. Captain Anderson snagged one bucket and Tommy Pusey, who relieved McConville at guard, scored three times from scrimmage.

The passing of the Antlers surpassed their performance at Damascus. It was so accurate and so effective that it became methodical. They did it as though they had planned every move a couple of weeks ago.

Three field goals and two fouls represented the Damascus scoring in the first half.

The Elks went out in the opening quarter and picked up 11 points with Lippe and Wilde collaborating in the production. One field goal by Kyser gave the visitors two points for that particular quarter.

The count went to 18-8 at the half. A field goal apiece by Oesch and Kyser and fouls of Grice and Oesch brought the Damascus score up half a dozen points. Anderson and Shupe contributed fouls to the Elks' score. Lippe finished the half with four two-pointers and Wilde three.

The Elks had a big inning in the third period. The Quakers folded up like a tent. The locals made 17 points in the period and the visitors seven.

In a free scoring game at Salem last night Tom Cartwright's Salineville team was defeated by a score of 57 to 42.

SHARKEY MAY BE NEXT FOR TUNNEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, was in town today, discussing this and that. He believes that either Jack Sharkey or Jim Maloney will be Tunney's next opponent, probably Sharkey. Gibson is of the opinion that Sharkey will beat Maloney if the two Boston fighters should meet.

What about Dempsey?

Gibson thinks Gene would have but little difficulty with any of the challengers.

Tunney will join Gibson here next week. His theatre tour ends in San Diego, and then, according to Gibson, Gene will go into training in April or May.

FORMER DETROIT CATCHER DEAD

DETROIT, Feb. 25. — Thousands mourned the death today of Charles W. Bennett, 72, veteran catcher of Detroit's only championship team. He had been seriously ill since last November.

Bennett led the National league in fielding for 10 seasons, a record never surpassed.

Bennett was born in New Castle, Pa., in 1854. After playing semi-pro ball for a while he signed with the Milwaukee club and remained with this outfit until 1879 when he joined the Worcester club of the National league.

Scarlet Fever Hits Marysville School; No Tourney Games

MARYSVILLE, O., Feb. 25.—Scarlet fever scored its first victory here today in the state basketball high school tournament when the Union county health board passed resolutions prohibiting the team of the York township centralized school from taking part in the first elimination games Saturday. Twenty-five students, it is reported, are quarantined because of the disease.

TAYLOR WINS 10-ROUND GO

By Gene Hoffman.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Bud Taylor, the Terre Haute "terrier," who rates in certain parts of the United States the title of bantamweight champion of the world, had added new laurels to his geographical reputation today by virtue of a decisive victory of Eddie Shea, Chicago Italian featherweight, in the ten-round feature event of Jim Mullen's $40,000 show at the Coliseum last night.

Taylor was awarded the judge decision at the end of ten stirring rounds that were chuck full of solid, toe-to-toe fighting. There may have been more spectacular fight in the ancient old Coliseum, but few that contained more action. The boys were at it every minute. Both were on their feet at the end and both were very tired.

Taylor was slow starting. Shea's early aggressiveness indicated that he was in for a heavy evening, but the Terre Haute mauler soon got Eddie's range and from the fifth round on he piled up such a lead that nothing but a knockout would overcome. Shea tried for that blow, but Taylor was too foxy for him.

Bud kept a trip-hammer left jabbering on Eddie's face with merciless regularity. Shea could not escape it. At the final gong the Italian's face was a bleeding mass of bruises. Shea's best round was the second when he had Taylor shaking from a series of blows that brought the claret from Bud's nose and mouth.

SPANIARD-DANE CLASH IN RING

Uzcudun and Hansen Battle Tonight at Garden.

By Sid Mercer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—No betting coups or ticket scandals are attached to the fistic offering tonight at the Garden and yet there is an undercurrent of opinion that the encounter between Paolino Uzcudun, the Spanish heavyweight, and Knute Hansen, the melancholy Dane from Minnesota, will provide some thrills that were missing when Jack Delaney and Jimmy Maloney collided last week.

The light betting is explained by the fact that there is no line on Paolino's rating in American heavyweight society. The boys cannot classify him. They know he is rugged, can take a punching and is always charging his man. He is a short, squat individual whose back muscles, developed by wood chopping, give him tremendous hitting power in his short arms. The basque is no boxer but when he gets close he is said to be a wicked body punisher.

The Spaniard is credited with the possession of a great fighting heart. In many of his fights he has had to endure a cruel shellacking before his endurance and stamina carried him through to victory. Hansen is taller than Paolino and has a longer reach. He also can hit but his gameness is questioned. If Knute gets away to a good start he may win easily. If he permits Paolino to take the play away from him, he may look as bad as he did against Franz Diener.

600 Will Compete In Illinois Relay

Athletes From 69 Schools Attend Indoor Meet.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 25.—Preparations were complete here today to accommodate more than 600 athletes representing 69 universities, colleges and high schools, who will compete in the tenth annual Illinois indoor relay carnival at the university tomorrow.

College and high school relays, all around championship and preliminary contests in the dashes and hurdles will be held in the afternoon, in the Illini armory. Four university relays and ten special events will be held at night in conjunction with three special races. These will draw Loren Murchison, of the I. A. C., and R. A. Robb, Scottish intercollegiate dash champ, in a 75-yard dash; Dan Kinsey, Olympic champion against Chick Werner, former Illinois star, and "Phin" Guthrie, Ohio State olympic point winner, in two hurdle races of 65 yards each over the high and low barriers.

SENIOR TOURNEY FIELD NARROWS

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 25.—Four favorites today still had a chance at the annual Seniors' golf championship laurels when they started in the semi-finals.

George J. Gillespie, of New York, was paired with Edward Tredennick, of Meridan, Conn., and C. L. Schoonover, of Warren, O., was matched with N. B. Hersloff, of New York.

Gillespie eliminated C. S. Strut, medalist, of Biddeford, Me., 2 and 1, while Tredennick won from G. W. Statezell, of Drexel Hill, Pa., 3 and 1.

Schoonover put J. X. Jamison, of Greensburg, Pa., out of the running, 2 and 1, after trailing over the first nine, and Hersloff advanced through a victory over S. Y. Ramage, of Oil City, Pa., 7 and 6.

RECHT DEFEATS BENNETT, 25-21

Newest Umpire

Lou Jorda, above, umpire in the Southern League for several seasons, has been added to the umpiring staff of the National League. The Southern circuit sent Bill Brennan, "Steamboat" Johnson, Cy Pfirman, Bill McGowan and several other arbiters up.

High Five To Play At Chaney Tonight

Locals Make Last Trip Prior to Sectional Tourney Games; Salem Here Saturday.

Coach N. F. Lorah and his high school basketeers will take their final trip of the campaign, prior to the New Concord sectional tournament, tonight to Youngstown where they will tangle with Chaney in a return engagement.

The Blue and White had little difficulty in trimming the Youngstown aggregation here in an early season encounter but expect to find the going a little more rough tonight, with the west side lads showing a greatly improved form over their efforts of the first section of the season.

Chaney surprised them Wednesday night, however, by losing a 23 to 9 decision to Youngstown East after having been doped to win.

The Chaney outfit had played heads-up basketball against both Sharon and Rayen, losing both games by small margins.

The locals will tackle Salem high school in the biggest event of the scholastic schedule here tomorrow night.

On next Wednesday they will leave for New Concord and the sectional high school tournament.

TOO MUCH WORK FOR BUC HURLERS

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 25.—Lee Meadows and Johnny Morrison, pitchers, were the first casualties of the Pittsburgh Pirates spring training camp here. Both "opened up" too much during the initial workout, and were retired to the bench with cases of stomach attack. Today the Pirate trainers turned their attention to the rookies among whom are said to be some unusually promising youngsters.

Parties in Baltimore owning one of the largest deposits of clay in the State of Maryland covering approximately 1200 acres and consisting of a number of valuable grades for fire and building brick, building and hollow tile and sewer pipe, desire to get into communication with some established and responsible firm which would consider locating on the property for the manufacture of hollow tile and sewer pipe.

This property is situated on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad halfway between Baltimore and Washington, and also on the W. B. & A. electric railway between the two cities, affording exceptional shipping opportunities.

There is practically an unlimited local market for all the tile and drain pipe which could be produced and the saving of freight alone from the present sources of supply to these cities would in itself guarantee a large profit to the local manufacturer. Abundance of labor, cheap coal, ample water supply and unequaled shipping facilities are added advantages.

LONDON BUILDS $12,500,000 IN MOVIE HOUSES

Picture Theatres to Have Dance Halls Attached.

LOUNGES, CAFES

Big Banker Groups Take Interest in Amusement.

LONDON.—More than $12,500,000 will be spent in constructing new motion picture houses in London, and reconstructing one or two old ones.

Additional 52,890 seats for movie fans will be provided before the end of the summer.

Some of these new houses will have dance halls attached. The majority will be provided with full facilities for the presentation of variety shows as well as pictures; most will have luxurious tea lounges and cafes.

The old type of motion picture house is out of business in London nowadays. Bankers and powerful syndicates have now taken his place. One big group of stock exchange men has just negotiated for the sale in block of 80 picture theatres scattered over the country. A London firm of merchant bankers, Ostrer Brothers, has just bought fifteen theatres belonging to the Biocolor circuit for $3,500,000.

Bankers Interested.

This same firm of banker brothers have also, it is reported, been negotiating for the purchase of the Capitol theatre, owned by Sir Walter Gibbons, who asked a price of $3,000,000. Famous Players-Lasky company, which owns the wonderful new Plaza theatre at Piccadilly Circus are also said to have been making a bid for this beautiful new building.

The day of the big motion picture theatre, seating 3,000 to 4,000 people has now definitely arrived in London. The best confirmation of this is that the Lindon city council, in issuing yearly licenses, have made it clear that the small movie show must go.

This governing body of London looks kindly on the big cinema in the suburbs, which, in its language is becoming an "important communal rendezvous." In the big houses every modern requirement for safety can be carried out; many of the small older ones are incapable of being altered to modern conditions.

Large Capacities.

Moreover with the increased cost of films, no house providing adequate pictures and decent music can be made to pay with a seating capacity of under 2,000.

The most interesting of the new building schemes is that of the New Empire Cinema, which is to be erected on the site of the famous old Empire theatre in Leicester square. It will be financed by British and American money for the exploitation, chiefly, of the films made by the American Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer corporation, which already controls the magnificent Tivoli theatre in the Strand.

The New Empire will be ready next Christmas and will accommodate 3,000 persons at a cost of $1,500,000. Within a year six other "super" theatres will also be opened in the West End area of London.

Single-strand barbed wire is being introduced in Germany.

A railway to connect Montevideo and Colonia, Uruguay, is proposed.

FINAL EDITION

ABOLISH CITY SCHOOL PLAN OF EXAMINATION

Grades of Pupils Will be Determined by Recitations.

KNOWLEDGE TESTS

Promotion by Probation Also is Decided Upon.

Following the example of larger cities, monthly and semester examinations have been abolished in East Liverpool district schools.

Grades of pupils are determined by daily recitations. Examination grades will not enter into the deciding final standings.

Until this year the credit received in daily recitations were considered as two-thirds and the examination grade one-third in computing the final average.

According to Superintendent C. S. McVay, written examinations at the end of the school year have been abolished in Cleveland, Youngstown and other large cities.

Along with the elimination of written examinations a promotion by probation plan has also been put into effect. Pupils believed to be far in advance of the grade in which they are enrolled may be promoted on probation at any time during the school year instead of waiting until the end of the term.

Intelligence tests are now being conducted in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades Bright pupils will be in one class and those with a lesser degree of intelligence will be in another group. By separating the pupils teachers will be enabled to give their personal attention to those who need help and not retard others.

"CIRCUS DAY" AT CERAMIC

Viola Dana Stars in "Bigger Than Barnum's.

It's Circus Day" at the Ceramic theatre, where all the entertaining quantities of the big top and the sawdust arena save the smell are present to prove anew the thrill and compelling interest of motion pictures dealing with this colorful, dramatic phase of human life. For "Bigger Than Barnum's," unqualifiedly one of the best circus pictures ever recorded in celluloid, opened there yesterday to a crowded house, which received this F. B. O. production, first of the new year's crop of Gold Bond Specials, with unrestrained enthusiasm.

"Bigger Than Barnum's" has the three ingredients of a fine show — a rattling good story, a splendid cast, and corking direction. Ralph Ince, indeed, doubling in brass as director and villain with nothing up either sleeve, has turned out a picture with punch, and a surging flow of melodrama broken at just the right times by comedy touches. Viola Dana is her usual charming and capable self as the little high-wire walker. Ralph Lewis invests the role of her partner, getting too old for the dangerous work on the high wire, with that realism and sincerity which is his forte. George O'Hara is a fine hero, and Ince lends a delightful touch of comedy to the heavy part of Ravella, the loud-talking slack wire acrobat who wears his heart on his sleeve little knowing that it isn't much of a decoration at best. The business of making the villian human, too, is a particularly excellent touch not often found in melodramatic circles.

Arthur Guy Empey, who wrote the story, is to be congratulated on the material and the originality of his subject matter, while J. Grubb Alexander has done a brilliant job in translating the story to the screen. The fire scenes toward which the drama climbs in a steady, breath-taking sweep, are sensational in the extreme, with the situation on the wire-stretched to the burning hotel one of the most thrilling seen in many a pale moon.

Church Grows During Exodus.

While homes of many parishioners are being moved away, the congregation of Christ Church, of Sydney, Australia, is growing, says Rev. Frank Cash, the pastor. Holding services at 8 o'clock in the morning instead of at 11, is the reason for the growth, he declares. The church is on Lavender Bay, and entire blocks of houses are being demolished for the new Harbor Bridge works, hundreds of members of the church having to find homes elsewhere, but the congregations recently have been the largest in the history of the church. Rev. Cash says that 11 o'clock is not a suitable hour in the hot climate of Sydney. Evening services also are being well attended.

FULL PAY
Let this NATURAL Remedy Keep You Fit

KEEP fit—and your pay envelope will look after itself. When your stomach gets lazy—and stomachs do get that way once in a while—the waste matter collects, ferments, and poisons your system; and then comes s' ort time!

Don't wait until then—get some Dillingham's Plant Juice today, and KEEP fit.

Plant Juice is just the juice of those medicinal herbs, leaves, blossoms, barks and roots into which Nature has put definite corrective properties. It is pleasant to take, and gently, without pain or discomfort, it will MAKE your liver and bowels do what Nature intended. See what Mrs. Elizabeth Reed of 211 Cody Street, Evansville, Ind. says about this more than thirty years old remedy:

"Plant Juice has done me so much good that I am sure this is just the thing I should have had years ago. I suffered from indigestion, constipation, and nervousness for 26 years. Nothing I ate agreed with me. I was in a terrible condition, and suffered constantly with bloating pains just at the bottom of my ribs in the small of my back, and up under my shoulder blades. Now I eat anything I want and have no trouble. Plant Juice surely has done wonders for me."

What's What in Washington

DAWES PROVES HIS JOB'S GOOD FOR GETTING OPINIONS HEARD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—When Charles G. Dawes was elected vice president there's no doubt he made up his mind to use the job as a means of booming himself for first place on the Republican ticket in 1928.

CHARLES DAWES

Any experienced politician could have told him it couldn't be done, but Dawes has accomplished the impossible.

He may not be nominated, certainly, but he's in the running, and nobody ever was able to make that claim so near the end of a vice presidential term before.

PRESIDENTIAL deaths have advanced several vice presidents to the White House, to be sure, but that was accident, and even with the advantage of the executive mansion as a taking off place, none of these individuals ever managed to get a nomination to succeed himself, until President Roosevelt's day.

Once a vice president, always a nobody, had been the invariable verdict prior to the epoch of the precedent smashing Teddy.

The colonel was a rare personality. Though McKinley had lived out his second term, maybe Roosevelt would have been presidential timber at the end of it, but it's no cinch. Politicians all think McKinley's death was the lucky thing that gave him his chance.

It's quite generally agreed that Coolidge never would have been anything higher than vice president if Harding hadn't died. It's no reflection on the president, but just a conclusion drawn from history.

DAWES saw some good cards in the vice presidential hand that all his predecessors seem to have missed.

He saw that, while a vice president has next to no political influence, he's conspicuous enough to attract attention when he talks, and he's talked industriously, in that Helen Maria style of his, thus establishing a reputation for himself as a public character with lots of punch and virility.

He saw that, while a vice president can't vote in the senate except on ties, of which there aren't many, he can take sides and claim credit for it, and yet nobody can pull the record on him and blame him for voting so-and-so.

Ties? The only time Dawes has been called to vote on a tie, it will be remembered that he was home, slumbering.

Other vice presidents have mourned because they had no choice in legislation. Dawes has made an asset out of it.

IN no instance has Dawes played both ends against the middle more skilfully than on the McNary-Haugen farm relief and Pepper-McFadden banking bills.

The mid-western farmers didn't think much of the Pepper-McFadden bill but they were willing to forgive anybody anything, provided he favored the McNary-Haugen proposition. The eastern financial interests disapproved heartily of the McNary-Haugen bill but were prepared to overlook its indorsement by anyone who regarded the Pepper-McFadden measure benevolently.

Dawes was equally pro-McNary-Haugen and Pepper-McFadden.

If he'd had to vote for or against the two bills or sign or veto them, it wouldn't have been so easy, but it was necessary for him to be merely sympathetic toward both of them. He couldn't have been more so.

CONSEQUENTLY you hear the vice president well spoken of in the most conflicting groups.

He isn't as Helen Maria-ish in his actual contacts as he sounds, to read about him. On the contrary, he's a mild mannered person, with an affable smile, and, now that they're used to him, a very popular presiding officer in the senate.

He also shows indications of being an extraordinary slick lone-handed politician.

"You never can tell," remarked the fellow who lives next door on the way downtown this morning. "I once knew a fellow who passed an intelligence test splendidly and then went right off and got married."—Marion Star.

WAS PUNISHED EVERY TIME

"For several years I suffered from catarrh. Beginning in a small way it spread through my whole body, checking its activities. Finally my stomach got so bad I had to nurse it all the time, and was punished every time I ate good solid food.

Worried About the Kids.

"Of course my work suffered. I thought I would have to give up my job, and what to become of mother and the kids worried me all the time. Then one evening I heard of Health Evangelist Dyar's talks. Its good sense appealed to me so strongly that I took home a bottle of World's Tonic. I began to feel better in three days, and kept right on getting better, until in about four weeks I knew I was well. You can't imagine the relief! I stopped worrying, got to work with real pep, and have no signs whatever of catarrh. That's why I recommend World's Tonic to everybody now."

Mr. R. B. Bad, 244 N. 8th St., Steubenville.

You may have the same experience! World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's; also Brannon, Wellsville, and all other reliable druggists. (206)

Held for Alleged Blackmail.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25. — Frank Nelson, 30, was held by police on a suspicion charge, following what the police alleged was an attempt to blackmail W. H. Tompkins, of Columbus. Nelson gave his home as Los Angeles. According to police, they arrested Nelson after two detectives, posing as clerks at the statehouse, had caught him receiving $15 of marked money from Tompkins. The latter charged that Nelson posed as a detective, "arrested" Tompkins, but agreed to "hush the matter up" for a cash payment.

STATE TO SHARE IN BORER FUND

West Virginia will be alloted a share of the money appropriated by congress to fight the spread of the corn borer which has resulted in a heavy loss to agriculturists in various parts of the country. The fund will be distributed under the direction of the federal agricultural department at Washington.

Traces of the borer were discovered in Hancock and other northern panhandle counties last fall by agents of the federal bureau. Quarantine will be placed during the coming summer in the invested areas.

Eight to Graduate.

Graduating class of the Grant district high school will be composed of five boys and three girls. Commencement exercises will be held Friday, May 20, in one of the Newell churches.

Rehearsal Tonight.

Members of the cast that will appear in the Homer Laughlin minstrel show to be staged at the Ceramic theatre on Monday evening, March 14, will hold another rehearsal tonight in the Eagles auditorium, East Liverpool.

SPELLING BEE IS SCHEDULED HERE

Newell and Grant district school students are preparing for the preliminary spelling contest which will be held in the Newell building on Friday, April 8.

Winners in the various districts of the county will meet in the finals in the First National bank building, Chester, Friday, April 15.

Three prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded the winners by the Hancock County Building and Loan company of Chester.

Gasoline Substitute Shown.

An alcohol mixture said to be capable of replacing gasoline in engines of automobiles and possibly of aeroplanes, has been developed by the Warsaw Polytechnic Institute and is attracting much attention in Poland. It is said that required adjustments in the engine for use of the mixture are slight, and in many ways the new liquid is superior to gasoline. No alcohol fit for beverage purposes can be separated from the mixture even by fractional distillation. As the price of each of the ingredients, except ether and bezol, is less than that of gasoline, the mixture could be made cheaper than gasoline, it is claimed by the institute.

"Peaches," Back Home, Denies Infatuation For Donald Brett

Alone, in his stateroom, he said: "She is everything in the world to me."

Fearing the wrath of his parents who were at the pier to meet the St. George which brought Peaches and Brett, he was unable to say farewell to her.

"I suppose I'll never be able to say goodbye to her," he said. Then to a reporter he pleaded:

"Won't you say goodbye to her for me? She's a good girl and an inspiration to me."

Laugh and the world laughs with you. Cry and people think you want to borrow some money.—Defiance Crescent-News.

percentage basis, there being but a difference of some 300,000.

The growth we have already made this decade, or will have made by the first of next July, according to the Census Bureau estimate, approximates 13,000,000 as has been stated. That is almost twice the population of the Netherlands or Belgium, more than double that of Sweden, almost equal that of Czechoslovakia, Egypt, or the Turkish republic, and only a little more than a million less than that of Mexico. It almost equals the combined populations of Argentina and Chile, and exceeds the total of Uruguay, Venezuela, Peru, Paraguay, Guatemala, and Ecuador, if they were all added together. Only one South American country exceeds it—Brazil.

The fact that the rate of increase slightly exceeds that of the last decade is regarded as significant because the birth rate has been declining and there has been a marked falling off in immigration due to restrictive legislation. For example, there were no more babies born in this country in 1925 than there were in 1916, and during the first year following the enactment of the Johnson law only 233,000 immigrants were added to our population as compared with 662,000 for the preceding year. However, while the birth rate and immigration have been declining, so has the death rate, and that seems to have been more than an offset.

There are those who believe that the population of the United States will presently become practically stationary, and that there is no occasion for anyone to worry over the possibility of the country's becoming overcrowded, or even crowded. They say that the two hundred million day will not be reached for more than a century, and probably not even then.

Increases Fail Off Steadily.

They base their conclusions upon the assumption that the increase in population for each ten-year period in the history of the nation has been steadily declining, and the official figures bear them out to a certain degree. During the decade following the taking of the first census in 1790, the increase was more than 40 per cent, and it was less than 40 per cent for the next decade. Then the succeeding decades the rate of increase was in the neighborhood of 35 per cent, the range being less than two per cent from that figure.

During the ten-year period in which the Civil war was fought the rate of increase dropped off to 20 per cent, but it advanced to 30 per cent for the decade ending in 1880. In 1890 it had dropped to 25 per cent, and for the two succeeding decades it was about 20 per cent, with another drop during the decade of the World war to 14 plus. Of course it is by no means certain, although the estimate points that way, that the 1930 census will show an advance in the rate of increase, and the time may not be far distant when we shall be merely holding our own in the matter of population.

In truth, this very estimate shows that the population has remained stationary since 1920 in three states—Vermont, Mississippi, and Nevada—and that it has actually fallen off in North Dakota. Eight states account for more than half of the increase up to this year. They are New York, Pennsylvania, California, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Texas, and New Jersey, their total gain being about 7,000,000.

Florida and California are to be credited with making the greatest strides, figuring their progress on a percentage basis. Florida knocks them all cold with an increase of 40 per cent, while California is credited with a 30 per cent growth. Percentage increases for the other states range from minus nothing to 19.

Since the Census Bureau's estimate was announced it has come in for much discussion and not a little criticism. The people of the states that are shown to be standing still apparently have no confidence whatever in the figures that have been worked out by the government's experts, and they seem to feel that they have been made the victims of a mean trick. Some of them may blame it on the Reds, but down in Mississippi they charge it all up to the Republican party, declaring that there never has been a dependable census taken when the Republicans were in power.

And singularly enough, neither Florida nor California is satisfied with the very exceptional showing which the estimate accords those states.

Possibly, by the time the country has reached the 200,000,000 mark both Florida and California will have the populations which they now claim or think they ought to have.

Tall men have the most brain capacity, says a well-known scientist.

POLICE NAB 4 IN RUM RAIDS

Busy California.
Swimming Up Niagara.
The Big Chinese Sword.
$500,000,000 in Gifts.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Busy, prosperous times in California, where the black oil rigs stand above bright green hills, pumping up millions; flowers and blossoms everywhere.

Here at the Ambassador hotel, not a room to be had last night. The same at the Biltmore, and at the other bigger Los Angeles hotels.

FOR six consecutive "full sessions" Wall Street bought and sold more than 2,000,000 shares of stock daily.

Wise men will tell you that "going short" in this country, just now, is like trying to swim up Niagara Falls.

THE world takes seriously the story that Russian propaganda stirred the trouble in China. There is talk of a Russian army marching in to help the ultra "red" Chinese forces.

Great Britain, as you know, threatens to end diplomatic relations with Russia. Uncle Sam would do well to stay out of that mess if he can.

SHANGHAI wonders what would happen if Cantonese red rebels should take the city, where thousands of Europeans live.

An interesting picture in this age is the gigantic Chinese executioner with his heavy sword, a dozen or more such executioners, patrolling dissatisfied Shanghai districts, lopping off heads of those accused of planning the strike.

The simplicity of that method would appeal to some in the United States, but they won't say so.

B. C. FORBES, who knows high finance, says the big Rockefeller fortune really belongs to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to whom his father has given it, and says that fortune does not amount to a billion, quoting Mr. Rockefeller as authority.

Mr. Rockefeller, of course, cannot know what he is worth, and holders of Standard Oil stocks cannot know what their stocks are worth. It all depends on how much oil there is in the ground, and at which price the last few billions of barrels sell, as the supply runs short.

BY the purchase of the Pacific Oil Co., the Standard Oil Co., of California acquired, and owns, under ground, wealth greater than all that Standard Oil has ever paid out.

ANOTHER MAN WHO ABANDONED LIQUOR IN CAR ALSO IS HELD

Five Men are Fined Total of $754 in City Court.

TWO GO TO JAIL

Less Than Two Gallons of Whisky Confiscated by Raiders.

Four persons, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors, were arrested by police in a series of liquor raids late yesterday afternoon.

Another offender, Bradley Burns, who escaped from the police after they had attempted to halt his automobile in Mulberry street about a month ago, surrendered at the city hall today.

Attempt to Destroy Evidence.

Fines totaling $754 were assessed by Municipal Judge Hanley against the five offenders, all of whom entered pleas of guilty to prohibition law charges.

Those apprehended in the raids were George Croxall, Rural lane; Joseph Armshaw, Rural lane; A. B. Wilson, East Third street, and Philip Wingrove, Rural lane. Croxall and Wingrove, who police claim, were arrested and convicted for liquor violations last September 11, were fined $200 and costs each, while Wilson drew a $125 fine, and Armshaw $100. Burns was also fined $100.

A one-gallon bottle partly filled with whisky was found on the sink in the kitchen of the Croxall home, police say. At the Armshaw residence a gallon jug, partially filled with liquor, was seized. About a gallon was found at the Wingrove home.

Police alleged an unsuccessful attempt was made to "dump" the liquor when they visited the Wilson residence. They said they smashed in two doors and found Mrs. Wilson in the act of dumping a gallon jug of liquor in the bathtub drain. About a half pint of the beverage was obtained as evidence.

Afternoon Raids.

Raids at the Croxall, Armshaw and Wingrove homes, which occurred at 4:30 o'clock, were conducted by Chief McDermott, Captain Conley, Desk Sergeant Toland and Patrolmen Smith and McFarland. The chief and the captain made the raid at the Wilson home later in the afternoon.

Croxall and Wingrove paid their fines. Armshaw was released upon promise that his fine would be paid not later than 2 o'clock this afternoon. Burns, who was remanded to jail, was endeavoring to make arrangements to pay half of his fine and the remainder in installments. No arrangements had been made by Wilson to pay.

Burns, police claim, was transporting two gallons of corn whisky in the rear compartment of his machine when it was stopped by McDermott and Toland about a month ago. Burns abandoned his auto and escaped through the culvert which crosses Mulberry street. The machine was later claimed by an East End dealer, who said he held a mortgage on it.

Road-Street Committee Meeting.

Members of the roads and streets committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet in the Chamber's headquarters at 2:30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon for a conference with Superintendent of Route Marking Cope, of the state highway department, Columbus. A proposed new arrangement for road marking will be explained by Cope.

THREE MEN KILLED IN 50-MILE GALE

Columbus Man Held Up Twice by Same Trio of Bandits

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—H. M McWhorter early today reported to police he had been twice held up by the same trio of auto bandits within a half hour. The robbers got nothing for their persistence. The first hold-up, according to McWhorter, occurred at 2:30 a. m., when he was stopped near the public library. After the hold-up McWhorter continued on his way and a few blocks further away was again halted by the same group.

BANK BANDITS ARE ROUTED IN PISTOL BATTLE

One Man Wounded In Attempted Holdup At Toledo.

PRISONER HELD

Revolver Shot Manager's Answer to "Hands Up" Demand.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 26.—Two bank bandits were routed in a pistol battle here shortly before noon today when they attempted to hold up the branch bank of The Commercial Savings Bank and Trust company.

C. W. Bredback, manager of the branch, reached under a counter and grabbed a revolver when the robbers told him to hold up his hands. The bandits opened fire but Bredback ducked and returned a volley.

One of the bandits, said by police to be Felix Neizegodi, was wounded and captured. Police claim he is the ringleader of the bandits who held up the Federal Savings association branch here a few weeks ago.

Federal Narcotic Agents Arrest 140 In Kentucky Raids

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 26.—Arrests by federal narcotic officers neared the 140 mark today as a score of government agents under Arthur Smith, chief of the internal revenue department's intelligence unit of seven southern states, continued a long series of raids that started late yesterday.

The raids were said to have followed several weeks of quiet investigation by special 'under cover' operatives.

Suspects from Michigan and Texas were included in the number of those held.

Long, Cold Winter Blamed for Wave Of Student Suicides

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 26.—The recent epidemic of suicides among students is the result of a long, cold winter, in the opinion of President W. W. Campbell of the University of California.

"These suicides," he said, "coming as they do at the end of a long winter, are the result of depression, caused perhaps by lack of sleep, or food, heat or clothing. Many students have had a hard time over the winter, and a state of mental depression is the natural result."

Disorderly House Charge Dismissed.

Charge of maintaining a disorderly house filed against Frank Little, Sandy Bottom nightwatchman, following a raid on his home about two weeks ago, was dismissed today by Judge Hanley.

INSULL DEFIES PROBERS AFTER SHOWING CHECK FOR $190,000

Utility King Withholds Names in Illinois Primary Quiz.

Of This Sum $172,925 Was Used in Senatorial Fight.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—After placing in evidence a $190,000 check which covered his contributions in the last Illinois senatorial primary, Samuel Insull, the multi-millionaire Chicago utility king, today renewed his defiance of the Reed campaign committee by again refusing to name the recipient of two $20,000 gifts.

Insull testified he wrote the check to cover most of the $237,925 he spent in the Illinois campaign. He declared $172,925 of this sum had been spent in the senatorial campaign and $65,000 in the Cook county (Chicago) campaign.

Insull admitted he had borrowed all the money given to the senatorial campaign from the Commonwealth-Edison company, one of his public utilities. He refused, however, to say whether the $65,000 spent in the county campaign had come from the same source.

Insull defied the committee on all questions concerning the $65,000, saying he did so on the advice of his personal attorney. He also defied the committee when asked to give the names of the persons to whom he gave two $20,000 gifts in the county campaign.

Mrs. Wixman Will Speak at Meet of Hadassah Chapter

Mrs. H. Wixman, executive for the national Hadassah organization and also of the Zionists' organization of America, will address a dinner meeting in the Sons of Jacob synagogue, East Third street, at 6 o'clock Sunday evening under the auspices of the East Liverpool Hadassah chapter. Arrangements are being made to entertain 100 persons.

Mrs. Wixman is president of the women's organization of Associated Charities in the city of Pittsburgh, having been appointed by Mayor Kline. She is also active in other welfare work.

Mrs. Wixman will discuss medical work which has been undertaken in the interests of the settlers in Palestine.

FINE ON SCHOOL COUNT SUSPENDED

A fine of $10, meted out to Mrs. Louis Webber, of Glenmoor, was suspended by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon condition that she require her children to attend school regularly.

Mrs. Webber and her husband were arrested upon complaint of School Attendance Officer W. C. Dickey, who charged them with failure to compel their children to attend school. The charge against the husband was dismissed.

WEHNER WINNER IN CIVIL SUIT

A verdict in favor of the defendant was returned by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today in the civil action brought by Cecil Birkhimer, East End, against Francis J. Wehner of the Ceramic Motor company in an effort to collect $125, which the plaintiff alleged represented the value of an automobile which he turned over to the defendant in a deal.

Birkhimer was represented by Attorneys Walter Hill and James Davis, while Attorney Blaine H. Cochran was counsel for Wehner.

Retail Merchants' Session.

Legislation effecting the retail merchant, under consideration by the Ohio state legislature at its present session, will be discussed at a meeting of the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce in the chamber's quarters in the Little building at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Toledo Police Nab Lad, 17, Known as 'Houdini Burglar"

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 26.—Toledo police are holding a 17-year-old boy who they say escaped from jail in Wooster Thursday. The lad's name is being withheld but he is said to be known as the "Houdini burglar," because of his numerous escapes both in Ohio and Michigan. Local authorities say he is wanted in Wooster on a charge of looting grocery stores.

SENATE KILLS CLOTURE PLAN ON DAM BILL

MEASURE DOOMED

Upper House Immediately Considers Other Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The dramatic eight-day battle for enactment of the Swing-Johnson bill for erecting a dam at Boulder canyon in the Colorado river ended this afternoon when the senate refused to invoke cloture to insure its enactment.

There was 32 votes for cloture and 59 against.

The vote was overwhelming against cloture. To have applied it required 61 votes, two-thirds of those present and voting, and as only 32 votes were cast for it, Johnson lost by 29 votes.

The adverse vote killed all chance for passage of the bill at the present session of congress. The result was a victory for the little group of senators, headed by Ashurst (D) of Arizona, who have filibustered against the measure for the last eight days, and rendered futile the heroic efforts of Senator Johnson (R) of California, to force a final vote before adjournment.

Following the vote, the senate immediately abandoned consideration of the measure forother bills upon which cloture also has been demanded.

ANOTHER STEP IN LOREE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Another step in the railroad consolidation plans of L. F. Loree was seen here today in the application of the Delaware & Hudson railroad to the interstate commerce commission for permission to operate, though trackage rights over the Pennsylvania lines between Buttonwood and Dubois, Pa., where the Pennsylvania connects with the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh.

CALL WITNESSES IN BEER PROBE

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 26.—Twenty subpoenaes had been issued today by U. S. Attorney Bernsteen's office in connection with the "beer ring" probe which gets under way here March 1.

Most of the subpoenaes are for Pennsylvanians, who are believed to know much about the financing of the Pennsylvania-Ohio beer traffic.

FIND DRY AGENT DEAD IN HOTEL

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 26.—William Niven, 60, state prohibition agent, was found dead in a hotel room here today. Death was believed to have resulted from a paralytic stroke. Niven's home is in Bellefontaine.

WATCHMAN AT WARREN ONE VICTIM; SEAMEN DIE WHEN BARGE SINKS

No Damage is Reported In East Liverpool District as River Shipping Recovers From Effects of Wind Storm Which Sweeps Rising Stream, Causing $500,000 Damage.

VESSELS BETWEEN WHEELING, W. VA., PORTSMOUTH SCURRY TO WHARVES

Two Towboats Go To Bottom, While Barges, Scows and Freight, Including Cargo of Steel, are Lost — Crew of 37 Men Reach Safety In Yawls After Craft Upsets.

The East Liverpool district escaped damage in a 50-mile gale, which swept Ohio and the New England states last night, exacting at least three lives and causing thousands of dollars loss.

One man was killed at Warren, Ohio, and two seamen were drowned near Newport, R. I.

The mercury dropped below the freezing point with the arrival of snow during the early part of the evening. Temperatures, ranging from 20 to 25 degrees, were registered here this morning.

All danger of an Ohio river flood was believed to have passed. The river at Dam No. 8 at 1 o'clock this afternoon registered 25.4 feet and was rising one-tenth of a foot an hour.

Rivermen predicted that the crest of the high water would be reached tonight, with a stage of 26 feet, which is about seven feet under the flood mark. The Allegheny river, which joins the Monongahela river, at Pittsburgh, was reported to be falling at noon.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 26.—Northern Ohio was today digging itself out of snowdrifts following a 45-mile-an-hour blizzard late yesterday. Traffic was demoralized in Toledo and Cleveland for several hours.

Thomas C. Watson, a crossing watchman, was killed by a train at Warren, Ohio, when blinded by snow.

GALLISPOLIS, Feb. 26.—Plans to salvage the river steamer "Conqueror" were being made here today, following it sinking in deep water near Sciotoville, last night. The steamer, owned by the Wheeling Steel corporation, capsized during a wind storm but the crew of 15 reached safety in yawls.

Storm Blinds Steamer Pilots.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 26. — Shipping on the Ohio river was recovering today from the 50-mile gale that sent river boats scurrying for their wharves last night in a blinding snowstorm. Reports from points between here and Portsmouth, O., indicate the loss in barges, scows and freight will mount to $500,000 at least.

Towboat Sinks.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Feb. 26. — The towboat Advance and several barges of steel, valued at $85,000, sunk near dam 27, near here, during the windstorm of Friday night, it was learned today. The shipment was enroute from Pittsburgh to Louisville.

Barge Is Sunk.

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 26.—Two seamen died from exposure and three other men were in serious condition at Newport hospital today following the sinking in the harbor of the barge Hooper, of Wilmington, Del., during a roaring gale. Upon receipt of news of the plight of the barge, the tug A. O. Walker put out to the rescue.

Civic Music Society Meeting.

Meeting of the executives and team captains of the Civic Music association to discuss next season's policies, will be held in the Chamber of Commerce office in the Little building at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Period of Rains, Warmer, Then Cold Spell, Forecast

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Weather outlook for the period February 28 to March 5, inclusive.

Ohio Valley—A period of rains at the beginning of the week and again shortly after the middle of the week. Moderate temperatures most of the week except for a cold spell near the end.

J. H. MARTIN, 84, WAR VET, DIES

Funeral Services Will Be Held at 2 P. M., Monday.

James Harvey Martin, 84, Civil war veteran, died last night in his home, 600 Andrews avenue, East End, after a five months' illness of complication of diseases.

Mr. Martin, who was born near Frankfort Springs, Pa., had been a resident of East Liverpool for 53 years. He was a charter member of the Second United Presbyterian church and of General Lyon post, No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic.

He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Bence and Miss Anna Martin, both of this city. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Henry Abrams of Cleveland.

Mrs. Martin was formerly Maria S. Gilmore, of Steubenville.

Funeral services will be held in the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of Rev. J. O. Campbell, D. D., pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

The body may be viewed at the home tonight, Sunday and Monday.

Three are Found Guilty of Murder In Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A jury in district supreme court today found three men guilty of first degree murder in the killing of Policeman Leo K. Bush. This carries the death penalty in the district, a new electric chair having taken the place of the old scaffold.

Those found guilty were: Sam Moreno, Nick Eagles, and John Proctor. A fourth man, John F. McCabe, was captured. All are said by police to have criminal records.

Heart Disease Claims Former East Liverpool Brick Yard Worker — Funeral on Sunday.

William A. Wright, 43, former resident of East Liverpool, was found dead in bed at his rooming house in Worthington, Pa., yesterday, according to word received by local relatives. Death is believed to have been caused by heart disease.

Wright, who was a brickyard worker, had been employed at Worthington for about five months. While residing here, he made his home with his brother, Poe Wright, Pennsylvania avenue, who, with another brother, Wilbur Wright, of Palmira, Ohio survives him.

The body will be taken to New Cumberland tonight. Services will be held in the Christian church Sunday afternoon, in charge of Rev. F. H Garrett. Burial will be made in the New Cumberland cemetery.

CAST IS SELECTED FOR DE MOLAY MUSICAL COMEDY, "HERE'S YOUR HAT"

Production Will be Staged in High School Auditorium on March 7-8.

With the election of the cast, rehearsals for the two-act musical comedy, "Here's Your Hat," to be presented at the high school auditorium, Monday and Tuesday, March 7 and 8, under the auspices of Harding chapter, Order of DeMolay, were under way today.

New songs and dances as well as snappy chorus selections will be featured. The "Black Bottom" is one of the most effective numbers. "Hello Baby" is another chorus, while a little bit of old Spain will be introduced when the number, "Senora," is presented. "The Kiss Pirates" in pirate costumes will appear in "Steal a Kiss While Dancing."

A group of boys and girls will appear in the "Society Chorus." Children will be presented in "The Story Book Ball."

Two night performances, with a school children's matinee on the first day, will be offered under the direction of the Moorehead Attractions of Zanesville.

WELLSVILLE YOUTH ARRESTED ON FORGERY CHARGE

Alleged to Have Found Phillip Prezzia's Account

PROMISES TO PAY

Accused Tells Police He Did It To "Square Things."

Charged with forgery in obtaining money belonging to Philip Prezzia, Wellsville school boy, from the Perpetual Savings & Loan company, Dominick Crea, another youth, of Thirteenth and Commerce streets, was placed under arrest last night by Chief of Police John Fultz.

Following an arraignment before Mayor W. L. Fogo, Crea was released to make arrangements to pay back the money, $38.87, that he obtained from Prezzia's account.

According to authorities Crea obtained possession of Prezzia's pass book to the loan, changed the name on the book to his own and then depleted the account.

Young Prezzia later went into the bank and learned that he had no account. Officials notified Chief Fultz.

When arrested Crea said that he had worked for Prezzia for a few weeks and thought that would be the best way to "square things up."

COURT ACTION IS DISMISSED

An injunction action filed in October, 1923, by the Church of Christ, Wellsville, against G. A. Wilkerson, has been dismissed by the plaintiff at its costs. The case was brought to the recent attention of the court by Attorney Charles Boyd, as counsel for the plaintiff. Differences that existed between the parties at the time the action was filed have been adjusted.

PLAY MARS FIV E IN GAMES HERE

With two consecutive victories this week to their credit, Coach Earl Klinck's squad tonight will face the Mars, Pa., high school five in a game on the local court.

Little is known of the Pennsylvanian's record to date, but the Orange and Black squad, nevertheless, will be set for a hard game.

FILE MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

Seven Reasons Cited in $10,000 Damage Suit

A motion for a new trial has been filed by Attorney George E. Davidson in the $10,000 damage case tried before Judge T. D. Price in common pleas court this week wherein Herbert Salt, as administrator of the estate of "Infant" Salt was plaintiff and A. C. Hoffmeister defendant. In this case the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The motion, which cites seven reasons why a new trial should be granted enumerates five causes of error and relates that the verdict was not sustained by the evidence, and that the verdict was contrary to law.

GRANGE PLANNING SURPRISE EVENT

Surprise program will feature the meeting of Brush Creek grange on Wednesday, March 2.

The entertainment will open with a spelling bee, followed by the surprise feature. Men will provide the lunch.

Court Game Postponed.

Basketball game between the local colored girls and the Steubenville N. T. I. five, scheduled for the M. E. gym here tonight, has been postponed on account of the fact that the gym floor will not be available. Interior decorations are under way at the church this week.

DIES IN HOME AT PITTSBURGH

Body of Mrs. Hetty Hibbets to be Buried Here

Mrs. Hetty Masten Hibbetts, wife of Edgar Hibbetts, former resident of Wellsville, died this morning at 6:30 o'clock in Highland court, Callohill street, Pittsburgh, according to word received here.

Funeral services will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at Samson's funeral home, Pittsburgh.

The body will be brought here for burial in Spring Hill cemetery Tuesday.

MILLER TO FACE FEDERAL JURY

Ralph S. Miller, 34, Steubenville newspaperman, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of rifling the mails, was arraigned before United States Commissioner C. J. Borkowski, waived hearing and was held to the next federal grand jury on bond of $2,500. Surety was furnished and Miller was released from custody. The grand jury meets next week.

Miller was caught in a trap set by two agents of the postal service who were summoned here only recently in an endeavor to break up a series of robberies which, it is said, has cost users of the mails nearly $4,000. Lock boxes from which most of the letters containing money have been stolen were wired by the agents and when Miller inserted a key in a box an alarm was sounded and he was arrested with a number of letters in his pockets, it was said.

Postal inspectors said today that Miller had made a confession, admitting having taken between $300 and $400 over a period of about six months. The inspectors declared, however, that losses of nearly $4,000 have been incurred.

URGES COLLEGE WORK FOR PUPILS

"What Do You See in Your Work?" was the subject of a short talk given by Superintendent S. E. Daw to high school students at chapel exercises yesterday.

In five years 264 students have graduated. Of this number 110, or a percentage of 41.6 have entered higher schools, 70 going to colleges or technical schools, 30 to normal schools and nine to other schools.

Of the 1924 class when the graduation of 64 students set a record, 33 entered colleges, or a percentage of 51.5. Of the 1925 class, when 44.1 percent continued their school work and in 1926 the rating was 34.4. The latter figure, however, may be increased.

JOHN T. GOSSETT WEDS IN GOTHAM

John Taylor Gossett, 31, formerly of Wellsville, Ohio, and now a New York sales manager here, and Hazel Jean Godfrey, 23, of New York, were married in the chapel of the municipal building today. The ceremony was performed by Deputy City Clerk J. J. McCormack.

Gossett, who was born in Wellsville, is the son of William N. Gossett and Hannah Nee. The bride was born in Grove City, Pa. This is her second marital venture. She was divorced from her former husband in Pittsburgh, February 23, 1927. She is the daughter of Fleming S. Smith.

CHAPTER FIFTY.

I bent down over the stricken who lay as he had fallen, feeling his pulse and heart.

"Claypole," I said, looking up, "you struck better than you knew. The man's dead."

He stood silent a moment.

"So I've killed him," he said softly. "Still, I reckon he had orders to put you out, so it was his life or yours. I can't honestly say I'm sorry."

We moved the body from the track, placing it behind a large bowlder, and without losing any further time we plodded on through the darkness, climbing uphill. The remaining Japanese was in front, attempting no resistance, but going steadily forward under Claypole's direction, backed by his six-shooter.

"Where are we going?" I asked, after some minutes of silent progress.

"Safe up the mountain," replied Claypole, "where we can leave this little man to yell his heart out without inconvenience to the neighbors. I know this blamed wood from end to end. My name is Norval. On the Grampian hills my father feels his flock. Goats they were. I was an old, old man, and I made them to lie down in green pastures."

I suddenly remembered the aged herdsman I had seen on the mountains during my walk with Patience.

"So that was you?" I murmured, more than ever mystified.

"Shall I ever forget it?" said Claypole. "Goats are all very well in their way—the great god Pan and all that sort of thing; but I don't recommend you to take a one-room tenement with twenty-three adult members of the species. Who was the girls?" he unexpectedly concluded. "Fine high-spirited she was, too."

"She is the wife of the Center," I said shortly.

He received this piece of information without comment, his mind evidently on other matters as we tramped on in silence again for a time, making no sound under-foot on the carpet of pine needles. It had now ceased raining for some hours, but no stars showed through the heavy clouds above us. Then, all at once, things began to happen.

I heard far off on the mountain-side the noise of a great rush of air, like a giant's sigh, swelling to a roar.

Claypole and the little Japanese stopped, and then the latter suddenly, with a cry, bounded forward.

"Not so fast, you son of a gun," shouted Claypole above the strange tumult in the air.

But at that instant there was a terrible crashing and rending in the mountains above, and the darkness became intense. I leaned forward and gripped Claypole by the arm.

"What is it?"

He shouted something in my ear which I could not hear above the tumult. Suddenly the ground began to tremble beneath my feet, and I swayed violently. Something hit me on the shoulder, and I staggered sideways, still holding on to Claypole. There was a crashing of branches, and I seemed to discern the dark bodies of great trees felled and tossed. We lost our footing and together we rolled over and over for some distance, finally being brought up short by what proved to be a large bowlder.

I sat gasping, the breath knocked out of me.

"What's happened?" I waispered, after a second or two.

"Avalanche," replied Claypole briefly. "We're lucky not to have been killed. Brought on by the storm, I expect."

I remembered from vague lessons in my youth that earth on the steep slope of a mountain side was frequently loosened after a storm and slipped down. Stories of mountain villages swept away came to my mind.

We stumbled to our feet.

"Now where is that little Japanese?" said Claypole.

We went forward again in the darkness. The air was filled with the smell of freshly turned earth, but we could see practically nothing. Suddenly a light bleamed, and I saw that Claypole was holding a powerful electric torch in his hand. He flashed it around him as we went forward. Presently it shone on something white. A couple of steps forward brought us to our late prisoner.

He was lying half buried beneath the trunk of a great pine, smashed flat and obviously dead.

I was still dazed from the shock of the avalanche, and I found that I no longer had perfect control over my muscles, but shivered spasmodically, a phenomenon which I had noticed when undergoing a heavy bombardment during the late War. It was not exactly fear, but rather physical reaction from great strain.

At any other time I should have been horrified by the swift doom of the two men who had guided us from the chalet. But I had no emotion to spare for such accidents as these. The events of the last few days, the horror of the madhouse, quickly succeeded by the experience of being drugged, the forced excitement of my escape, when I had severely hurt one man and seen two others killed, and finally, the avanlache, smashing and wrecking the forest and so nearly putting an end to both of us, had rendered me for the moment unresponsive to the sancitity of human life. My mind was in the same condition as during the War, when I marched up to the trenches and went through an attack, watching the men lying cold and huddled or else fallen grotesquely round me, regarding them as no more than bundles of clothes without any bodily or spiritual connection with myself. We stood for a moment beside the corpse. Then Claypole, turning away, said briskly:

"We must hustle. The Lord High-Muckamuck will be quitting the chalet in about thirty minutes at the outside, and I must be waiting for him with Doctor Kuntz. We must now make straight for the Home."

De started off again, downhill this time, retracing our steps. The avalanche had in places swept the path, and on reaching the point where Claypole had so dramatically achieved by rescue, we had to look for some time before we found the body of the other Japanese. Claypole flashed his torch to the side of the track, and presently it lighted up the turnk of a pine lying across it, and not far away the inanimate form of the little Japanese.

"If Mr. Center should be curious," said Claypole, "it was a stone from that avalanche and not I that hit him."

"But what about me," I asked. "You've got to account for me, remember."

"You?" echoed Claypole. There's no need whatever to account for you. You're ceased to exist."

"What do you mean?" I said.

"I mean that this avalanche was a friend in need, a godsend and blessing in disguise. It swept down across the track, polished off you and your keepers, and left me standing alone, trembling in all by mortal limbs, while each particular hair did stand on end. Then this fretful porcupine just ran home and told Mr. Center all about it.

"You mean to report that I was killed."

"That's so," he replied. "It's up to you to cease upon the midnight with no pain, as the poet says. That avalanche makes things unexpectedly easy. In fact, I was wondering what on earth to do with you. You were a bit of a nuisance coming up from under that tablecloth. I needed time at the Home, but it was clear that for you any delay would have been fatal. Your ticket for kingdom come was taken and the signal down."

PAIGE—and only Paige—has a real Style Coupe at low cost. It has a Coupe that rivals the most costly in beauty of body line, and interior appointment. It has a Coupe with a larger and more powerful motor—speedier, and more quickly accelerated. And yet a Coupe that sells at an amazingly low price—a price possible only because of the tremendous (and extremely economical!) production facilities of the new Paige plant.

This new Paige Coupe on the 6-45 chassis offers far more in every way than do ordinary Coupes. Its French wings, stylish landau bows, and bright fabric rear quarters give it a trig and jaunty appearance. The lines are extraordinarily graceful, with a double belt molding, integral sun visor and rounded roof. The interior is uncommonly spacious, and there is a surprising amount of storage room. The extra wide seat is upholstered to match the handsome body finish. The whole interior is exquisitely beautiful.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1927.

The Spoiled Hero

Perhaps George Young, who attained fame and glory by winning the Catalina swimming contest, has learned a useful lesson. Toronto, his native city, waited long and planned nobly to make his home-coming notable, and in return was snubbed. George refused to attend the great public dinner arranged in his honor, because his estranged pal, Bill Hastings, had been invited. The notables of the city gathered to do him honor, and had to eat their banquet in painful silence, because the seat of the guest of honor was empty.

That was pretty raw. George seems to have dimly felt how raw it was, for he immediately tried to atone for it by what he thought was a brilliant idea. He would give a dinner of his own, with Bill Hastings left out, and all the city notables could come as his guests. He had made money enough to afford such a blow-out.

Glowing with his grand plan, George wrote to the mayor about it, and in a burst of wild generosity suggested that the mayor select the guests. "His Worship" would know whom to invite, anyway, better than George would. Then George made arrangements for the spread.

The mayor replied that the host had better do his own inviting.

When the time came, the mayor and other city notables, constituting the guests of honor, were not present. The tables were neatly turned. Instead of one empty chair, there were many. That meal was a sad occasion for George.

Now Toronto, which had made of George a superhuman hero, has soured on him.

George is only a kid, to be sure. And everybody has worked hard to turn his head since he swam to fame. But Toronto feels that even a kid might have better manners—and more loyalty to an old pal. May George Young, and any other potential Georges, profit by his experience.

Getting On Top

According to Dr. Alfred Adler, Viennese psychologist, many of our most serious troubles in America come from our fierce struggle for superiority.

"The competitive spirit appears in every phase of American life," he says. "Your young men and women are striving to be gods and goddesses. When they fall short of their ideals, they suffer breakdowns—hence the suicide, the criminal, the neurotic.

"Every man must have a record. A fifty-story building is a record. Marrying three wives is a record. Dancing till 6 o'clock in the morning is a record. The American wants to be a conqueror in everything he does."

In Vienna, he explains, it is very different. There, "if a man is competitive, if he strives to be a leader, he hides it like a shame. If a student is ambitious to stand at the head of his class, he is ridiculed. Football and other games are played and attended for recreation or because there is nothing else to do—not for championships.

"In Europe a good man who misses success is still respected and beloved by his fellow-men."

Evidently here is a wide gulf between the Old World and the New. Which is better? "Ours!" most of us will answer unhesitatingly. Yet we pay heavily for all this competitive glory. Life is more than records.

Patriotic History

Poise is something much American-written history has lacked. First it ran to the extreme of depicting all our national heroes as perfect and all our national acts as wise and good.

Then came an awakening. "This won't do," said many honest citizens. "That part of the uniform of the British soldier in our Revolutionary days was red is no reason for regarding all British ever after as 'red coats' and enemies and thereby biassing our whole historical outlook. We'll change this and be fair."

Then some of the history writers went to the other extreme and began to dig up scandals about our great men and to try to show that the United States was always wrong and only luck had moved us forward.

This was a little more modest, but it gave about as false a picture of American history as the earlier type. There is a better way to write history. Philip Guedalla, a British historian, suggests the way in a recent comment.

"History," says Guedalla, "doesn't have to be patriotism. All that's needed is the truth. There's no use for either whitewash or lampblack."

School children who are taught true history with the whitewash and lampblack omitted ought to turn out better patriots in the long run, because they will have an intelligent understanding of historical events, their causes and effects.

While the artist world is debating the question whether John McCormack or Edward Johnson is the greatest tenor, why shouldn't the rest of us get down to something really practical, and find who is the worst, and do something about it?

Chicago now boasts of a "model jail," than which we'll say nothing could be more appropriate for Chicago.

That fancier in Olympia, Wash., who has bred "barkless dogs," should see what he can do about parrots.

REDUCED TO BARE NECESSITIES

As he traveled through the Arkansas bottoms, the tourist from the East marveled at the fecundity of canine life as manifested in every settlement. Late in the afternoon he came to a cabin set in the middle of a clearing and halted to ask his way.

The head of the house, a bewhiskered person, came to the fence in answer to the traveler's hail and gave him the directions for reaching the county-seat. With him came an eruption of barking, lop eared hounds; some of them black and tan and some showing a mongrel admixture in their coloring.

"How many dogs have you?" asked the Easterner.

"Well, suh," said the native, "I've had a sight of bad luck with my hound-dawgs. Some kind of a disease has got in amongst 'em and it keeps on killin' 'em off. I've doctored 'em the best I know how but seems like it don't do no good. Let's see, now—how many have I got left! There's Ring and Sounder and Queenie, yonder, and Rip and Ole Tige, the grand daddy of the pack, and Trixie and the new litter of pups under the house—'jest 'leven in all."

He sighed deeply.

"Sometimes—sometimes it looks like I ain't never goin' to be able to git a start on hound-dawgs no more."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—News has drifted back from far off Italy that Jim Handy has ascended the starry trail. For many years he was a derelict genius of the newspaper shops—perhaps one month in Nome and a few months later under the blaze of the southern cross.

He cared nothing for self glorification and yet in the past 25 years journalism has felt his impress all the way around the world. He launched many ideas for which others received credit and then drifted on in the manner of a rudderless ship.

He was a little unkempt and at times a two-fisted man at the black bottle but his keen intellect survived until the last and in Rome newspaper correspondents whisper it was Handy that furnished several Promethian flashes for the gifted Mussolini.

He crossed my own path remotely. I never saw him or corresponded and yet on soiled paper he indited two ideas to a magazine editor which were passed along to me—and were the inspiration for more letters from readers than any others I ever wrote.

He was an idea man for this magazine and was then marooned in a lonely section of old Mexico. For this he was content with a slight monthly check. Park Row offered him top salaries, but he would always write the same reply: "I can't stay anchored."

His longest tenure was perhaps under Jim Keeley on the Chicago Tribune as a Sunday editor. His brilliant ideas were not confined to journalism. Broke one day in a foreign city, he suggested an American sausage breakfact to a hotel keeper.

He asked only for a small percentafe of profits. The idea is still making the inn keeper huge sums. Handy restless spirit overcame him and he was next heard of 4,000 miles away—collected his end for a time, but the aflame with a new idea.

New York clings to its smalltown curiosity. On 47th street and Sixth avenue, in the very heart of the Tenderloin, a gentleman wearing a white goatee and a buckskin suit, mounted a box. He began to exhort the virtues of an Indian remedy. He told how it would "whiten the teeth, harden the gums, tone up the liver, eradicate pin worms remove chilblains"—and many other things I wish I could remember. He collected a crowd and sold 14 bottles before a policeman hove into sight and he moved on his way.

Writing in the first person leaves the door wide open for scorching comment about self importance. And yet in years of employing the personal pronoun, only three caustic letters have been received. One today was a pip and perhaps justifiable but it was completely spoiled by being anonymous.

A hotel on Broadway has three bellboys and a night clerk who have occupied the same posts for more than 20 years. All have married, raised families and built homes. They are white-haired now and have refused an offer of the management to pension them.

In other days hotel clerks along Broadway sections were known as sports. They were not the cherub face, collar ad types often seen today. They usually had flaring mustachios and wore gay cravats, checkered vests and expensive watch chains and diamond rings. In off hours they frequented the gaming tables and gained fleeting reputations for holding their liquor well. They were migratory birds of passage and always on the wing. As a rule they were bachelors and heavy favorites with ladies.

HASKIN'S LETTER

Freak Inventions.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—Some years ago there was in the Patent Office in Washington the record of an application for a patent on an invention designed to keep chickens from scratching up the garden. The contraption was rather complicated, but when attached to the busy hen or the supervising rooster it would force either one to walk right on out of the garden if it attempted to pause to do any scratching. It was, in its operation, the antithesis of the hobble which restrains a horse from running away or straying far from camp.

It was not patented. It was not useful because it was not practicable. It was too expensive, in the first place, for the harness cost as much to manufacture as any pullet might be expected to fetch in market, and then the labo cost of harnessing each and every chicken on the range and seeing that the harness was kept in good working order was even more prohibitive.

The idea was original. For that reason it might have been entitled to a basis patent, but the stony-hearted examiners would not permit it to get by. In all probability, it is said, this invention was the product of a man who had a garden, but did not keep a chicken. He must have worked out his invention solely with the idea of having his garden protected from the ravages of his neighbor's hens. Probably it never occurred to him that his neighbor would have decided that the best means of protecting a garden against the ravages of chickens was to cover it or enclose it with a wire screen or netting.

It is also possible that if the apparatus which made a chicken keep on walking when it tried to scratch had been patented the neighbor would have countered with an invention for the protection of gardens and flower beds against marauding fowls, and then a war might have been waged to determine which should be forced to use the other's device. And that would have made business for the lawyers and the courts, and possibly have furnished copy for the newspapers.

An Alarm That Worked.

About the same time that the chicken harness was brought to the attention of the Patent Office an application was filed for a patent on what might be called a sure-fire alarm clock—that is, an alarm clock that not only awakened the sleeper but forced him out of bed.

That there was a long felt need for such an invention goes without saying. There are few households that would be without one if the thing were successful and not too expensive. However, in this instance the examiners decided that it was too complicated and not wholly practicable. It was a combination bed and alarm clock. When the alarm went off, the foot and one side of the bed dropped down and the rear end shot up, with the result that the sleeper was catapulted out upon the floor—a sort of bucking broncho action, as it was described. The chief defect lay in that it required a lot of work to set the bed up again, and that there was no assurance that the sleeper would not continue his slumber on the floor.

It was suggested that if the machine could be so modified that the sleeper would be dumped into a bathtub full of cold water it might be effective, but the objection was raised to that

OHIO SLAYER OF TWO FACES DEATH PENALTY

Blessing's Corner Farmer Shows no Signs of Emotion.

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O., Feb. 26.—Death in the electric chair is the penalty faced today by Leo Halterman, confessed slayer of his half brother and the latter's wife, as the result of a verdict returned late yesterday by a jury which deliberated his case after an 11-day trial.

The jury found him guilty of murder in the first degree, without recommendation of mercy.

Halterman was taken back to county jail to await the filing of a motion for a new trial by his attorneys.

Halterman confessed that he shot his half-brother, Charles Halterman, with whom he lived on a farm at Blessing's Corner, and later beat to death Mrs. Charles Halterman. He pleaded not guilty and sought to justify the killing on the grounds of self-defense, and accidental shooting.

AL G. FIELD'S SHOW COMING

The latest musical selections are included in the program of the Fortieth Annual Edition of the Al G. Field Minstrels, which comes to the Ceramic theatre on Friday, March 4.

Jack Richards, who heads the singing cast with his wonderful Welsh tenor voice, has chosen that Irving Berlin favorite, "At Peace With the World," for his first number in the minstrel first part. He follows it up with "Moonlight and Roses," that lovely ballad. Billy Church, the other half of the singing act, uses "Blue Bonnet," which is finely adapted to his clear, bell-like voice.

Other numbers which other members of the cast use are: "My Air Castle World," "Daddy's Wonderful Pal," "If You Miss Me as I Miss You," "Let the End of the World Come Tomorrow," "Hard to Get Gertie," and "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain." Comedy numbers are: "So is Your Old Lady," "Oh, Brother, What a Feeling," and "Play Me That Banjo Rag," Eddie Ross' favorite.

The very popular "Valencia" is used as the opening number and plenty of Charleston music is in evidence for the quick-stepping boys, headed by Billy and Leo Dornan and Gallagher and Cox. Bob Conn, eccentric dancer, has many new steps and put his dance over with plenty of pep and enthusiasm.

Winter Months are Danger Months!

The Time of Year Good Physical Condition Counts Most

STATISTICS show February and March are the months of greatest sickness. Winter's colds, chills and sudden changes, indoor life and lack of fresh air and exercise, place heavier burdens on our eliminative organs. Too often sluggishness of function results.

It is the duty of the kidneys to keep the blood stream free from the poisons of bodily waste. Retention of this toxic waste is apt to make one listless, tired and achy. A dull, toxic backache is often a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions.

If you have reason to believe your kidneys are acting sluggishly, assist them with a tested diuretic*. Millions have used Doan's Pills. They are endorsed the country over. Ask your neighbor!

PROPOSE TO ELIMINATE FOUR CROSSINGS IN COUNTY

OHIO PROGRAM UNDER EMMONS PLAN OUTLINED

Highway Director Lists 248 Places of Danger.

VAST PROJECT

Constitutional Amendment Will be Submitted to Voters.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26.—State Highway Director George Schlesinger today made public a tentative list of 248 railroad grade crossings, situated throughout Ohio, which the state highway system proposes to eliminate.

Schlesinger said that, in making up this list, consideration was given both to highway needs and to the matter of proportioning the work of elimination among the various railroads operating in Ohio.

A vast project, requiring at least $20,000 000, the program is the most extensive of its kind ever devised for the safety of motorists.

Its financing depends on the bond issue proposed by Representative Ralph W. Emmons of East Rochester, Columbiana county, now pending in the highways committee of the house.

This requires a constitutional amendment, as did the soldier bonus, and would authorize issue of $25,000,000 serially, as the funds are needed for the state's share.

"Give us the money and in two years we'll have every one of the grade crossings started," Director Schlesinger promised.

The cross ngs selected are only a fourth of all in the state, but were chosen because more trains and more automobiles cross them than any others.

They are places were white crosses flourish and increase in number each year.

Railroad crossings proposed to be eliminated include:

In Columbiana county: Pennsylvania, one half mile south of Salem on State route 45; Pennsylvania, at northeast corporation line of Salem on State route 19; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, ¼ mile west of East Rochester on State route 5, and Pennsylvania, at East Palestine.

In Jefferson county: Pennsylvania, at Rush Run; Pennsylvania, at Toronto, and W. & L. E., at Rush Run, all on State route 7.

Storm Sweeps New England.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—A terrific rain and wind storm, which swept New England during the night and continued today, raised havoc with telephone communication systems throughout Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

In Maine every telephone circuit with the exception of that in Portland is out of order. In New Hampshire but five communities have service, and there is no telephone service possible in Vermont.

The terrific wind that accompanied the rain swept down wires and poles, causing damage that will require several days work to establish even temporary relief.

JUDGE GESSNER HERE SUNDAY

he makes of it. He has gathered it in carefully and given it back liberally. Thus far his gifts to science and education, including the fight against disease, and the effort to eradicate specific diseases, amount to more than $500,000,000.

Even the good communist who believes that everything should belong to the people and be divided, will admit that it is better to have one man of intelligence gather a thousand millions and spend the money intelligently, than to have a million people get it and spend it in small driblets for soda water and ice cream, with nothing to show for it afterwards.

Drive For Federal Control of Coal Industry Begins

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The congressional drive for federal legislation to regulate the coal industry was accelerated today as result of the collapse of the Miami wage negotations between bituminous miners and operators.

It is too late this season to do anything.

Federal supervision, either as a temporary expedient or as a permanent measure, is anathema both to miners and operators. They have always fought strenuously against outised intervention in their affairs.

Miss Eva Young Will Preach in Avondale Church

Owing to the absence of Rev. John Macdonald, who has been called to Dunkirk, N. Y., by the serious illness of his sister, morning services at the Avondale street Free Methodist church tomorrow will be in charge of Miss Eva Young. The evening services will be dispensed with in order to give members of the congregation an opportunity to attend the revival meeting at the Oakland Free Methodist church.

PENSION FUND HITS $10,528

Presbyterian Subscriptions in District Reported at Dinner.

Subscriptions, totalling $10,528.56 have been pledged by Presbyterians in the East Liverpool district for the proposed $15,000,000 pension fund, according to reports submitted at a dinner meeting in the social rooms of the First church last evening. This figure does not include reports from smaller churches.

Representatives of the First and Second churches of East Liverpool, Emmanuel chapel, Curry Memorial, Bethel, Salineville, Wellsville, Monroeville and Longs Run Presbyterian churches attended the meeting.

T. V. Milligan, district chairman, presided. Rev. John Sharp, Martin's Ferry, missionary field representative for the Steubenville and St. Clairsville Presbyteries, discussed the campaign being conducted by a laymen's committee.

Campaign workers are expected to wind up their work over the week-end. Final reports will be submitted at a dinner which will be held in the Westminster Presbyterian church, Steubenville, next Tuesday evening. Quota of the district is approximately $78,000.

Alleged Payroll Padding In Ohio Guard is Probed

CLEVELAND, Ohio. Feb. 26.—Several officials connected with the Ohio National guard, have been summoned to appear before U. S. District Attorney, A. E. Bernsteen, in connection with alleged payroll padding, it became known here today.

Records of various units have been in the hands of investigators for almost two months past.

It is alleged that payments were juggled in such a way as to show men present for drill who did not appear.

Captain G. W. Connelly, of the 145th infantry, appeared at Bernsteen's office shortly after noon today and was arrested on two warrants charging forgery of drill pay checks.

He will probably be given a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Monahen.

COOLIDGE VETO OF FARM BILL CAPITAL ISSUE

Chances of Succeeding Himself Debated Question.

Iowa Legislature Starts Petition for Lowden.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The effect of President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill upon his chances of succeeding himself in 1928 was a hotly debated question in the capital today wherever two or more politicia s gathered.

"Mr. Coolidge, by this veto, has signed his political death warrant. He at last has definitely alienated the normally Republican mid-west."

"Mr. Coolidge, by this veto, has shown himself a courageous statesman, above sectionalism, which in the long run will be appreciated and rewarded by the country with renomination and re-election."

Between these two extremes the controversy fumed and sputtered. Representatives of the agricultural west were raging, publicly and privately. So, too, were some of the southern Democrats. On the other hand, the representatives of powerful industrial and financial east were loud in their praise for the president's summary decapitation of the farm bloc's pet child.

Davies Also in Race.

While the extremists on either side made extravagant claims, there was on all sides a general recognition of the fact that whatever else Mr. Coolidge may have done in rejecting the bill he has, at least, let himself in for a savage fight if he aspires to another term in the White House.

The action of the Iowa legislature in starting a petition in favor of ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden's nomination within an hour after news of the veto reached Des Moines was cited as merely one indication of the opposition that Mr. Coolidge may expect in 1928.

The two men that were more responsible than any others for the enactment of the McNary-Haugen bill were ex-Governor Lowden and Vice President Charles G. Dawes. Without their championship the bill never would have passed. Lowden has written and spoken in favor of it throughout the grain belt for two years. It was Dawes who took the parliamentary helm in congress and by shrewd generalship maneuvered it through both houses.

Both men are considered candidates by every politically-minded person in Washington.

MARINES' EYES ON SHANGHAI

No Orders For U. S. Forces to Land In China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—American marines have not yet been instructed to land at Shanghai for the protection of the foreign settlement, nor will they be unless and until an actual emergency arises, it was announced at the state department today.

Administration officials had no comment to make on the British forces already having been landed.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26. — Sun Chuan Fang's Shanghai defenders are thoroughly disorganized and unless the forces of Shang Tso Lin can be moved to the front within a few hours the Cantonese armies appear today likely to bring their drive for Shanghai to the city's gates.

The Shantung forces are being rushed through Shanghai to the battle front as fast as transportation can be provided, and as they arrive they are replacing the demoralized Sun Chuan Fang units.

Night long troop movements are said to have resulted in 15,000 fresh Shantung forces reaching the front, making the Shantung armies in active serves now about 20,000, with additional troop trains arriving in Shanghai hourly.

There are rumors that the Cantonese are in ocupation of Sunkiag, the last stronghold before the city, and there are rumors that the Chinese navy in the Whangpoo river has gone over in its entirety to the Cantonese.

TWO CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE

stand. Senator Reed (D.) of Missouri, chairman, announced that Senator Goff (R.) of West Virginia, would draw a resolution at once citing Insull to the senate for contempt. He added that the resolution would include the names of Daniel F. Schuyler, Insull's attorney, and Thomas W. Cunningham, of Philadelphia.

Reed would not say whether the trio would be called before the bar of the senate and an attempt made to send them direct to jail, or whether they would be cited to the United States attorney here for prosecution in the federal courts.

J. Frank Adams Sells His Lisbon Insurance Agency

Sale of the J. Frank Adams insurance agency at Lisbon to J. F. Moore, former deputy clerk of courts, and the consolidation of the Moore and Harry E. Marsden agencies, was announced at Lisbon today.

Adams, who is postmaster at Lisbon and a former member of the Columbiana county election board, has been in the insurance business for about 13 years. The business has been in charge of Moore for about four years.

Marsden, who is secretary of the Columbiana county fair board, has been in business for 21 years. The consolidated agencies will be conducted in Marsden's quarters as the office of the Adams agency must be vacated about May 1 to make room for the new building to be erected by the Peonle's State bank.

The change is effective March 1.

36 MEN DROWNED WHEN TYPHOON WRECKS SHIP

Foundered Freighter Elkton Found Off Luzon.

CARGO IS LOST

TOKIO, Feb. 26.—The foundered United States shipping board freighter, the Elkton, has been found 1,000 miles off Luzon, according to wireless reports received at Yokohama today. The crew of 36 men were drowned, the report said.

Caught in a typhoon last week, the Elkton sent out distress signals, but rescue ships, including four destroyers, were unable to locate the vessel.

The Elkton carried a cargo of sugar valued at $3,000,000. The cargo is a total loss, wireless reports said.

Missing Launch Found.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Feb. 26.—The launch Imp, which has been missing since Feb. 20, was found today off Port Etches where it had taken refuge from a storm.

The boat, carrying two radio operators and supplies to the radio station on Tinchenbrook island, was believed to have foundered.

FIVE CHESTER PLACES ROBBED

Police Chief Smith Investigates Petty Jobs.

Chief of Police William Smith today is investigating a series of petty robberies which occurred here last night in which five business houses were entered. About $6 in cash, and chewing gum, candy and cigars were taken.

Places visited were: Temple Brothers' Motor company, Third and Carolina avenue; confectionery store of Walter Shaw, Carolina avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets; Robert Irwin gas filling station, Carolina avenue below Fifth street; pool room conducted by Harry Huckelberry, Fifth street and Carolina avenue, and the cigar and confectionery store of J. M. Mayhew, Dunn street.

Entrance to each place was gained by the culprits, believed local youths, by breaking the glass in the front doors and pushing back the night locks. Two dollars in pennies were taken from the Mayhew store, together with a quantity of candy and tobacco, while four dollars represented the loot found in the filling filling station. Nothing of value was taken at th other places.

The robberies were discovered at 4:30 by Harry Huckelberry who was arousd from his bed in rear of the the pool room by the barking of his police dog. Going to the front of the place he found that the glass in the window had been broken and the night lock forced. He said he believed the thieves were frightened away by the dog. He notified Chief Smith who was later advised of the other robberies.

PROBE CONVICT ROAD WORK COST

Cost of convict road work, the advisability of doing away with the division offices of the state road commission and questions of policy as to control of business all mingled in the questioning of members of the state road commission yesterday at Charleston by the senate investigating committee.

A new mass of new statistical material asked for by the investigators was presented by Chairman Fortney and Commissioner McCoy and W. I. Birthisel, the commissioner's accountant, who explained some of the reports on costs of prison labor on five projects in whose construction the prisoners were used. In connection with this phase of the inquiry, Harry Scherr, commission counsel asked Chairman Fortney if he did not consider the system in using convict labor overlapping authority among the central offices, the division office and the office of the assistant warden in charge of the prisoners. Mr. Fortney replied that he did not and likened the arrangement to that with a contractor, the assistant warden standing in much the same position as the contractor on other road work.

TRENT TENDERED COLLEGE POST

Among matters taken up were plans to put the college on a firm financial basis, securing more students next year and selection of a faculty for next year. Special committees were appointed to give attention to these subjects.

SUCCESSFUL CARD PARTY HELD HERE

Successful card party was held by women of the Sacred Heart church in the school building Thursday night. Twenty tables of euchre and "500" were in play.

Trophies in euchre were awarded to Mrs. Orin Powers, Miss Dorothy Maple. E. V. Wehner and Michael Burgess, while honors in "500" went to Mrs. Wilmont Pipes and Miss Verna Horrigan.

This will be the last party until after the lenten season which begins next Wednesday.

PARENT-TEACHERS TO MEET MONDAY

Members of the Parent-Teachers' association will meet at 7:30 Monday night in the Central school building. Program will be given by the pupils of the Washington building. They will also be in charge of the social hour.

County Seat Teams Downed.

New Cumberland high school basketball teams were defeated last night by the Follansbee squads in games staged at the latter place. County seat boys lost by a score of 19 to 13, while the girls were trimmed by a score of 25 to 16.

Pastor to Fill Pulpit.

Rev. William T. McKee, will be in charge of the services tomorrow in the First Presbyterian church. He will preach at the morning and evening services. Sunday school and Young People's meeting will be held at the usual hours.

Missionary Meeting.

Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist church will meet at 7:30 Tuesday night. Mid-week prayer meeting will be held Wednesday night in the church. Anniversary program of the Ladies Aid society will be held at 7:30 Thursday night.

WHITE SOX OFF FOR CAMP WORK

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Headed by Ray Schalk, newly appointed manager, the first "round-up" of White Sox baseball players will steam out of Chicago today for Shreveport, La., where they will pitch camp for spring training.

Only nine men make up the contingent leaving today, but the number is expected to swell as the train proceeds southward. Beside picking up players along the route, Schalk said he expected to find 14 men awaiting his arrival at Shreveport.

Today's party included Schalk, Crouse, Connally, Barrett, Clancy two recruits, Robert Way, Harold Stricklin, and Frank Roth and Russell Blackburne, coaches.

JACK IS PLEASED WITH INDIANS

HOT SPRINGS, Feb. 26.—Manager Jack McCallister of the Indians is so well pleased with the showing of his staff that he isn't giving much consideration to any of the recent arrivals, at least for the present.

Jack is planning some changes in the outfield but says it's a little too early to talk about it yet.

600 ATHLETES IN INDOOR MEET

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 26.—Interest in collegiate athletics today focused on the University of Illinois where this afternoon and tonight more than 600 athletes, the cream of 68 universities, colleges and high schools will compete in the tenth annual Illinois indoor track meet, the largest event of its kind in the country.

The high light of the meet, including four university relays and ten special events, will be held tonight.

Start Fielding Practice.

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 26.—Fielding practice for the Athletics' hurlers has been inaugurated by Coach Kid Gleason. The pitchers, young and old practiced falling on bunts and covering first base after the daily warm up and batting drill yesterday. The hot weather has broiled the stiffness out of Jack Quinn's arm and the veteran took the mound yesterday. Walter French, the first outfielder to report arrived yesterday. The rest of the team is due Sunday.

Johnson in Uniform.

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 26.—"Ol' Walter" Johnson was in uniform today. "Its the twentieth year I've reported for spring practice in the big show," said Walter. "I feel pretty good."

BE IN CHURCH SUNDAY

Be Not Ashamed of Gospel, Says Newell Church Pastor

Rev. W. E. Dean, Methodist Episcopal Minister, Prepares Sermonette on God's Word.

By Rev. W. E. Dean.

"There was a rider on a pale horse, coming from the gates of hell. His name was Saul of Tarsus and he was riding headlong toward Damascus.

Breathing out theatening and slaughter he was bent on devastation and death to the church of Jesus Christ.

As he neared Damascus he came face to face with Him who said: "On this rock will I build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

This most potent personality that the powers of darkness had yet produced against the church of Christ went down in utmost defeat before the great Galilean Prophet. Saul, of Tarsus died on the road to Demascus and Paul the apostle began his great career.

Transformed into a Prince of Missionaries he henceforth led the march of Christianity throughout the world.

This Paul the apostle was the brainiest man of his age and the most scholarly of all the apostles.

He underwent a change of heart divine, miraculous, momentous.

Rev. W. E. Dean.

On the road to Damascus he was suddenly transferred, transformed and transfigured.

He listened, and the one who was the head and front of the human race, speaking as never man spoke, set his heart burning with a heavenly glow that has lightened the world ever since.

Weighing well the words of this mighty ambassador of Jesus Christ the great Augustine was converted and became one of the greatest of the early church fathers.

Martin Luther, the great reformer, had the words of Paul flashed upon his mind and by the power of God was born into His Kingdom.

And it was words by the Apostle Paul that God used to fire the heart of John Wesley, to make him a flame of fire and to start a revival that has lasted for over a hundred years.

Paul says he was not ashamed of the gospel of Christ. Why?

Because it has power to unchain the intellect.

Because it has power to soften and subdue the savage who is inhuman.

Because it has power to loosen the chains of superstition that bind the heathen.

Because it has power to fill the earth with arts and useful sciences.

Because of its power to comfort those that mourn and to ease the harshness of living.

Because of its power to banish vice whether in heathen lands or the slums of the largest cities.

Because it teaches men to live and to die, and gives to the world the only perfect standard of morals.

Because it reveals the fountain for sin and uncleanness.

Because of its power to enlighten and fit man for God and glory.

Because it frees society from oppression and liberates woman from degradation and nations rom incessant wars.

He was not ashamed of the gospel of Christ because it was a revelation from God, a light from Heaven, with power to transfigure the whole fabric of human existence.

EXACTLY SUITS ELDERLY PERSONS

There is a sound therapeutic reason why Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds is especially suited to the needs of elderly persons: because it contains no chloroform, or opiates to cause constipation (that bug-bear of advancing years) and to dry up the natural and necessary secretions. Mildly laxative, wonderfully soothing and healing to the irritated area, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound quickly stops all coughs and throat irritations, lingering "flu" coughs and disturbing night coughs. Is exactly suited to the needs of elderly people. Ask for it.

Though a man conquer a thousand men in battle, a greater conqueror still is he who conquers himself.—Buddha.

MET IN BARN

Services Later Were Held in Brick School House.

Organized nearly 96 years ago, the First Presbyterian church of Wellsville is one of the oldest houses of worship in the upper Ohio valley.

The church was formally organized on April 5, 1831, but for several years prior to that time services were conducted at irregular intervals. Records show that Rev. Mr. McLean preached before gatherings of Presbyterians in a grove at the foot of the hill near Third street. The first communion service was held in a barn on the Wells estate, just above the present city.

For a short time services were held in a brick school house in Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, on the site which was until recently owned by Miss Margaret Smith. The first pastor was Rev. T. E. Hughes, who served the church from 1832 to 1836. He died in Wellsville in 1838 and was buried in Spring Hill cemetery.

The first building was erected in 1834 on land on which, until a few years ago, was a lumber yard belonging of Giles McGregor. Twenty years later the site of the present church in Riverside avenue, between Fifth and Sixth street, was purchased and a building costing $4,000 erected. This structure was destroyed by fire in 1869 and a larger edifice was immediately built. The value of the church property at that time was approximately $5,000.

In 1916, this church was razed and the present structure was erected and occupied the following year. The present building, which is connected with a manse, was made possible through a generous gift made by the late William G. McCollough in memory of his parents, William and Elizabeth Nessly McCollough. A bronze tablet on the wall of the church commemorates the gift. Another bronze tablet has been placed in the church in honor of George B. Johnson, who was a charter elder of the church.

The second pastor was Rev. Thomas F. Magill, great uncle of the present pastor, who served from 1840 to 1844. He was followed by Rev. J. M. Lowrie, whose service terminated in 1846.

Other pastors were: Rev. T. P. Gordon, 1851 to 1856; Rev. W. W. Laverty, 1857 to 1864; Rev. T. A. McCurdy, 1865 to 1867; Rev. J. L. R. Wycoff, 1869 to 1870; Rev. J. C. Molov, 1871 to 1874; Rev. S. M. Davis, 1875 to 1884; Rev. H. W. Lowry, 1885 to 1898; Rev. L. F. Laverty, 1898 to 1903; Rev. William G. Reagle, 1903 to 1917; Rev. H. G. Wilkinson, 1917 to 1920.

Rev. Frank Magill, who became pastor in 1922, will leave April 1 to assume charge of the First Presbyterian church of Newark to which he was called about a week ago.

This is the rose He planted,
Here in the thorn-cursed soil;
Heaven is blest with perfect rest,
But the blessing of earth is toil.
—Henry Van Dyke

BARITONE SOLOIST AT METHODIST EPISCOPAL EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Frederick J. Balmond.

Special evangelistic services will be conducted in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Fifth and Jackson streets, beginning Sunday evening, and continuing for at least two weeks.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler, the pastor, will preach each evening. The music will be in charge of Frederick J. Balmond, of Philadelphia, a baritone soloist who has had wide experience as a song leader. He will arrive here today from Anderson, Ind., where he has been engaged in an evangelistic campaign.

Services will begin promptly each evening at 7:30. Dr. Fowler has held a similar campaign in each of the three years of his pastorate at the First church.

"MAKING COMMUNITY CHRISTIAN" IS SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By William T. Ellis.

Jerusalem has no civic pride. There is no "community spirit" in the old city. Evidence of this is found in the fact that Jerusalem's only public auditorium, aside from the Y. M. C. A. Hut, is a dingy little motion picture hall. A resident of Jerusalem thinks of himself as a Moslem, as a Roman Catholic, as a Greek Orthodox, as a Jew or as an Armenian, rather than as a citizen or Jerusalem. The British administration is engaged in a constant struggle to prevent the continuance of ancient oriental unsocial practices, especially in the realm of sanitation and hygiene. A "Pro-Jerusalem Society" was formed, shortly after the war, but it called forth mostly the interest of foreigners, and that has steadily subsided. So lacking in public spirit and civic consciousness is Jerusalem that there is always present the danger of religious and race riots.

That seems very different from our western conception of community life. Christianity nowadays expresses itself in social service. Local pride is a powerful force in our life, especially in the West. We feel our solidarity with our neighbors. It is considered a religious duty to help the community of which we are a part. Protestant, Catholic, Jew and non-churchman work together for neighborly needs. Our times have gone a long, long way from the hermit conception of Christianity. Even the smaller communities boast their women's clubs, their Rotary clubs and similar organizations; and these are dominated by Christian ideals of helpfulness and mutual improvement. They are applied Christianity. The Gospel works out in neighborhood good will and solidarity.

For Christianity is a neighborly religion. As our lesson text declares, "All the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this, Thou shalt love they neighbor as thyself." Here in America, neighboriiness, as expressed by a sense of social responsibility and community solidarity, has reached a level unknown in the Old World. I have never seen anything finer than the way certain western towns—I have Carlsbad and Roswell, New Mexico, specially in mind—"carried on," shoulder to shoulder, when their banks closed and financial disaster struck everybody. Communism and other forms of ralicalism could never make headway amidst such proved neighbors, expressing their interdependence by Christian democracy.

But the "Intelligentsia" Sneer.

It is the vogue amidst that sterile and comical little group of "liberals" who regard themselves as the "intelligentsia" of the country, to sneer at the present mood of social service and simple neighborliness. They jeer at the Rotary clubs and kindred bodies, even as they do at the churches. Doubless it is better to have the hostility of these radicals than their approval.

Really thoughtful persons perceive that our day's social passion, and the desire for self-improvement and for community betterment, is doubtless the most characteristic trait of the New World. Of course, it has its dangers, especially of superficiality and of professionalism. Too many men and women are making a livelihood out of organized social service. The volunteer and neighborly aspect of the prevailing spirit of helpfulness and good will needs ever to be stressed. A deflation of over organized philanthropic and religious activities seems to be impending. This will be all to the good if it quickens the oldfashioned, unprofessional and personal community activities of neighbors. After all, we cannot hire anybody else to be neighborly on our behalf. Every man must pull his own weight in the race of life.

Shrewd, sound sense tells every person who possesses it that the social service which lasts must be fired by the major motives. The noble passion for people's well-being that is abroad in the land should be captured for Christ. It needs His adequate Spirit to sustain and guide it. No community is completely neighborly until it is Christian. Religion is the greatest foe of all anti-social forces. It is the Gospel, at work in a myriad churches, which keeps the common life of our land sweet and sound and friendly. "By love serve one another" is Paul's precept. When love for a neighor grows faint, under the constant impact of that neighbor's imperfections, then the love of Christ constrains us to love even the unlovable. Christian community spirit lasts.

Sharing the Great Passions.

Of late I have been traveling in the old region of Galatia, where lived the Christians to whom the Lesson text was addressed. It is now central Turkey; and the present capital of the country, Angora, was the capital of Paul's Galatia. Nowadays Turkey is working out her ideal of community spirit. Before the League of Nations' exchange of populations, which eliminated Moslems from Greece and Christians from Asiatic Turkey, there was constant suspicion and distrust and antagonism between the rival elements of the population. Now the powerful and purgative passion of patriotism has welded the Turkish into undreamed-of solidarity. Their nation has been made over into newness by invoking the high principle of nationalism. The transformation which has ensued is incredible; I would scarcely believe it had I not seen for myself.

In this wonder which has been wrought amidst the modern successors of Paul's Galatians may be read the lesson of the Lesson. It needs the most powerful purposes, the mightiest motives, the supreme spirit, to change a nation, a community, an individual, and to keep them changed. When vital Christianity animates a neighborhood, transformation occurs. Many a town has been completely made over by a revival of religion. If the considerations of Christ prevail in a community, then the characteristics of Christ will follow. The "fruits of the Spirit" as the Lesson calls them, are borne when the life of the tree is Christ.

These fruits are tabulated by Paul as "love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." What a description of an ideal life for a community and for a man! That sort of life is possible—and it is possible—only where the Spirit of Christ prevails. Thus God works out in human life.

"A picket frozen on duty,
A mother starved for her brood,
Socrates drinking the hemlock,
And Jesus on the rood;
And millions who, humble and nameless,
The straight, hard pathway plod.—
Some call it Consecration, and others call it God."

Foci of Friendliness.

Certain spots on the map, like Jerusalem, Antioch, and Ephesus, are immortal as centers of radiation. From them Christianity spread widely. Colloquially, we nowadays call such communities "live," because their power is disseminated. No neighborhood can be vital in its force and friendliness without becoming a focus of influence. When we help to make our own village or town or city Christian, we are thereby most directly serving the wider world. Example is still more contagious than speech.

Wise old Paul linked the Lesson with personal qualities. Communities are, after all, simply collections of individual persons. Only Christian men and women create Christian communities. The person who lives a godly life does more to shape his neighbor's character than the professional uplifter or office-holder. A devoted man or woman who teaches a Sunday school class, leads a troop of Boy or Girl Scouts, inspires a young people's society, or promotes a reading circle, is doing direct and fundamental community service. There are no roads to social betterment that do not lead through the hearts of individual personalities.

This above all: to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.—Shakespeare.

It is the absence of love, not its fulness, that makes us so impatient of the weakness and inconsistencies of our Christian brethren.—Anon.

proposal that it might result in an occasional drowning and make trouble for coroners' juries in determining whether death was the result of accident or suicide.

The files of the Patent Office record hundreds of equally freakish inventions. Several of them were mechanical carriages or vehicles, forerunners of the automobile. Shortly after the Civil war an inventor turned up in Washington with the plans for what he called a walking vehicle. It was a four-legged machine, operated by steam power, that walked like an animal, but was not constructed to resemble a horse.

Shortly after this two men came forward with an invention somewhat similar, except that their vehicle was drawn by a steam-driven two-legged creature that was in effect a mechanical man. The boiler was enclosed in the body of the automaton, and an engine just behind the body moved the jointed legs through a system of levers. She steering gear was a rope passed around the body of the "man."

Drawn, Not Propelled.

All the early geniuses who were striving to solve the problem of a mechanical vehicle for streets and highways seemed unable to get away from the horse idea. That is, their efforts were always directed toward creating a mechanical animal that would draw a vehicle, and it seemed never to have occurred to them to apply power to the wheels of the vehicle and thereby propel it.

A man by the name of Doyle, for example, invented a power horse that was little short of a marvel of ingenuity and that imitated the movements of a real horse almost perfectly. In appearance it resembled the animal that used to stand in front of harness makers' shops. The engine and boiler were in the vehicle and a shaft transmitted power to a driving mechanism within the body of the horse. Theoretically this creature could step out and trot in a manner that would put a real horse completely in the shade. It is said, too, that almost any one at that time would have seen more promise in Doyle's horse than in Selden's "road locomotive," patented in 1895, which was an exceedingly crude affair.

Even after the horseless carriage had been evolved inventors still struggled with the horse complex, apparently possessed with an obsession that no acceptable power-driven vehicle could be devised that did not have some kind of an animal out in front. One man turned out an affair somewhat similar to Doyle's save that the horse was mounted on wheels and the engine in the vehicle ran the wheels under the horse, which was actually steered or guided by reins.

And as late as 1904 a real automobile was constructed that had a dummy horse out in front so that horses would not be frightened by the machine. It will be recalled that frightening horses and causing runaways was one of the serious troubles of the motorists of early days, and this inventor doubtless believed he had solved the problem of avoiding such disasters. Also he put his dummy horse to practical uses. The body was a receptable for tools and spare parts, which motorists at that time had to carry with them if they were going far from their base of supplies, and the glass eyes were nothing less than headlights that were lighted by an oil lamp concealed within the horse's head.

In many lines inventors have endeavored to devise machines to do what the human hand does, or what animals do, and do it in much the same manner, but they have met with little success.

Patent experts say that the inventor may get valuable ideas from studying the animate thing he seeks to supplant, but that to produce the commercially successful machine he must follow established mechanical principles and effect his result in a wholly different way from the living model.

Let us endeavor so to live, that when we come to die, even the undertaker will be sorry.—Mark Twain.

Walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God.—Col. 1:10.

We are in this world to provide, not for ourselves, but for others, and that is the basis of economy.—Woodrow Wilson.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street.

576. What did the English word Hell originally mean?

Answer: It had the same meaning as the Hebrew word SHEOL and the Greek word HADES; that is, it meant the unseen or hidden condition of the dead. See the Standard Dictionary, unabridged. We have already learned what is the condition of the dead. See Psalms 6:4; 115:17; 146:4; Ecclesiastes 9:5, 6,10.

577. In Luke 16:19-31, is the Narrative of the rich man and Lazarus a literal statement or is it a parable? Is it a story about one thing to give a lesson about something else?

Answer: We can only tell by reasoning the question out from the Bible standpoint. See Isaiah 1:18, first half.

578. Does it say the rich man was wicked?

Answer: No. It simply says that he was rich, was clothed in purple and fine linen and had plenty to eat.

579. Does it say that Lazarus was an extra good man, loved God with all his heart and tried his very best to serve and obey Him?

Answer: No. It says nothing of the kind. It says that he was a beggar, that he lay at the rich man's gate, full of sores, that he wanted to be fed from the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table, and that the dogs licked his sores. See Verses 20, 21.

580. Does it say that the poor beggar went to heaven?

Answer: No. He went to Abraham's Bosom. See Verse 22.

581. How many persons could be held in Abraham's Bosom?

Answer: A person usually holds but one at a time in his bosom. If the story is to be taken literally, then Abraham's bosom must be explained as literal, and in that case but one or two would be all that would gain the coveted place.

582. What do Young's and Strong's Concordances say in explanation of who this Lazarus was?

Answer: Young's says that Lazarus "is a symbolic name in one of the parables." Strong's says: "Lazarus was the name of two Israelites, the one imaginary." These are two great authorities and they agree that this is a parable.

ADDS LIFE TO YOUR YEARS.

As well as years to your life. Life without health is burdensome and the lack of it casts a shadow over all our activities. Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant to the kidneys, cause a regular, health-giving flow, carrying out of the body in a natural way, that waste matter, which, if not promptly removed, spreads its poisons throughout the entire system, to the detriment of health. Bodily aches, severe pains, a run-down condition of the system, inevitably results. Avoid this. Ask for Foley Pills, diuretic.

STOMACH SUFFERERS

DIVORCE CASES HEARD BY COURT

Three Decrees Issued While One Action is Dismissed.

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty, a decree of divorce has been granted Sarah Hughes against her husband, Paul Hughes, an action that was filed in common pleas court November 8 last. The court has also ordered the defendant to pay his former wife $5 per week, beginning February 26 for the support of a minor child, the custody of which has been awarded the mother. Judgment for costs in this case has been returned against Hughes.

Extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty were two charges made in the divorce petition filed December 17 last by Zella Whinnery against her husband. Ross A. Whinnery, and upon proof of these claims the court has awarded a decree to the plaintiff. She has also been restored to her maiden name, that of Zella Mangus, and a temporary restraining order granted at the time the petition was filed has been made perpetual by an order of court.

Wilful absence for a period of three years was charged by Sarah J. Baker in the petition for divorce filed against her husband, Willard V. Baker, and also gross neglect of duty. This petition was filed December 21 last, and after the customary number of witnesses had been examined, a decree in favor of the plaintiff was handed down by the court. The custody of a minor child was also awarded the plaintiff.

The divorce petition filed by Louise Blackman against her husband, Charles E. Blackman, December 27, last has been dismissed by the plaintiff at her costs because of legal technicalities, and without prejudice. Within an hour after this entry was made by Judge Lones, Attorney Charles Boyd as counsel for the plaintiff refiled the petition.

There has been a hearing in the court on the application for temporary alimony in the divorce action filed February 1 last by Gladys Stouffer against her husband, Merle Stouffer, and the defendant has been ordered to pay his wife $35 at once and $5 per week until further order of court. The hearing on the petition for divorce in this case will not likely come before the court again until late in March.

More than 100 divorce cases are still pending in common pleas court, 12 of which have been assigned for trial before Judge Lones Friday of next week.

CAMP BUILDING PLAN DISCUSSED

Committees representing all civic clubs in the county, save those at Columbiana and East Palestine, were represented at a dinner sponsored by the Lisbon Kiwanis club to devise ways and means for the erection of permanent buildings on the site of the summer camp of the County Public Health league. The dinner was served by the women of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church, and was in charge of Homer Deemer, president of the Lisbon Kiwanis club.

The clubs were represented by from three to 10 members, and support to the matter was assured, but it was decided that a committee-at-large should be appointed to consider future plans. This committee is expected to be selected within the next two weeks.

County commissioners have donated acreage for summer camp purposes near the county home, and while the sale of Christmas seals has produced sufficient revenue for the upkeep of the summer activity, the matter of permanent buildings has always been an open question.

REFEREE NAMED IN PAXSON CASE

Attorney George L. Lafferty, of Lisbon, has been appointed referee by Judge W. F. Lones to determine the issues in the case of Carrie M. Paxson against Harry V. Paxson, of Salem, from whom the plaintiff was granted a decree of divorce and custody of children by the late Judge James G. Moore January 8, 1925.

Paxson at the time of the divorce proceeding was ordered to pay his wife $1.000 alimony. He was cited in court to answer to what disposition he has made of his property, and because of the length of time that may be required to determine the issues, the court appointed a referee to take the record of the case and in turn report to the court.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to John W. Armstrong, a mechanic residing at Lisbon but formerly located at Loudenville, and Clara F. F. Saxton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Saxton, of Lisbon. They were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Christian church by the Rev. R. J. Bennett.

Court Costs Fixed.

Judgment against the plaintiff for the costs in the case has been handed down by Judge W. F. Lones in the action filed November 13, 1923, by Jacob C. Dorsey against Theodore Kavaulis. On a motion of counsel for the plaintiff the cause has been dismissed from the record, but at the costs of the plaintiff.

Property Transfers.

Walter B. Hill as executor to John J. Humphreys and others, part of an acre in section 12, Liverpool township, $350.

CHESTER BOWS TO WELLSVILLE

Orange Teams Cop Two Games at Park Court.

HANGING up another pair of victories over Chester last night on the Rock Springs court, Wellsville high made a clean sweep of its 1927 series with the Hancock countains.

Klinck's boys took the main tilt by a score of 16 to 13, grabbing off the laurels in the second half after the home team had held a 10 to 3 lead at the intermission.

Th visitors were unable to get going on the old "merry go round" floor in the first two periods and as a result their shooting suffered. In the second half however, they organized a strong offense and carried the play to the basket. Provost and Kimble led the field goal brigade with three apiece.

The visiting girls captured a 20 to 8 decision in the preliminary. Misses Irwin and Connor led the scorers, with six and seven points apiece.

SPANIARD TO GET MALONEY FIGHT

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—As a result of his victory last night over Knute Hansen, Paolino Uzcudun probably will be matched with Jimmy Maloney, the Boston "strong boy."

After the fight Promtoter Tex Rickard conferred with Maloney and he the basque probably will clash at the Garden on March 25.

Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight who defeated Harry Wills, also expressed willingness to meet Paolino.

PAOLINO WINS FROM HANSEN

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Paolino Uzcudun, colorful Basque woodchopper of Spain, "got the duke," as the boys say, after battling ten rounds last night with Knute Hansen, the mournful Dane of Minnesota, and promptly turned a spectacular flip flop—right in the Madison Square Garden ring with 13,000 fans looking on in surprise and amusement.

He did it with neatness and dispatch, whirling on the back of his neck before he capitulated his sturdy frame upright upon his dogs.

This is the "tip off' on the latest sensation from Europe. He's the Nick Altrock of the prize ring. He's what the boys in the $2 seats call a "card." They liked him, and showed it. He can fight, too, but he'll have to display more than he did last night before he'll be seriously regarded as a contender for the world's heavyweight championship.

Paolino was up against a better natural fighter in Knute but he outgamed him. He is six inches shorter than Hansen and weighed 196 pounds as against the Dane's 204½. His reach is so much shorter he had to jump at Hansen time and again to get a good lick at him.

NEW BRIGHTON WINS AT MIDLAND

The Midland Collegians were defeated by the Standard Sanitary five of New Brighton, Thursday night at Midland. The final tally was 37 to 26. Guard lack led the Midland field goal makers with five to his credit.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Paulino Uzcudum, of Spain, won decision over Knute Hansen, Minnesota Dane, ten rounds.

Tom Heeney, of New Zealand, won decision over Charley Anderson, of Chicago, when the referee disqualified Anderson in the ninth round for holding.

AT TAMPA, Fla.—Tommy Freeman of Hot Springs, Ark., knocked out Arturo Shekels, of Belgium, in the sixth round. Julian Moran of Havana, won decision over Georgia Russell, of Philadelphia, ten rounds.

AT SAN FRANCISCO—Billy Alger, of Arizona, won technical knockout over Jimmy Murray, of Miami, Fla., in the fourth round.

Billy Adams defeated Gilbert Attell, six rounds.

AT GRAND RAPIDS, IA.—Roy Williams, of Chicago and Eddie Morris of Sioux City, Ia., fought three rounds of a scheduled ten round bout, then the referee disqualified both fighters, calling it "no contest."

Second Trial

Guy Morrison, head coach of baseball, football and basketball at De Pauw University, will be tried out this spring by the Pittsburg Pirates. Morrison, a pitcher, was purchased by the Giants from Bloomington in 1923 but lacked experience. Pitched the Idaho Falls club to a flag last season with 17 victories and three defeats.

Bromby's Absence Handicaps Mount

Will be Unable to Play Against Bereans Tonight.

By defeating the Western Reserve quintet at Alliance Wednesday night the Mount Union cagers boosted their standing in the Ohio Conference percentage column to five hundred. They have won and lost five games.

While Baldwin Wallace does not stand so high in the Ohio Conference column, they have played several close games with the stronger teams and have won from the Heidelberg cagers that defeated the Mount team early in the season. Due to the two victories over Wooster and Reserve in the past week the Mount team will be favored to win.

However, with Captain Bromby out of the game, and with Baldwin Wallace out to seek satisfaction for the defeat handed them last year by Mount's championship team, the Mount team may have a harder time than is expected.

HORNSBY HITS— MOSTLY FLIES

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 26.—Several of the Giant rookies are outbatting the great Hornsby in practice, but nobody has heard the Rajah express fear of losing his job. Hornsby is hitting the ball but has been contributing more flies than line drives.

Pitcher Hugh McQuillan has not yet reported and his whereabouts are a mystery.

YANKEES DUE IN SOUTH SUNDAY

Begin Work Monday.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 26.—George Moriarity, new manager of the Tigers, will lead his forces on the training field Monday to start preparations for the 1927 campaign. The first contingent of Tiger hopefuls will arrive Sunday evening.

Y LOOP LEADERS CLASH MONDAY

Bulgers and Seniors Meet in Third Game.

The next game in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league will be played Monday night at 8:15 o'clock with the Bulger Drugs and the Senior gym class team as the contenders.

The contest probably will decide the championship of the circuit. Each team holds a victory over the other Bulgers defeated the Seniors, 41 to 23, in the first clash, and the Seniors landed the second by a two-point margin, 34 to 32. Bill Cox will referee.

Reserves Assist In Beating Youngstown Chaney Five, 30 to 12

Locals Take it Easy on Eve of Return Battle With Springer's Great Team; Seventeen Players are Used by Coach Lorah.

St. Valentine, Edison, "Honest Abe" Lincoln and George Washington have given the month of February some red letter days, enough ordinarily to satisfy the cravings of the most exacting celebrator, but it chances, in the lives of local basketball followers that there is to be one more big day of this particular month and that's right now.

They are looking for something more to celebrate and nothing less than a victory over Springer's Salem high school team will suffice. The Salemites, victors over the Blue and White in an early season engagement will make their bow before Potter fans tonight at the school gymnasium in a contest that is expected to establish a new school game attendance mark for the season.

Lorah worked his squad easily last night at Youngstown, the local boys finishing ahead of Chaney by a score of 30 to 12. Lorah used 17 players, everybody getting into the game but himself and Student Manager Tommy Maley. The old reliable quint started the game and had it pretty well tucked away in the third period when the parade to and from the East Liverpool bench started.

Captain Jimmy Hamilton played about a half a game and McKeever the same. English was in for approximately three quarters. Dick Larkins left in the third period and McConville contributed a half game.

Chaney played largely a defensive game on their small floor in the first period and managed to outscore the locals by the grand total of two points to one point. The locals cut loose in the second period and score 10 more points while Chaney was getting two. Lorah's kids registered nine in the third period and nine more in the fourth, Chaney getting three in each quarter.

Mindful of the struggle confronting them tonight, the loca lads took it easy all the way. If they had so desired the chances are they could have run up a count of 50 or more on the Steel City aggregation.

Salem tonight is probably the toughest article the locals have tackled during the season, with the exception, perhaps of Akron Central and Springer's outfit trimmed the Rubber City five by a generous count at Salem recently.

Springer has a wonderful team, one of the flashiest turned out in the north county precincts for many a year and a victory for the locals would indeed be a feather in their bonnets. Hamilton and McKeever probably will be entrusted with the duty of bringing in the field goals, along with English at center, while a job just as difficult will be dropped on the shoulders of McConville and Larkins. It'll be largely up to these two boys, who have never failed yet, to form the keystone of the defense arch.

Gross, of New Philadelphia, has been assigned the job of refereeing, and Lewis, of Ambridge will umpire.

Moore, two and seven; D. Bennett, three and six; Jerry Lanning, four and five; Tom Watson, two and seven; Bill Osborne, three and six; Ed Reney, four and six.

TWO FINE NEW WILLYS-KNIGHT Sixes
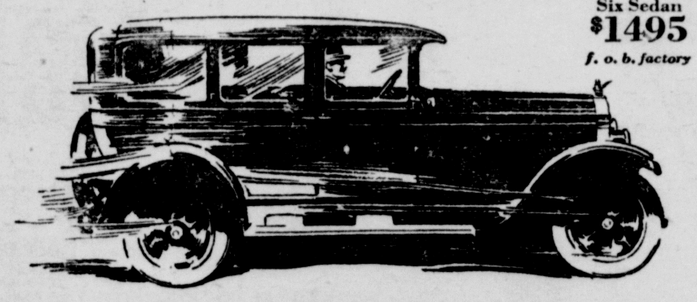
THE ENGINE IMPROVES WITH USE

The "70" Willys-Knight Six Sedan $1495 f. o. b. factory



ENGINEERING LEADERSHIP
Leading a new trend in body design

FAR ahead of the field are these two fine new Willys-Knight Sixes. Their superior coachwork correctly and artistically interprets the most modern tendencies in design. Lower and more graceful lines. Perfect symmetry that makes each model a thing of rare beauty. Further evidence of Willys-Overland Engineering Leadership.

Not only in design, but in performance, in equipment, in every single detail of construction, evidence of Engineering Leadership is clearly shown. All this, plus the exclusive advantage of the Willys-Knight engine. The Knight sleeve-valve engine is the only type of automobile engine that actually improves with use—growing smoother, quieter, more powerful with every mile. Safety is assured by positive mechanical 4-wheel brakes—the same type used in 97% of leading European cars. Belflex Shackles improve riding qualities by taking up all road vibration, minimizing noise, eliminating all need for chassis lubrication, reducing wear at every point.

One of thousands of satisfied owners writes: "My Willys-Knight has been in constant service for two years without repairs or adjustments of any nature to the engine."

"70" Willys-Knight prices from $1295 to $1495. Willys-Knight Great Six, "for those who want the finest," $1850 to $2295. Prices f. o. b. factory and specifications subject to change without notice. Purchases may be arranged on convenient credit terms. Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio. Willys-Overland Sales Co., Ltd., Toronto, Canada.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS IN "THE BLACK PIRATE" AT THE AMERICAN THEATRE, BEGINNING MONDAY.

STRAND BOOKS MUSICAL PLAY

Harrison's "Big Lyric Revue" Here Next Week.

A treat is in store for the patrons of the Strand theatre when Arthur Harrison's "Big Lyric Revue" opens here next Monday for a special engagement for one week. This show is said to be one of the best tabloid musical comedy presentations on the road this season. The performances are clean and free from all vulgarity or suggestiveness.

Their first bill, "The Love Nest," abounds in comedy situations and sparkles with pretty music and good dancing.

In conjunction with the show itself, there are interpolations of vaudeville specialties. Among these specialties are Ambrose Haley, known as the "Musical Nut;" George Seldon, the "Tamborine King;" the Carlyle Duo, "Eccentric Dancers;" The Panama Four, "Harmony, Comedy Quartette;" Brenon & Brenon, "Comedy Entertainers." There is also a chorus of snappy dancing girls who also know how to sing.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

Maybe There Are No Atoms, Smithsonian Scientist Admits

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.— Ever since I consulted Prof. Charles G. Abbott of the Smithsonian Institution on the subject of atoms. I've regarded the atom with a certain amount of suspicion.

CHARLES ABBOT

Is there any such thing?

When a scientist is lecturing about atoms, he takes the position that there's no doubt about them.

For instance, Prof. Arthur Haas of the chair of physics at Vienna University, one of the world's foremost atomic authorities, lectured on 'em here the other night, before the Philosophical Society of Washington and the Washington Academy of Sciences.

He referred to the atom as if he'd seen and handled one. He said it's a wee solar system, same as ours, with the sun in the middle and planets revolving around it. He said there's enough atomic energy locked up in a gram of matter to raise all the buildings in New York to the height of the highest skyscraper, if it could be released and harnessed.

FOR a long time I swallowed these statements without a grain of salt.

I reckoned that solar systems must run all the way up and down the scale from the infinitely prodigious to the infinitely infinite-simal. I wondered if they were inhabited.

I didn't question the story that a teaspoonful of water contains sufficient atomic energy to kick the "Leviathan" from New York to Liverpool and back again, provided it could be released and harnessed. All I wondered was: What would happen if a teaspoonful of atomic energy should accidentally be released without being harnessed?

And finally it occurred to me to wonder also: How, since an atom is miles too small to be seen by the highest power microscope, did science discover the blame thing?

TO resolve these doubts I repaired to Dr. Abbott, perhaps America's best known scientist, chief assistant to the late C. D. Walcott a head of the Smithsonian, and likely to become head of it himself, following Dr. Walcott's recent death.

FIRST, Dr. Abbot shattred the solar system theory.

An atom isn't a solar system. That's just a way of expressing it. There's a so-called sun, but it's a pewee compared with its so-called planets, not a whale, like our sun. The so-called planets revolve around it in different planes, every which-way. My, no! there's nothing to indicate increasing and diminishing scales of sclar systems, much less inhabited ones.

Yes, undoubtedly there's boundless atomic energy stored up in matter but there's no reason to suppose it's accidental release would raise the dickens. Probably it would just siss out harmlessly.

"AND how," I asked disappointedly, for by this time the doctor had about taken all the romance out of atoms for me, "do you know there are any atoms, anyway?"

"If there aren't," said Dr. Abbot calmly, "we're on the wrong track, that's all."

"You mean maybe all the scientists are mistaken?" I exclaimed incredulously. "That atoms are just a theory and perhaps there isn't any such thing?"

After that what are you going to believe about science?

FAIRBANKS AT AMERICAN

Doug and Billie Dove Featured in "Black Pirate."

This picture, a new Fairbanks super-production, is laid in that part of the southern seas known in the Seventeenth century as the Pirate's Main, where Morgan and his blood-thirsty rovers had their secret island, on which they hid the tribute exacted at guns' points from traders and travelers.

It is said that Fairbanks has never before had such a fitting vehicle for his blithe sort of adventuring. He plays the part of a young nobleman, who swears to avenge the killing of his father by pirates. This he does in a series of exciting episodes, that demand every known variety of dueling, fighting, and daredevil cleverness. He captures a big ship single-handed, steals the heroine from the villians, and fights his way through the ranks of the cutthroats.

"The Black Pirate" is rated the fastest moving story Fairbanks ever made, and this is a promise of considerable speed. Starting with the blowing up of a ship and maintaining an explosive tempo throughout, this picture should afford all the interest and suspense forecast for it.

Fairbanks' production is the first picture of such magnitude to be made in color, and marks an entirely new departure in this regard through its elimination of all glaring hues. It is claimed that he has succeeded in incorporating color into this film in such a bewitching fashion that the spectator is completely charmed by it, and sees it only as one sees a panorama in real life.

The star's leading lady is the beautiful Billie Dove, she and Tempe Pigott as a duenna make up the entire feminine contingent.

Fleischman Yeast Company Features Movie for Bakers

Bakers of the district were entertained with motion pictures by The Fleischman Company, Cincinnati yeast manufacturers, at the Ceramic cafeteria hall, West Fifth street, Thursday evening.

The title of the picture was "What Shal' We Eat Today?," in which the mixing and making of various bread and pastry products was vividly portrayed. M. R. Sembach, representing the company, pointed out how simple a matter it was for the baker to provide the housewife with a wide variety of baked goods.

Lunch, consisting of bakery products which had been displayed during the evening, and coffee was served.

RICHARD DIX FILM COMING

Betty Bronson Also in Ceramic Picture for Tuesday.

This string of "B's" gives a short outline of the plot of Richard Dix's new Paramount starring picture, "Paradise for Two," opening a three-day run at the Ceramic theatre on Tuesday, in which all of the three supporting players have names beginning with "B"—Beranger, Bronson and Breese.

Betty Bronson is the stage struck girl whom Dix hires to pose as his wife so he can get control of a legacy.

Edmund Breese is Dix's uncle who is trustee of the legacy and whom Dix tries to outwit by securing the "hired wife."

"There are lots of 'B's' in the cast of 'Paradise for Two,'" Dix says, "but that doesn't mean that it isn't 'A' comedy drama."
